For Tomorrow Evening
at the Park.

RECOGNITION OF SANITARY MEN

They Have Come Prepared to Make a Few Requests Which Will Be a Benefit to Their Trade, And Expect Favorable Action.

When the national organization met at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the first matter up was the reading of the report of National Secretary Duffy.

The document was a lengthy one and consumed more than an hour in the reading. It dealt with the membership of the organization, showing that a phenomenal increase had been experienced and that almost every local organization under the jurisdiction of the main body had added names to their roll during the past year.

Not only this, but from a perusal of the report it will be found that the various funds of the national body have been increased to a remarkable degree. The vigilance and close application of the officers of the several locals is largely responsible for the present condition of the finances, and by reason of the attention paid to the collection of the percentage by the local secretaries during the past year, the defense fund is shown to be very large. Assistant Secretary Smith read the report pertaining to the defense department and the document was listened to with more than the usual interest. This is accounted for by the fact that the representatives, in hearing the report read realized for the first time in the history of their connection with the organization that they had nothing to fear in the future as far as their resources were concerned. Secretary
Duffy read the general report.

The board of trustees, which is composed of William Adams, Leroy Orr, A. E. Stevenson, Henry Grainger and Henry Braithwaite, made their report through Member A. E. Stevenson, and it covered the work done by their department in a thorough manner. This board has the custody of the funds over a certain amount and looks after its investments to the best possible advantage. They also look after the property of the organization and see to it that the possessions of the Brotherhood are well taken care of. The report, which was received, reflects great credit upon the trustees and shows that their duties have been faithfully performed.

President Hughes then appointed the following committees to serve during the convention:

Press—President Hughes, Vice President Hutchins, Vice President
Jackson, Secretary Duffy, Assistant Secretary Smith.

This committee is expected to give out every particle of information that the convention wishes the public to know, although it was stated on the floor of the first session of the convention that delegates at this meeting would be different from those in attendance at previous ones if they did not talk for publication. The other committees were as follows:

FIGHT ON STREET CAR

AN ARREST MADE, BUT AGGRES-SOR ESCAPED.

Patrick Mulhern Fined for Intoxication—May Miller And Jessie Bleak-ley Taken to Workhouse.

Patrick Mulhern was up before Mayor Davidson this morning to answer to a charge of drunkenness. He made a full confession. He was fined $1 and costs, which he paid. Patrolmen Rose and Bettridge arrested Patrick.

A fight took place on a street car last night in which John Webber received a blow in the face which caused a dark circle to form above one of his eyes. Patrolman Bettridge saw the closing round of the conflict, but before he could lay hands on the aggressor the fellow escaped. His name was not learned. Webber was arrested, but not locked up. He appeared before the mayor this morning and stated that he was not responsible for the fight.

His story was corroborated by several persons who were aboard the car at the time. Webber was allowed to go, but it is expected he will bring a charge against the man who struck him, if his identity can be learned.

Roy Brown, who was arrested for fighting yesterday afternoon by Officer Stafford, was fined $2 and costs. He paid up.

May Miller and Jessie Blakely, the women who were each fined $25 and costs yesterday by the mayor for intoxication and disorderly conduct, were taken to the Canton workhouse this morning by Officer Dawson.

COURT DECLARES SHE IS INSANE

Loses Her Mind From Ill Health.

A NEW VISITING BOARD

Judge Hole—East Palestine Suit Goes to Circuit Court—Assignments for Next Week.

Lisbon, July 10.—(Special.)—Mrs.
Nellie Bailey, of East Liverpool, has been adjudged insane. Her malady was caused by poor health. She will be taken to the Massillon asylum in a few days.

The case of E. B. Thompson against Henry Roderus has been taken to the circuit court. In common pleas court, Thompson claimed he had paid Roderus $75 for a $500 share of stock in the East Palestine Land company and that Roderus had refused either to transfer it to him or to pay back the $75. He wanted the court to award him a judgment for $50, but the jury returned a verdict against him. Thompson seeks to have this decision reversed.

Judge Hole has appointed a new board of county visitors, as follows:
Dr. William Moore, of Lisbon, and Mrs. George Holmes, of Salem, each for a term of three years; Mrs. George P. Kirk, of East Liverpool, for one year to fill the unexpired term of Mrs.
Harry Palmer.

Judge Moore, as receiver of the First National bank, has been authorized to cancel a mortgage held by him among bank assets against William Apple. He claims the mortgage has been fully paid and ought to be released.

The Peoples' Savings and Loan Association was given a judgment against Elizabeth Middleton et al for $263.67 due on a note. Salem township lands will be sold.

ministrator of the estate of James Davidson, late of Wellsville township.

plaintiff and Emma S. Walton will take the land at the appraisal.

of John W. Yates against Jan Hoopes and Alfred Peterson against John Carlson were overruled and in the former case 50 days was given in which to file a bill of exceptions. The case of Stephen W. Conner vs. Edward Gavers was settled.

J. M. Dickinson, as guardian of J.
T. McKee, filed a petition in court asking for authority to mortgage the real estate in Lisbon in the amount of $500. The money will be used in repairing and improving the property in order to rent it.

A STARK MAN IN SECOND PLACE

Hon. Anthony Howells Indorsed
For Lieutenant Governor
By Delegates

FROM THE 18TH DISTRICT

Merry War Among the Local Democracy at Columbus—Columbiana County Delegation Sits on J. C.
Walsh—Cold Shoulder for Johnson.

Columbus, July 10.—(Special.)—Hon.
Anthony Howells, of Massillon, was endorsed for the nomination for lieutenant governor at the meeting of the Eighteenth district delegates yesterday. Hon. James Rice, of Canton, will place Mr. Howells' name before the convention, John H. Clark, a Cleveland attorney, making the seconding speech. The universal belief is that if the nomination for lieutenant governor is not forced on Zimmerman, Howells will win out for that place hands down.

Just before the close of the conference of the district delegates Chairman A. J. Wolfe, of Youngstown, made a play to secure endorsement of the Kansas City platform by the district.
The idea died "a-borning." J. T.
Schroyer, of Stark, squelched it effectually in a few short sentences, and before any one had time to think "Dick" Pierce, of Canton, made a motion to adjourn and the caucus passed into history.

Ed O. Moore, former mayor of Youngstown, announced on authority yesterday that John H. Morris, of that city, had withdrawn from the race for state treasurer, having been impelled to do so by a desire to strengthen Howells' chances for lieutenant governor.

The district conference was called to order by A. E. Young, of Massillon.
On motion of Al Carlisle, of Salem, A.
J. Wolfe, of Mahoning, was made chairman. J. C. Delrick, of Stark, was elected secretary. Candidates agreed upon in the preliminary gatherings were presented and formally ratified.
The organization effected was as follows:

For Vice President—A. O. Slentz, of Stark.

Member of State Central Committee
—Otto E. Young, of Stark.

Member of Committee on Resolutions—W. H. Spence, of Columbiana.
Member of Committee on Permanent Organization—J. C. Walsh, of Columbiana.

Member of Committee on Credentials
—E. H. Moore, of Mahoning.

Member of Committee on Rules and Order of Business—George Edwards of Mahoning.

Stark decided to stand by Columbiana county for member of committee on resolutions and member of committee on permanent organization.
Mahoning county was conceded the member of committee on rules and credentials and member of committee on rules and order of business. The county agreed to stand as a unit on all questions.

Columbiana county is represented by Al Carlisle, Dr. A. W. Schiller, Joseph Schriber, L. A. Callahan, Ed
Cook, J. C. Walsh, A. P. Dennis, T. J.
Fornier, Joseph Dowler, W. H. Spence, William Foley, G. B. Aten.

The Columbiana county delegates, at a meeting held in Al Carlisle's room yesterday afternoon, selected George Aten, of Wellsville, as chairman of the delegation. W. H. Spence, of Salem, and A. P. Dennis, of Wellsville, were presented for membership on the resolution committee. Spence was elected. He was the choice of Carlisle, who favored giving the Johnson resolutions no consideration. Dennis favored inserting the first of the Johnson resolutions. Spence was compelled in the district conference to present the three resolutions, Stark county threatening, if he did not, to combine with the Dennis faction and prevent the ratification of Columbiana county's nomination by the district caucus.

J. C. Walsh, of East Liverpool, was elected on the committee on permanent organization without opposition.
When the question of choosing a permanent chairman of the delegation came up Carlisle attempted to placate Dennis by nominating him for permanent chairman, but Dennis declined the nomination. George B. Aten was then elected permanent chairman. J.
C. Walsh wanted a plank recommended to the committee on resolutions criticizing Governor Nash for stopping the prize fight in Cincinnati last winter, but the whole delegation, figuratively speaking, sat down on Walsh.

The Mahoning county delegation, with nine members present, caucused in the state treasurer's office just before the district caucus and organized by electing A. J. Wolfe, of Youngstown, as chairman. This delegation was the only one in the district that desired a re-affirmation of the Kansas City platform and the adoption of the Johnson resolutions entire.
They were the extremists on the platform question.

led the fight against Dowling. But four Eighteenth district votes were tion.

WOMAN IN TROUBLE

Mrs. Ella Perrine Is Charged With Assaulting Mrs. Mina Ellis—Trial Tomorrow Morning.

Mrs. Mina Ellis and Mrs. Ella Perrine are both occupants of shanty boats located at the foot of Jefferson street. For several days the relations between the two women have been somewhat unfriendly and both have appealed to Justice McLane for redress. The "squire" advised them to "bury the hatchet," but his admonition seems to have failed of result.

An affidavit was filed by Mrs. Ellis this morning, charging Mrs. Perrine with assault. Constable Powell arrested the woman and she was brought before Justice McLane. She pleaded not guilty and demanded a "bible" trial. The case will be heard tomorrow morning.

COUNTY HISTORY

Demanded By Uncle

sultan has come to terms and paid this government the $95,000 indemnity demanded for damage to American mission property during the uprisings a few years ago.

Small Hope of Recovery—The condition of Miss Emma Bennett, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for several days, is unchanged and there are small hopes entertained for her recovery.

Dr. R. J. Marshall Unearthed An Ordinance Long Since Forgotten.

FULLY COVERS REQUIREMENTS

Mayor Davidson Never Knew That the Mandate Had Been Passed.

FOUR COUNCILMEN ABSENT

And But Little Business Was Transacted at Tuesday Night's Session.
Pay Ordinance Was Next in Importance to the Dog Question.

Perhaps to the News Review is due the credit of a discovery made at the meeting of council last evening, which has not only removed a burden from Mayor Davidson's mind, but which will bring relief to a long-suffering public, inasmuch as the question, so much discussed, relative to the dog nuisance in the city, has been solved and there now appears to be some recourse for those who have appealed in vain to the mayor for protection from the canine pests running at large.

As has often been stated in the articles on the subject which have appeared in the News Review at different times the ordinance concerning dogs which appears in the book in Mayor Davidson's possession is practically worthless. It was passed many years since when East Liverpool was in its infancy, and hence, owing to its abbreviated scope, has been a detriment instead of a benefit to the city executive.

It was Councilman Marshall who made the discovery which the public generally will appreciate and which will doubtless boom business at the garbage furnace. It was the unearthing of a dog law in an ordinance book in the possession of Clerk Hanley, which, for an unknown reason, had never been called to the attention of the mayor.

Mr. Marshall sprang a decided surprise when he produced the book and read therefrom an ordinance passed Aug. 13, 1895, and known as No. 446, which is not only far reaching in its scope, but gives the city executive abundant power to impose penalties on the persons violating its provisions and makes the way clear for him to rid the city of a nuisance which has long been complained of.

In addition to giving the mayor power to fine the owners of cross or troublesome dogs it decrees that private citizens may protect themselves against the ravages of the worthless curs and that they may slaughter them. A section providing for the muzzling of the brutes during dog days is also complete and Mayor Davidson proposes to see to it that the ordinance is immediately put into effect. He was instructed to issue a proclamation warning the owners of dogs that unless they are properly looked after they will be summarily dealt with.

Councilman Barlow has evidently been among the number who has been pestered by the curs. After the ordinance had been read to council he asked for a certainty whether or not private citizens were authorized to shoot dogs that annoyed them. When told that they were, Mr. Barlow indicated his desire to begin the contemplated onslaught by saying: "Well, if that's a fact I shall go gunning myself —and that very soon."

How the ordinance came to be laid away without being recorded in the mayor's book is not to be explained.
Though the mayor has repeatedly in the past several months been harassed by indignant citizens who censured him for not taking steps to abate the dog nuisance, he has made the best of the situation in the hope that council would come to his rescue. He was present at the meeting last night and it was his intention to bring the matter up before the solons. Dr. Marshall, however, saved him the trouble, and though it has been almost six years since the ordinance was passed, it has never been put into effect and neither the mayor, marshal or police knew anything about it. It is needless to state that it will be used to good advantage from now on.

Owing to the absence of Messrs.
Nice, Horwell, Cripps and McLane, there was little business transacted at last night's meeting. Vice President

EASTERN QUESTION NOW UP; MAY BE SETTLED TODAY

Sessions Yesterday and Today Were Busy Ones at Headquarters.

TO DOUBLE INITIATION FEE

An Elaborate Program Prepared For Tomorrow Evening at the Park.

RECOGNITION OF SANITARY MEN

They Have Come Prepared to Make a Few Requests Which Will Be a Benefit to Their Trade, And Expect Favorable Action.

When the national organization met at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the first matter up was the reading of the report of National Secretary Duffy.

The document was a lengthy one and consumed more than an hour in the reading. It dealt with the membership of the organization, showing that a phenomenal increase had been experienced and that almost every local organization under the jurisdiction of the main body had added names to their roll during the past year.

Not only this, but from a perusal of the report it will be found that the various funds of the national body have been increased to a remarkable degree. The vigilance and close application of the officers of the several locals is largely responsible for the present condition of the finances, and by reason of the attention paid to the collection of the percentage by the local secretaries during the past year, the defense fund is shown to be very large. Assistant Secretary Smith read the report pertaining to the defense department and the document was listened to with more than the usual interest. This is accounted for by the fact that the representatives, in hearing the report read realized for the first time in the history of their connection with the organization that they had nothing to fear in the future as far as their resources were concerned. Secretary Duffy read the general report.

The board of trustees, which is composed of William Adams, Leroy Orr, A. E. Stevenson, Henry Grainger and Henry Braithwaite, made their report through Member A. E. Stevenson, and it covered the work done by their department in a thorough manner. This board has the custody of the funds over a certain amount and looks after its investments to the best possible advantage. They also look after the property of the organization and see to it that the possessions of the Brotherhood are well taken care of. The report, which was received, reflects great credit upon the trustees and shows that their duties have been faithfully performed.

Press — President Hughes, Vice President Hutchins, Vice President Jackson, Secretary Duffy, Assistant Secretary Smith.

This committee is expected to give out every particle of information that the convention wishes the public to know, although it was stated on the floor of the first session of the convention that delegates at this meeting would be different from those in attendance at previous ones if they did not talk for publication. The other committees were as follows:

FIGHT ON STREET CAR

AN ARREST MADE, BUT AGGRESSOR ESCAPED.

Patrick Mulhern Fined for Intoxication—May Miller And Jessie Bleakley Taken to Workhouse.

Patrick Mulhern was up before Mayor Davidson this morning to answer to a charge of drunkenness. He made a full confession. He was fined $1 and costs, which he paid. Patrolmen Rose and Bettridge arrested Patrick.

A fight took place on a street car last night in which John Webber received a blow in the face which caused a dark circle to form above one of his eyes. Patrolman Bettridge saw the closing round of the conflict, but before he could lay hands on the aggressor the fellow escaped. His name was not learned. Webber was arrested, but not locked up. He appeared before the mayor this morning and stated that he was not responsible for the fight.

His story was corroborated by several persons who were aboard the car at the time. Webber was allowed to go, but it is expected he will bring a charge against the man who struck him, if his identity can be learned.

Roy Brown, who was arrested for fighting yesterday afternoon by Officer Stafford, was fined $2 and costs. He paid up.

A STARK MAN IN SECOND PLACE

Hon. Anthony Howells Indorsed For Lieutenant Governor By Delegates

Merry War Among the Local Democracy at Columbus—Columbiana County Delegation Sits on J. C. Walsh—Cold Shoulder for Johnson.

Columbus, July 10.—(Special)—Hon. Anthony Howells, of Massillon, was endorsed for the nomination for lieutenant governor at the meeting of the Eighteenth district delegates yesterday. Hon. James Rice, of Canton, will place Mr. Howells' name before the convention. John H. Clark, a Cleveland attorney, making the seconding speech. The universal belief is that if the nomination for lieutenant governor is not forced on Zimmerman, Howells will win out for that place hands down.

Just before the close of the conference of the district delegates Chairman A. J. Wolfe, of Youngstown, made a play to secure endorsement of the Kansas City platform by the district. The idea died "aborning." J. T. Schroyer, of Stark, squelched it effectually in a few short sentences, and before any one had time to think "Dick" Pierce, of Canton, made a motion to adjourn and the caucus passed into history.

Ed O. Moore, former mayor of Youngstown, announced on authority yesterday that John H. Morris, of that city, had withdrawn from the race for state treasurer, having been impelled to do so by a desire to strengthen Howells' chances for lieutenant governor.

The district conference was called to order by A. E. Young, of Massillon. On motion of Al Carlisle, of Salem, A. J. Wolfe, of Mahoning, was made chairman. J. C. Delrick, of Stark, was elected secretary. Candidates agreed upon in the preliminary gatherings were presented and formally ratified. The organization effected was as follows:

For Vice President—A. O. Slentz, of Stark.

Member of State Central Committee—Otto E. Young, of Stark.

Member of Committee on Resolutions—W. H. Spence, of Columbiana. Member of Committee on Permanent Organization—J. C. Walsh, of Columbiana.

Member of Committee on Credentials—E. H. Moore, of Mahoning.

Member of Committee on Rules and Order of Business—George Edwards of Mahoning.

Stark decided to stand by Columbiana county for member of committee on resolutions and member of committee on permanent organization. Mahoning county was conceded the member of committee on rules and credentials and member of committee on rules and order of business. The county agreed to stand as a unit on all questions.

Columbiana county is represented by Al Carlisle, Dr. A. W. Schiller, Joseph Schriber, L. A. Callahan, Ed Cook, J. C. Walsh, A. P. Dennis, T. J. Forner, Joseph Dowler, W. H. Spence, William Foley, G. B. Aten.

The Columbiana county delegates, at a meeting held in Al Carlisle's room yesterday afternoon, selected George Aten, of Wellsville, as chairman of the delegation. W. H. Spence, of Salem, and A. P. Dennis, of Wellsville, were presented for membership on the resolution committee. Spence was elected. He was the choice of Carlisle, who favored giving the Johnson resolutions no consideration. Dennis favored inserting the first of the Johnson resolutions. Spence was compelled in the district conference to present the three resolutions, Stark county threatening, if he did not, to combine with the Dennis faction and prevent the ratification of Columbiana county's nomination by the district caucus.

J. C. Walsh, of East Liverpool, was elected on the committee on permanent organization without opposition. When the question of choosing a permanent chairman of the delegation came up Carlisle attempted to placate Dennis by nominating him for permanent chairman, but Dennis declined the nomination. George B. Aten was then elected permanent chairman. J. C. Walsh wanted a plank recommended to the committee on resolutions criticising Governor Nash for stopping the prize fight in Cincinnati last winter, but the whole delegation, figuratively speaking, sat down on Walsh. The Mahoning county delegation, with nine members present, caucused in the state treasurer's office just before the district caucus and organized by electing A. J. Wolfe, of Youngstown, as chairman. This delegation was the only one in the district that desired a re-affirmation of the Kansas City platform and the adoption of the Johnson resolutions entire. They were the extremists on the platform question.

For several days the relations between the two women have been somewhat unfriendly and both have appealed to Justice McLane for redress. The "squire" advised them to "bury the hatchet," but his admonition seems to have failed of result.

An affidavit was filed by Mrs. Ellis this morning, charging Mrs. Perrine with assault. Constable Powell arrested the woman and she was brought before Justice McLane. She pleaded not guilty and demanded a "bible" trial. The case will be heard tomorrow morning.

Small Hope of Recovery—The condition of Miss Emma Bennett, who has been very ill at her home on Avondale street for several days, is unchanged and there are small hopes entertained for her recovery.

Dr. R. J. Marshall Unearthed An Ordinance Long Since Forgotten.

FULLY COVERS REQUIREMENTS

Mayor Davidson Never Knew That the Mandate Had Been Passed.

FOUR COUNCILMEN ABSENT

And But Little Business Was Transacted at Tuesday Night's Session. Pay Ordinance Was Next in Importance to the Dog Question.

Perhaps to the News Review is due the credit of a discovery made at the meeting of council last evening, which has not only removed a burden from Mayor Davidson's mind, but which will bring relief to a long-suffering public, inasmuch as the question, so much discussed, relative to the dog nuisance in the city, has been solved and there now appears to be some recourse for those who have appealed in vain to the mayor for protection from the canine pests running at large.

As has often been stated in the articles on the subject which have appeared in the News Review at different times the ordinance concerning dogs which appears in the book in Mayor Davidson's possession is practically worthless. It was passed many years since when East Liverpool was in its infancy and hence, owing to its abbreviated scope, has been a detriment instead of a benefit to the city executive.

It was Councilman Marshall who made the discovery which the public generally will appreciate and which will doubtless boom business at the garbage furnace. It was the unearthing of a dog law in an ordinance book in the possession of Clerk Hanley, which, for an unknown reason, had never been called to the attention of the mayor.

Mr. Marshall sprang a decided surprise when he produced the book and read therefrom an ordinance passed Aug. 13, 1895, and known as No. 446, which is not only far reaching in its scope, but gives the city executive abundant power to impose penalties on the persons violating its provisions and makes the way clear for him to rid the city of a nuisance which has long been complained of.

In addition to giving the mayor power to fine the owners of cross or troublesome dogs it decrees that private citizens may protect themselves against the ravages of the worthless curs and that they may slaughter them. A section providing for the muzzling of the brutes during dog days is also complete and Mayor Davidson proposes to see to it that the ordinance is immediately put into effect. He was instructed to issue a proclamation warning the owners of dogs that unless they are properly looked after they will be summarily dealt with.

Councilman Barlow has evidently been among the number who has been pestered by the curs. After the ordinance had been read to council he asked for a certainty whether or not private citizens were authorized to shoot dogs that annoyed them. When told that they were, Mr. Barlow indicated his desire to begin the contemplated onslaught by saying: "Well, if that's a fact I shall go gunning myself—and that very soon."

How the ordinance came to be laid away without being recorded in the mayor's book is not to be explained. Though the mayor has repeatedly in the past several months been harassed by indignant citizens who censured him for not taking steps to abate the dog nuisance, he has made the best of the situation in the hope that council would come to his rescue. He was present at the meeting last night and it was his intention to bring the matter up before the solons. Dr. Marshall, however, saved him the trouble, and though it has been almost six years since the ordinance was passed, it has never been put into effect and neither the mayor, marshal or police knew anything about it. It is needless to state that it will be used to good advantage from now on.

Owing to the absence of Messrs. Nice, Horwell, Cripps and McLane, there was little business transacted at last night's meeting. Vice President

WELLSVILLE

ORGANIZERS TALK

AND MORE MEN JOINED THE WELLSVILLE A. A. LODGE.

The Officials Confident of a Pacific Solution of the Mill Trouble.

The meeting of the local union of the Amalgamated Association yesterday afternoon was well attended. There were at least 40 men present. Only a part of the men are able to attend the meetings, as their work calls them to duty at that hour of the day. The meeting was opened with the opening ode of the association. Organizer George D. Evans first addressed the men. He said in part:

"In coming here we come only with the object of getting the workmen of Wellsville closer together. Sixty-five per cent of the mills of the country are union mills. We want to make the other 35 per cent union. We don't want any man to quit his work to join us, but we want every man to have his rights. Unions keep up wages and if it were not for the unions the non-union men would not be getting the wages that they receive now. Organization has power. It would be better for the men here if they were organized."

Ex-Vice President Charles James then addressed the meeting. He said: "The union is for the purpose of protecting the workman and his family. We know that the interests of the manufacturer are our interests too. When he prospers we do the same. We are not out this time for more money; we are out for a principle and we are going to stand for that principle. If it is good for the manufacturers to organize it is good for the workmen to organize. We are not here to degrade, but to elevate the men. We do not want our men to do anything rash; we want them all to be conservative. In joining this union they are looking into the future—they are preparing the way for the good of their posterity, and that is noble."

The meeting then went into executive session. Organizer Evans last night expressed himself as confident of success and of a peaceful solution of the present dispute with the trust. He said about 12 new men joined the union, three of them being tonnage men. Vice President Chappell is expected here today. Three of the men who had been discharged were reinstated today, and it is expected the others will be taken back.

George D. Evans received a message over the telephone from President Shaffer at 9 o'clock this morning, stating that Vice President Chappell would reach Wellsville today at 3 p. m. He was to have come yesterday, but on account of the stress of business in the Pittsburg office he could not get away until today.

Organizer James said this morning that arrangements which are satisfactory to all parties had been made for the disposition of the discharged men. He would not state what would be done in their behalf, but he said the report that they were to be taken back a few at a time was not in the plans.

He said they had done more toward organizing last night and this morning than they have done yet. He requests that the men already in the union do not agitate the question in the saloons. He thinks when conferences over trouble of this kind are held in saloons, a great deal of harm is done.

Another meeting will be held in Pottery hall this afternoon.

FOUGHT FOR LIFE

Against a Ten-Foot Snake—Great Battle of Two Tuscarawas Men.

Canal Dover, July 10. — Stephen Miles and Mark Godard came upon a snake of the racer species while crossing Thyme hill. The head and tail were hidden in the weeds on opposite sides of the road. Miles made for it with a club. The snake turned and gave him battle. With head raised five feet from the ground and hissing furiously, it struck at him again and again.

The thoroughly frightened Miles fought for his life and at last by a lucky blow brought the snake low. Godard was paralyzed with fright and was unable to render his companion any help. It was found upon measurement to be more than 10 feet long. It is more than 50 years since a snake of such proportions has been seen in this vicinity.

BETRAYED BY A LETTER

Former Youngstown Merchant Wanted for Arson, Arrested in Detroit.

Youngstown, July 10.—After dodging the police of various states from Ohio to California, J. A. Robertson, wanted here for arson, was trapped in Detroit by a letter which he wrote to R. A. Calvin, also under indictment here for arson. Robertson formerly ran a shoe store here, but left after repeated fires had consumed all his stock and store. Calvin, a clerk, was left to bear the brunt of the charges.

When a letter came from Robertson asking him to meet his former employer in Detroit he turned it over to Sheriff Thomas and went to Detroit with the sheriff to arrest Robertson.

IN NORTH POLE COSTUME

A Fredericktown Genius Remained Cool While Others Sweltered.

Fredericktown, O., July 10.—"What will keep out cold will keep out heat," said Hugh Morrison the other day when the mercury sizzled and boiled around 100, and people asked him why he dressed as though he were at the north pole.

Whatever there may be in his theory, he was the only cool man in the county during the hot spell. He wore heavy felt boots and flannels.

PROMISSORY NOTE

The Basis for an Action in Justice Rose's Court—Other Minor Cases Also Filed.

Lee Fording, of Alliance, has entered suit in Justice Rose's court against Dr. W. E. Mowen, of the East End. In November, 1891, the plaintiff claims he loaned the defendant $50 on a promissory note. He now seeks to recover the above amount, together with the interest, which all told is $94.80.

Several other minor actions have been entered in the same court.

Running Against Wilhelm.

Rev. J. F. Sheppard, of Carrollton, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that town, will be the Prohibition candidate for senator in the Stark-Carroll district, against Senator George Wilhelm, the Republican nominee. State Chairman Ashenburt thinks it probable that the Democrats of the district will not nominate a man for senator and may unite on Sheppard.

TO CHANGE PLACES

COLUMBIANA MINISTER WILL GO TO PUGET SOUND.

A Washington State Man Will Succeed Him in Eastern Ohio Conference.

Columbiana, July 10. — (Special)—Arrangements are about completed for an important transfer of Methodist ministers which will be of special interest in the East Ohio conference.

In case Bishop Joyce of this conference does not disapprove of the arrangements made, Rev. J. W. Satterthwaite, pastor of the M. E. church in this town, will be transferred to the Puget Sound conference in western Washington, and Rev. T. E. Elliott will be transferred from that conference to the East Ohio conference.

The proposed change has received the approval of Presiding Elder Smith, of Canton district; Presiding Elder Williams, of Chehalis district, in Washington, and Bishop Mallaleu, of Puget Sound conference. It is not probable that Bishop Joyce, of this conference, will withhold his approval.

Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite was seen here today by the News Review correspondent. He said that on account of the health of members of his family, he has had this change in contemplation for some time, believing that the mild climate of the Puget Sound valley, in which both extremes of heat and cold are unknown, would be beneficial to the afflicted ones. This course was no sooner decided upon than the opportunity to make the change presented itself and was accepted. Rev. Mr. Elliott, who has been in the Puget Sound conference for 11 years, was formerly of the vicinity of Cleveland and desired to return to his native state. Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite will succeed him as pastor of the church at Hoquiam on Gray's Harbor, 12 miles from the coast. The appointment is the same grade as the one he is serving here, a salary of $850 and furnished parsonage.

The transfer will be made about September 1, in time for the pastors to be present at the annual conferences with which they will be affiliated.

Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite has been pastor of the church here for two years and the congregation is practically a unit in desiring him to remain. The pastor and family are also loath to leave, but necessity seems to require it. Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite is recognized as one of the most able ministers in the East Ohio conference. During his pastorate here the church edifice was extensively remodeled.

TOLD IN EAST LIVERPOOL

In the Evidence of East Liverpool People Published in East Liverpool Papers That Has Made Such a Reputation for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

Standing clear and distinct, marking the difference, the superior merit, the adaptability to present day ailments is the volume of local testimony for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. It's so different to the ordinary remedies referring to cures made at distant points which it is hard to verify. There is a reason for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills commanding home evidence wherever they are known—it is their wonderful influence in bringing up the standard of Nerve Force. Mrs. C. L. Yager, of 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's medicines are all good. I got them at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, as I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person, as I feel well and hearty again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

Owes His Life to Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea, was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than 24 hours. ## VALUE OF PHILIPPINES.

General Grant on Their Importance to the United States.

SAYS IT CANNOT BE OVERVALUED.

In Peace the Value of the Islands From a Trade Standpoint Is Greatest, and in War as a Strategic Basis It Is of First Importance, Says the General.

The value of the Philippines to the United States cannot be overestimated, says General Frederick D. Grant in Leslie's Weekly. It will increase with the development of the islands and the growth of our trade with Asia. It is greatest, therefore, from a commercial standpoint, but is remarkable also as a strategic basis in time of war. We have added a vast area to the United States of incomparable richness, natural resources and fertility. The climate is salubrious, and the Anglo-Saxon can live in any part of the country with comfort and little expense comparatively because of the warm weather. A man with a small income can build up a competence there more readily than in this country, and the field is full of opportunity for the industrious and the thrifty. The soil is capable of supporting three times the present number of inhabitants and of doing it much better than they are now supported when there are better facilities of transportation.

A great many Americans went out to the Philippines on prospecting tours, but were disappointed at the passage of the Spooner bill, with its amendments, which prevents the granting of any franchises until congress makes laws to regulate them. I am told that surveys have been made for several railroads which would approximately cover the following routes: One 200 miles to the south of Manila, another 170 miles through the eastern part of the great valley of Luzon directly inland to Benguet, in the mountains, and a third 110 miles to the north, being an extension of the present road. This will make the present line 250 miles long if the extension is built.

We shall obtain a large market for our manufactures in the islands, and the whole trade of the archipelago will come under our exclusive control in a few years—that is, as soon as the clause of the treaty of peace by which we agreed to give Spain equal trade privileges in the islands with ourselves expires.

The Filipinos belong to the thirteenth or fourteenth century, but are a kind, peace loving and intelligent people. This is true of the whole so far as I have observed and is not confined to any particular locality or class. The people are loyal, are fond of displaying the stars and stripes and look upon the Americans as a race of benefactors little less than wonderful in their ingenuity.

The timber lands nearly all belong to the government. There are forests of ebony, mahogany and other rare hard and valuable woods that will be used some day in the United States for furniture and house trimmings. Of these woods I should say there are at least 100 varieties, many of which are wholly unfamiliar to Americans. I am in favor of preserving the forests by government regulation instead of allowing the timber to be swept clean by private interests.

The archipelago is of first importance from a military standpoint, because it gives us a station at a comparatively short distance from the great future field of commerce, the Chinese empire, with 400,000,000 inhabitants, in the southeastern part of Asia. As these nations produce more they will become more capable of buying, and the chance of controlling their trade is enhanced by having a strong outpost at Manila, at the very gates of the orient. It may not be that we shall ever have to fight to hold or control this trade, but we shall be much more apt to have our share of it if we are prepared for strong measures to defend our rights, just as a man makes secure against burglars by having a watchman in the house and putting locks on his front door.

It is for the corps of engineers of the army, of course, to consider the fortification and defense of the Philippines, and some surveys have probably been made already with that end in view. I am especially hopeful of the Filipino as a soldier. The natives are stubborn and courageous fighters, and an army officered by Americans could be raised among them sufficient for the defense of the archipelago. So far we have not taken many natives into the army, but we have used them to police the cities with excellent results. The few that have served with me have shown courage and dash on the field when led by white officers.

I feel that the Americans in taking the Philippines are performing a great humanitarian act which will redound to the material interest of the Filipinos as well as to their intellectual development and will enable them in time to enjoy the same freedom that the Americans do.

WELLSVILLE

ORGANIZERS TALK

AND MORE MEN JOINED THE WELLSVILLE A. A. LODGE.

The meeting of the local union of the Amalgamated Association yesterday afternoon was well attended. There were at least 40 men present. Only a part of the men are able to attend the meetings, as their work calls them to duty at that hour of the day. The meeting was opened with the opening ode of the association. Organizer George D. Evans first addressed the men. He said in part: "In coming here we come only with the object of getting the workmen of Wellsville closer together. Sixty-five per cent of the mills of the country are union mills. We want to make the other 35 per cent union. We don't want any man to quit his work to join us, but we want every man to have his rights. Unions keep up wages and if it were not for the unions the non-union men would not be getting the wages that they receive now. Organization has power. It would be better for the men here if they were organized."

Ex-Vice President Charles James then addressed the meeting. He said: "The union is for the purpose of protecting the workman and his family. We know that the interests of the manufacturer are our interests too. When he prospers we do the same. We are not out this time for more money; we are out for a principle and we are going to stand for that principle. If it is good for the manufacturers to organize it is good for the workmen to organize. We are not here to degrade, but to elevate the men. We do not want our men to do anything rash; we want them all to be conservative. In joining this union they are looking into the future—they are preparing the way for the good of their posterity, and that is noble."

The meeting then went into executive session. Organizer Evans last night expressed himself as confident of success and of a peaceful solution of the present dispute with the trust. He said about 12 new men joined the union, three of them being tonnage men. Vice President Chappell is expected here today. Three of the men who had been discharged were reinstated today, and it is expected the others will be taken back.

George D. Evans received a message over the telephone from President Shaffer at 9 o'clock this morning, stating that Vice President Chappell would reach Wellsville today at 3 p. m. He was to have come yesterday, but on account of the stress of business in the Pittsburg office he could not get away until today.

Organizer James said this morning that arrangements which are satisfactory to all parties had been made for the disposition of the discharged men. He would not state what would be done in their behalf, but he said the report that they were to be taken back a few at a time was not in the plans.

He said they had done more toward organizing last night and this morning than they have done yet. He requests that the men already in the union do not agitate the question in the saloons. He thinks when conferences over trouble of this kind are held in saloons, a great deal of harm is done.

Another meeting will be held in Pottery hall this afternoon.

FOUGHT FOR LIFE

Against a Ten-Foot Snake—Great Battle of Two Tuscarawas Men.

Canal Dover, July 10.—Stephen Miles and Mark Godard came upon a snake of the racer species while crossing Thyme hill. The head and tail were hidden in the weeds on opposite sides of the road. Miles made for it with a club. The snake turned and gave him battle. With head raised five feet from the ground and hissing furiously, it struck at him again and again.

The thoroughly frightened Miles fought for his life and at last by a lucky blow brought the snake low. Godard was paralyzed with fright and was unable to render his companion any help. It was found upon measurement to be more than 10 feet long. It is more than 50 years since a snake of such proportions has been seen in this vicinity.

BETRAYED BY A LETTER

Former Youngstown Merchant Wanted for Arson, Arrested in Detroit.

Youngstown, July 10.—After dodging the police of various states from Ohio to California, J. A. Robertson, wanted here for arson, was trapped in Detroit by a letter which he wrote to R. A. Calvin, also under indictment here for arson. Robertson formerly ran a shoe store here, but left after repeated fires had consumed all his stock and store. Calvin, a clerk, was left to bear the brunt of the charges.

When a letter came from Robertson asking him to meet his former employer in Detroit he turned it over to Sheriff Thomas and went to Detroit with the sheriff to arrest Robertson.

Running Against Wilhelm.

Rev. J. F. Sheppard, of Carrollton, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that town, will be the Prohibition candidate for senator in the Stark-Carroll district, against Senator George Wilhelm, the Republican nominee. State Chairman Ashenbush thinks it probable that the Democrats of the district will not nominate a man for senator and may unite on Sheppard.

TO CHANCE PLACES

A Washington State Man Will Succeed Him in Eastern Ohio Conference.

Columbiana, July 10.—(Special)—Arrangements are about completed for an important transfer of Methodist ministers which will be of special interest in the East Ohio conference.

In case Bishop Joyce of this conference does not disapprove of the arrangements made, Rev. J. W. Satterthwaite, pastor of the M. E. church in this town, will be transferred to the Puget Sound conference in western Washington, and Rev. T. E. Elliott will be transferred from that conference to the East Ohio conference.

The proposed change has received the approval of Presiding Elder Smith, of Canton district; Presiding Elder Williams, of Chehalis district, in Washington, and Bishop Mallaleu, of Puget Sound conference. It is not probable that Bishop Joyce, of this conference, will withhold his approval.

Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite was seen here today by the News Review correspondent. He said that on account of the health of members of his family, he has had this change in contemplation for some time, believing that the mild climate of the Puget Sound valley, in which both extremes of heat and cold are unknown, would be beneficial to the afflicted ones. This course was no sooner decided upon than the opportunity to make the change presented itself and was accepted. Rev. Mr. Elliott, who has been in the Puget Sound conference for 11 years, was formerly of the vicinity of Cleveland and desired to return to his native state. Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite will succeed him as pastor of the church at Hoquiam on Gray's Harbor, 12 miles from the coast. The appointment is the same grade as the one he is serving here, a salary of $850 and furnished parsonage.

The transfer will be made about September 1, in time for the pastors to be present at the annual conference with which they will be affiliated.

Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite has been pastor of the church here for two years and the congregation is practically a unit in desiring him to remain. The pastor and family are also loath to leave, but necessity seems to require it. Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite is recognized as one of the most able ministers in the East Ohio conference. During his pastorate here the church edifice was extensively remodeled.

It's so different to the ordinary remedies referring to cures made at distant points which it is hard to verify. There is a reason for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills commanding home evidence wherever they are known—it is their wonderful influence in bringing up the standard of Nerve Force. Mrs. C. L. Yager, of 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's medicines are all good. I got them at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, as I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person, as I feel well and hearty again."

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. ## VALUE OF PHILIPPINES.

General Grant on Their Importance to the United States.

SAYS IT CANNOT BE OVERVALUED.

In Peace the Value of the Islands From a Trade Standpoint is Greatest, and in War as a Strategic Basis It is of First Importance, Says the General.

The value of the Philippines to the United States cannot be overestimated, says General Frederick D. Grant in Leslie's Weekly. It will increase with the development of the islands and the growth of our trade with Asia. It is greatest, therefore, from a commercial standpoint, but is remarkable also as a strategic basis in time of war. We have added a vast area to the United States of incomparable richness, natural resources and fertility. The climate is salubrious, and the Anglo-Saxon can live in any part of the country with comfort and little expense comparatively because of the warm weather. A man with a small income can build up a competence there more readily than in this country, and the field is full of opportunity for the industrious and the thrifty. The soil is capable of supporting three times the present number of inhabitants and of doing it much better than they are now supported when there are better facilities of transportation.

A great many Americans went out to the Philippines on prospecting tours, but were disappointed at the passage of the Spooner bill, with its amendments, which prevents the granting of any franchises until congress makes laws to regulate them. I am told that surveys have been made for several railroads which would approximately cover the following routes: One 200 miles to the south of Manila, another 170 miles through the eastern part of the great valley of Luzon directly inland to Benguet, in the mountains, and a third 110 miles to the north, being an extension of the present road. This will make the present line 250 miles long if the extension is built.

We shall obtain a large market for our manufactures in the islands, and the whole trade of the archipelago will come under our exclusive control in a few years—that is, as soon as the clause of the treaty of peace by which we agreed to give Spain equal trade privileges in the islands with ourselves expires.

The Filipinos belong to the thirteenth or fourteenth century, but are a kind, peace loving and intelligent people. This is true of the whole so far as I have observed and is not confined to any particular locality or class. The people are loyal, are fond of displaying the stars and stripes and look upon the Americans as a race of benefactors little less than wonderful in their ingenuity.

The timber lands nearly all belong to the government. There are forests of ebony, mahogany and other rare hard and valuable woods that will be used some day in the United States for furniture and house trimmings. ## JOHNSON AT 'PHONE.

Advised Salen to Insist on Incorporation of the Cuyahoga Plank,

IN OHIO DEMOCRAT PLATFORM.

He Was Expected to Expiate on Johnson Theories Today, but a Conservative Was Scheduled to Follow Him—Conservative Platform Likely

Columbus, July 10.—The Democratic state convention is to convene here today.

An unusually large attendance of visitors was noticeable here Tuesday, when the preliminary meetings were held for the Democratic state convention. The 950 delegates are accompanied by large delegations supporting different candidates for the nominations for judge and clerk of the supreme court, attorney general, state treasurer and members of the board of public works.

The nominations for governor and lieutenant governor are the only ones in which there is not a free-for-all race, with many entries. But the large attendance is due more to the reunion of Democrats, who have not been together in Ohio since 1895.

Those who are called "gold standard Democrats" are largely represented, and many of them have not attended their conventions in Ohio for years. Nearly all the old leaders of this class are here now, and they are given places of prominence on committees and organization generally. They are actively co-operating with those who are being denominated conservatives, in opposing so-called "isms" which they claim will handicap the party.

Salen's Selection a Compromise.

When the Kilbourne men secured the location of this convention at Columbus there was a strong effort to have it held at Cleveland. As a compromise Hon. Charles J. Salen, who is in the cabinet of Mayor Johnson, of Cleveland, was selected as temporary chairman. He was expected to speak this morning on the "Johnson policies," but he will be followed by a conservative as permanent chairman and by the adoption of what is known as the conservative platform.

At the conference Tuesday morning it was evident the conservatives will control the twenty-one congressional districts and therefore have all the committees which met last night to prepare their reports for the convention, which assembles this morning. There was considerable hustling for members of the committee on credentials on account of local fights in some counties, notably Montgomery, Butler and Union. The state committee and the committee on resolutions were in the hands of the conservatives before the district meetings were held, but there was no friction. Every effort seemed to have been made for harmony by the conservatives, but they insisted on harmony being secured without any compromise with what they termed as "new ideas" or "experiments."

Tom Johnson Telephoned.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, who is in Brooklyn, talked with Charles J. Salen on the long-distance telephone Tuesday regarding the plank on a revision of the taxation laws of the state. When Salen informed the mayor that the McLean-Kilbourne men controlled the committee on resolutions, as well as all other parts of the convention, Mr. Johnson advised Salen to insist, both before the committee on resolutions and in the convention, for the incorporation of the Cuyahoga plank, which is made specific in mentioning railroads and other corporations as not bearing their full portion of the burden of taxation. Soon after this conversation Mr. Salen went into conference with Colonel Kilbourne, M. A. Daugherty, of Lancaster, and E. M. Heisley, of Cleveland, in Colonel Kilbourne's room, where they remained behind locked and guarded doors for more than an hour. The taxation plank was under consideration. At a joint meeting of the Cuyahoga delegation yesterday afternoon, when members of the committee were selected, Mr. Salen told his colleagues from Cleveland of his talk by telephone with Mayor Johnson, and urged them to stand by the Cuyahoga platform to the last. He even warned them against getting mixed up with the interests of any of the candidates for nomination. He said Cuyahoga county had no candidate and was not represented here in the interest of any one. They were here for principles and not for men. He explained that the platform would be adopted in the convention today before the order of nominations was reached, and that after the resolutions were disposed of all could work for their personal preferences for the nominations. He modified this by stating that the delegation would vote as a unit under his instructions.

Committee on Resolutions.

The following is the committee on resolutions: First district, Judson Harmon; Second, Harlan Cleveland; Third, J. H. Jones; Fourth, George Phillips; Fifth, W. D. Hill; Sixth, W. D. Hill; Joseph Elyar; Seventh, K. J. Harper; Eighth, W. S. Finley; Ninth, Barton Smith; Tenth, J. W. Eyer; Eleventh, W. E. Finck; Twelfth, M. A. Daugherty; Thirteenth, James H. Platt; Fourteenth, F. J. King; Fifteenth, E. M. Kennedy; Sixteenth, G. W. Hamilton; Seventeenth, J. W. Cassingham; Eighteenth, William Spence, Columbus; Nineteenth, S. G. Rogers, Summit; Twentieth, E. M. Heisley, Cuyahoga; Twenty-first, Newton D. Baker, Cuyahoga.

The state central committee, selected last evening, is as follows: First district, L. G. Bernard; Second, Louis Beemlin; Third, Joseph Fowling; Fourth, H. C. Barber; Fifth, G. W. Risser; Sixth, A. B. Hough;

Seventh, W. S. Thomas; Eighth, W. J. Frey; Ninth, John Bolan; Tenth, E. A. Crawford; Eleventh, C. E. Peoples; Twelfth, F. J. Heer; Thirteenth, John E. Stange; Fourteenth, Lewis Brucker; Fifteenth, Eugene F. O'Neill; Sixteenth, W. B. Frances; Seventeenth, Waldo Taylor; Eighteenth, O. F. Young; Nineteenth, H. E. Address; Twentieth, Charles W. Salen; Twenty-first, Harry F. Payer.

The McLean-Kilbourne element at the district meetings Tuesday afternoon secured control of all the committees, and will accordingly have everything their way at the Democratic state convention today. They were so strongly in the majority that there was no friction.

In the Twentieth and Twenty-first districts, which include Cleveland, the Johnson men had things their way as much as the McLean men in the First and Second districts, which include Cincinnati. But in the rural districts the latter element had almost everything. The controlling element did not "ride rough shod" over minorities in any of the districts, but when names were proposed for places on the committees there were inquiries as to how they stood, and if the replies were not satisfactory they were "excused," in some cases as quietly as jurors and in others with ballots.

The McLean-Kilbourne element, while usually courteous, made no concessions. The old state committee met previous to the district meetings, and gave the tickets to the McLean-Kilbourne men where there were contesting delegations and they took all the districts except those which include Cleveland, in which, under the unit rule, they could not control a vote.

Johnson Men Threaten to Fight.

But the Johnson men, after the result of the district meetings, promptly announced that they would carry the fight into the committee on resolutions, for an all night struggle, and then into the convention today, "for a finish." They have two strong men and vigorous speakers in Heisley and Baker, both members of Mayor Johnson's cabinet at Cleveland, on the committee on resolutions.

It is predicted that the convention will not reach the order of nominations until late this afternoon, and that the proceedings may be protracted into the night.

Former Governor Campbell is with the Schwab delegation from Butler county, and the Mason-Gray delegation from that county was yesterday given the tickets by the old state committee.

With all the efforts of the McLean-Kilbourne men for harmony, there is every indication of unusual scenes on the floor of the convention over minority reports, especially on credentials and resolutions.

MOB SMASHES CHAIRS.

New York, July 10.—The demonstration against the reserved park chairs, for the use of which a fee is charged, were continued in Madison square park. A mob several hundred strong took the police by surprise and began a wholesale destruction of the chairs at the north end of the park. The attendant in charge was swept from his feet and carried down with his property. The chairs were scattered over the pathways and the police reserves were unable to quell the riot for a time. They charged with drawn clubs and several men were arrested.

One of the occupants of a pay chair was Terry McGovern, the pugilist, who called upon one of the attendants "to come and collect." The attendant, however, did not accept the invitation. In the early evening at Madison square the crowd kept growing larger and larger and blocked the path where the pay chairs were. The police were practically unable to clear a passage way. Two men sat down. One of the chair men attempted to collect from these men. They only laughed at him, and another attendant, without further parley, walked to the rear of the chairs and dumped the occupants out. This precipitated a squabble, and as the cheering crowd encouraged the men to "stand by their guns," the police interfered and the two men and the second attendant were marched to the police station. The attendant was not held, but one of the men was, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

INSANE MAN KILLS WOMAN.

Assault and Mutilation of a Young Girl May Have Also Been Committed by Him.

Denver, July 10.—Mrs. Armenia Bullis, 62 years old, was killed on a lonely road near the east city limits, being stabbed to the heart, and Jessie Kinport, 14 years of age, was assaulted at her home and terribly mutilated with a knife. Christian Jensen, a farm hand, who is in custody, has confessed to the killing of Mrs. Bullis. He says she ran against him on the road, and believing she had a gun, he stabbed her. He talks incoherently, and is believed to be insane.

Mrs. Bullis lived on a small farm, and was walking home when murdered. Jensen was employed by her several years ago. Chief of Police Armstrong is of the opinion that the assault upon Jessie Kinport was not committed by Jensen, although some circumstances point to him as the guilty person. The girl was alone at her home in this city when assaulted, her mother, a widow, having gone to the theater with a friend. The man who assaulted the girl gained entrance to the house through a window. He choked her, cut her in the abdomen and otherwise maltreated her. She was found lying on an ash dump about midnight by searchers, after an alarm had been given by her mother, who on returning home found her child's bed empty and bloodstained. Physicians believe the girl will recover.

THE CIRCUS HABIT.

INDIANS HAVE THE WILDEST CRAZE FOR THE TENTED SHOWS.

After the Red Men the Negroes Will Go to the Greatest Lengths to See the Performance, and Third Place Is Held by Chinamen.

"You may talk about your city circus goers," said the old circus man, "but the Indian, the wild, untutored red man of the plains, has got them all beaten to death. There's no circus goer in the world like the North American aborigine. He will travel farther, endure more privations and skimp himself harder to get the price of admission than any other human being in the world. What's more, I believe he really enjoys the circus better than the negro, though he doesn't make any fuss over it.

"The negro, as every circus man knows, will sell the family cow stove to get money to see the elephant, but the Indian will barter off his papoose, his squaw or even his most cherished possession, his horse, to get a ticket. After the negro comes the Chinaman. The Mexicans, too, are not slow in responding to the toot of the callopie. The laziest greaser on the Texas border, who never paid a debt in his life, bobs up promptly on circus day with his 50 cents, though nobody knows where he got it. But the Indian is the greatest circus fiend of all.

"In the west our circus is known among the Indians as 'the heap big brothers' show.' It is the only circus that attracts the red man, and he waits for its yearly appearance as confidently as he awaits the return of spring. In Missoula, Mon., one of our regular stands, fully one-half of the audience is made up of Indians. They come from as far as 200 miles on horseback and even on foot, starting on their long journey days before the circus date and arriving promptly on the morning of the day of exhibition.

"On circus day it is a case of every man for himself with the Indians. The lord of the tepee brings enough trinkets in the shape of moccasins and bows and arrows to peddle around town and in this way gets money for his own admission ticket. His squaw brings willow baskets and has to hustle for her own ticket. They generally come in couples astride of a pony, and if the market is overcrowded with Indian relics they will sell the nag.

"When the show trains arrive in these western towns early in the morning 200 and 300 tents have already been pitched by the Indians, some of which have arrived the night before. Their little colony is almost as interesting as the circus itself. It is a veritable bazaar of relics and papoose exhibitions. While the old squaws are getting breakfast the children are playing games and the chiefs are taking their knickknacks to the market. They are the first ones after the doors of the big tents are opened to land on the blue planks. They fill a good part of the arena, and they never move during the entire performance. Applause is unknown to them. They make as little show of enthusiasm as their brothers in wood in front of the white man's cigar stores. If the trick elephant were to climb the center pole, they would not doubt enjoy the performance, but they would make no more show of surprise than if they were molded from clay. If the performing mule were to walk out on the hippodrome track and make a concert announcement in the Indian tongue, they would only grunt.

"After the show is over the chiefs proceed to fill their skins with the white man's firewater, and the squaws with the papooses wait on the lumber piles till the gray streaks begin to sprout over the hills, when the unsteady train winds out of town over the trail.

Chinamen saw the circus one season. Some of them came in coaches drawn by handsome horses, and they sat in boxes. Mongolian merchants worth their millions gave matinee parties, the men wearing richly embroidered gowns and the women clad in costly silk cut not in the form of dresses, but as a man wears his broadcloth. At one matinee given in the California city 8,000 Chinese and fully 2,000 Japs attended. The remaining few of the spectators were Americans. The Chinaman is as undemonstrative as the Indian. He expresses his appreciation of the performance by attending time after time.

"Probably the strangest mixture of people that ever attended a circus was found beneath the tent of our show one day at Tucson, A. T., when Indians, Mexicans, greasers, Japs, negroes, Chinamen and a few American cowboys fairly packed the big canvas arena and sat promiscuously mixed over the blue seats. Though the Chinamen and Indians are undemonstrative, the cow punchers, Mexicans and negroes made as much noise that day as was ever made at a frontier massacre. The cowboys yelped like a pack of coyotes when Mme. Noble rode the bucking horse, the Mexicans yelped at every act, and the negroes laughed at the clowns till the earth shook. That night the cowboys and greasers turned the town into a shooting gallery, emptying their revolvers at the stars and manifesting their sorrow at the departure of the circus by licking up all the refreshments in the town.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lincoln's Swear Word.

One story that is told of Lincoln relates to that extreme, correctively critical attitude which Secretary Seward always maintained toward the president.

Mr. Lincoln and the secretary had managed to escape from a man who had been boring them, and as they reached the house the president threw himself into an armchair and exclaimed:

"By jings, governor, we are here!"

Mr. Seward replied by asking in a reproving tone:

"Mr. President, where did you learn that inelegant expression?"

Mr. Lincoln immediately turned to several young men who had entered the room in time to hear the exclamation and said:

"Young gentlemen, excuse me for swearing before you. 'By jings' is swearing, for my good old mother taught me that anything that had a 'by' before it is swearing. I won't do so any more."—Youth's Companion.

Only Sunburned.

Last summer two little girls in a College avenue family were repeatedly remonstrated with by their indulgent mother for playing bareheaded in the sun. "You will be burned so badly," said she to them finally, "that people will think you are black children." Her warning had little effect, however, and she gave up trying to keep their hats on.

One day she sent them to a neighbor a block or so distant to make some inquiries concerning a washwoman. Mrs. S., the neighbor in question, mistook them for the children of a Mrs. Black who lived in another street nearby.

"You are the little Black children, are you not?" she asked.

JOHNSON AT 'PHONE.

IN OHIO DEMOCRAT PLATFORM.

He Was Expected to Expatriate on Johnson Theories Today, but a Conservative Was Scheduled to Follow Him—Conservative Platform Likely

An unusually large attendance of visitors was noticeable here Tuesday, when the preliminary meetings were held for the Democratic state convention. The 950 delegates are accompanied by large delegations supporting different candidates for the nominations for judge and clerk of the supreme court, attorney general, state treasurer and members of the board of public works.

The nominations for governor and lieutenant governor are the only ones in which there is not a free-for-all race, with many entries. But the large attendance is due more to the reunion of Democrats, who have not been together in Ohio since 1896.

Those who are called "gold standard Democrats" are largely represented, and many of them have not attended their conventions in Ohio for years. Nearly all the old leaders of this class are here now, and they are given places of prominence on committees and organization generally. They are actively co-operating with those who are being denominated conservatives, in opposing so-called "isms" which they claim will handicap the party.

Salen's Selection a Compromise.

When the Kilbourne men secured the location of this convention at Columbus there was a strong effort to have it held at Cleveland. As a compromise Hon. Charles J. Salen, who is in the cabinet of Mayor Johnson, of Cleveland, was selected as temporary chairman. He was expected to speak this morning on the "Johnson policies," but he will be followed by a conservative as permanent chairman and by the adoption of what is known as the conservative platform.

At the conference Tuesday morning it was evident the conservatives will control the twenty-one congressional districts and therefore have all the committees which met last night to prepare their reports for the convention, which assembles this morning. There was considerable hustling for members of the committee on credentials on account of local fights in some counties, notably Montgomery, Butler and Union. The state committee and the committee on resolutions were in the hands of the conservatives before the district meetings were held, but there was no friction. Every effort seemed to have been made for harmony by the conservatives, but they insisted on compromise being secured without any compromise with what they termed as "new ideas" or "experiments."

Tom Johnson Telephoned.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, who is in Brooklyn, talked with Charles P. Salen on the long-distance telephone Tuesday regarding the plank on a revision of the taxation laws of the state. When Salen informed the mayor that the McLean-Kilbourne men controlled the committee on resolutions, as well as all other parts of the convention, Mr. Johnson advised Salen to insist, both before the committee on resolutions and in the convention, for the incorporation of the Cuyahoga plank, which is made specific in mentioning railroads and other corporations as not bearing their full portion of the burden of taxation. Soon after this conversation Mr. Salen went into conference with Colonel Kilbourne, M. A. Daugherty, of Lancaster, and E. M. Heisley, of Cleveland, in Colonel Kilbourne's room, where they remained behind locked and guarded doors for more than an hour. The taxation plank was under consideration. At a joint meeting of the Cuyahoga delegation yesterday afternoon, when members of the committee were selected, Mr. Salen told his colleagues from Cleveland of his talk by telephone with Mayor Johnson, and urged them to stand by the Cuyahoga platform to the last. He even warned them against getting mixed up with the interests of any of the candidates for nomination. He said Cuyahoga county had no candidate and was not represented here in the interest of any one. They were here for principles and not for men. He explained that the platform would be adopted in the convention today before the order of nominations was reached, and that after the resolutions were disposed of all could work for their personal preferences for the nominations. He modified this by stating that the delegation would vote as a unit under his instructions.

Committee on Resolutions.

First district, Judson Harmon; Second, Harlan Cleveland; Third, J. H. Jones; Fourth, George Phillips; Fifth, W. D. Hill; Sixth, W. D. Hill, Joseph Elyar; Seventh, K. J. Harper; Eighth, W. S. Finley; Ninth, Barton Smith; Tenth, J. W. Elyar; Eleventh, W. E. Finck; Twelfth, M. A. Daugherty; Thirteenth, James H. Platt; Fourteenth, F. J. King; Fifteenth, E. M. Kennedy; Sixteenth, G. W. Hamilton; Seventeenth, J. W. Cassingham; Eighteenth, William Spence, Columbus; Nineteenth, S. G. Rogers, Summit; Twentieth, Echo M. Heisley, Cuyahoga; Twenty-first, Newton D. Baker, Cuyahoga.

The state central committee, selected last evening, is as follows:

First district, L. G. Bernard; Second, Louis Beemelin; Third, Joseph Dowling; Fourth, H. C. Barber; Fifth, G. W. Risser; Sixth, A. B. Hough;

Seventh, W. S. Thomas; Eighth, W. J. Frey; Ninth, John Bolan; Tenth, E. A. Crawford; Eleventh, C. E. Peoples; Twelfth, F. J. Heer; Thirteenth, John E. Stange; Fourteenth, Lewis Brucker; Fifteenth, Eugene F. O'Neil; Sixteenth, W. B. Frances; Seventeenth, Waldo Taylor; Eighteenth, O. F. Young; Nineteenth, H. E. Andress; Twentieth, Charles W. Salen; Twenty-first, Harry F. Payer.

The McLean-Kilbourne element at the district meetings Tuesday afternoon secured control of all the committees, and will accordingly have everything their way at the Democratic state convention today. They were so strongly in the majority that there was no friction.

In the Twentieth and Twenty-first districts, which include Cleveland, the Johnson men had things their way as much as the McLean men in the First and Second districts, which include Cincinnati. But in the rural districts the latter element had almost everything. The controlling element did not "ride rough shod" over minorities in any of the districts, but when names were proposed for places on the committees there were inquiries as to how they stood, and if the replies were not satisfactory they were "excused," in some cases as quietly as jurors and in others with ballots.

The McLean-Kilbourne element, while usually courteous, made no concessions. The old state committee met previous to the district meetings, and gave the tickets to the McLean-Kilbourne men where there were contesting delegations and they took all the districts except those which include Cleveland, in which, under the unit rule, they could not control a vote.

Johnson Men Threaten to Fight.

But the Johnson men, after the result of the district meetings, promptly announced that they would carry the fight into the committee on resolutions, for an all night struggle, and then into the convention today, "for a finish." They have two strong men and vigorous speakers in Heisley and Baker, both members of Mayor Johnson's cabinet at Cleveland, on the committee on resolutions.

It is predicted that the convention will not reach the order of nominations until late this afternoon, and that the proceedings may be protracted into the night.

Former Governor Campbell is with the Schwab delegation from Butler county, and the Mason-Gray delegation from that county was yesterday given the tickets by the old state committee.

With all the efforts of the McLean-Kilbourne men for harmony, there is every indication of unusual scenes on the floor of the convention over minority reports, especially on credentials and resolutions.

MOB SMASHES CHAIRS.

New York, July 10.—The demonstration against the reserved park chairs, for the use of which a fee is charged, were continued in Madison square park. A mob several hundred strong took the police by surprise and began a wholesale destruction of the chairs at the north end of the park. The attendant in charge was swept from his feet and carried down with his property. The chairs were scattered over the pathways and the police reserves were unable to quell the riot for a time. They charged with drawn clubs and several men were arrested.

One of the occupants of a pay chair was Terry McGovern, the pugilist, who called upon one of the attendants "to come and collect." The attendant, however, did not accept the invitation. In the early evening at Madison square the crowd kept growing larger and larger and blocked the path where the pay chairs were. The police were practically unable to clear a passage way. Two men sat down. One of the chair men attempted to collect from these men. They only laughed at him, and another attendant, without further parley, walked to the rear of the chairs and dumped the occupants out. This precipitated a squabble, and as the cheering crowd encouraged the men to "stand by their guns," the police interfered and the two men and the second attendant were marched to the police station. The attendant was not held, but one of the men was, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Last summer two little girls in a College avenue family were repeatedly remonstrated with by their indulgent mother for playing bareheaded in the sun. "You will be burned so badly," said she to them finally, "that people will think you are black children." Her warning had little effect, however, and she gave up trying to keep their hats on.

One day she sent them to a neighbor a block or so distant to make some inquiries concerning a washwoman. Mrs. S., the neighbor in question, mistook them for the children of a Mrs. Black who lived in another street nearby.

"You are the little Black children, are you not?" she asked.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

Now comes from England a report, confirmatory of one which has been published in this country, that the British government will not oppose the construction of an isthmian canal by this government, to be owned and controlled by the United States. William E. Curtis, the well informed correspondent, now in London, states that the government at Washington has been fully advised concerning the disposition of Great Britain to make a new treaty which will avoid all misunderstandings and will tend to strengthen the friendly relations now existing between the two governments.

It is the belief of Mr. Curtis after sounding the sentiment of various officials of the government that the British people do not care a farthing for the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, that they regard it as an obsolete document and believe that its abrogation would remove what might easily become in the future a source of friction. Great Britain will merely insist upon equal rights and privileges with other nations, as regards the canal. She will neither ask nor expect that the canal remain open to enemies of this government in the time of war.

The greatest obstacle in the way of beginning work on the canal being thus removed, we may expect to see the great undertaking in progress, as soon as congress acts upon the matter. Such action should not be delayed. The commerce of the United States and of the world will be benefited by the interoceanic waterway. The necessity for it, long recognized by this nation, is now greater than ever, with our new Pacific possessions and a rapidly increasing trade with all nations.

THE RUSH OF THE SOONERS.

One is reminded by the stories from Oklahoma of the impetuous rush to Skaguay and over the Chilkoot pass of the horde of gold-seekers who flocked madly toward the Klondike on receipt of the first and exaggerated reports of the fortunes dug from the frozen earth of the north. True, the "sooners," who are now so eager to be first to stake their claims in the rich territory which is to be opened to settlement under the homestead laws on August 6, run no such risk as did the Klondikers, but they are animated by the same spirit. Twenty thousand persons are expected at the land office in one small Oklahoma town on the opening day, and there is a fear that troops and galling gyps may be necessary to prevent trouble. Whatever may be the result, there are bound to be thousands of disappointed ones, as in a lottery where the contestants are many and the prizes few. The hope of picking up something of great value without earning it is so strong in the human breast that it leads others beside Oklahoma "sooners" into foolish scrambles. But the restless ones can only be satisfied by the lessons of dearly bought experience.

SOUTHERN EXPANSION.

The new south is thoroughly committed to the policy of industrial expansion. It is building mills and factories and opening new mines. Some of its towns are growing at a rate which would be considered surprising in the north and west, familiar as they are with booms and rapid development. In railroad building the south is now taking the lead. According to the Railway Age, two-thirds of the 1,818 miles of new track that were laid between January 1 and June 30 of the present year were laid in southern states, and prospects are good for a still greater amount of railroad construction in that section during the next year. The south has been behind in some things, one of them being railroads, but it is rapidly catching up. The wave of prosperity in its onward sweep is covering every part of the country. New capital, new blood and new energy are being infused into the south, and the results are becoming more and more apparent.

OBITUARY.

Joseph Scheets.

The death of Joseph Scheets, who lived at Kountz's crossing, near Wellsburg, occurred this morning at 8 o'clock. The deceased until a year ago worked at the printing business in this city. He was afflicted with consumption and a few months ago was taken to a hospital in Cleveland. The treatment did him no good, however. His father, Joseph Scheets, was a wagon maker, but has now retired from business. Both his father and mother are living. The time for the funeral has not been set yet.

Mrs. James McCord, aged 65 years, died at her home near West Point Monday evening. She has resided in that neighborhood for a number of years and was well known. Three sons and one daughter, Mrs. John Mundry, Jesse, John and Elmer, who resides in this city. The funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock from her late home and interment was made at Bethel church.

The Florida Razorback.

The Florida "razorback" is the hog indigenous to this climate and soil. He is usually large of limb and fleet of foot, being the only known porker that can outrun a dandy. He has a tail of wondrous length, which, while he is in active motion, he twists into the tightest corkscrew, but with which while quietly feeding he raps his leathery sides much in the same manner that the docile cow uses her tail.

He is self supporting. He earns his own living and thrives equally well in the highwoods, in the flatwoods, in the hummocks and in the marshes. He subsists upon anything he can find above the earth or underneath its surface. He has a clear, farseeing eye and is very sensitive of hearing. Nature has equipped him with a snout almost as long as the beak of the wild pelican of Borneo, with which he can penetrate the earth many inches in quest of worms, snakes and insects.

He is the most intelligent of all the hogs and is likewise the most courageous. He has been known to engage in mortal combat with a coon for the possession of a watermelon and to rend asunder a barbed wire fence.—Forest and Stream.

Hints For Smokers.

Here is a good tip for a smoker: The best pipe grows foul sometimes, and the various patent cleaning devices are of little use in making it fresh. But if you pack the bowl tight with grass or hay and lay the pipe aside for a few days you will have it as sweet as when it was new. Talking about smoking, here is a good idea for lighting matches: Don't light them on your trousers, for you'll burn slits in them, nor on your shoe soles, for you'll rub the heads off. The plan is to rub them on a piece of paper—a folded newspaper, an envelope, a ticket. The silica in the paper acts like sandpaper.

Many people can't smoke a dozen cigarettes without getting a sore throat. Inevitable cigarette smokers are frequently troubled with a perpetual cold in the head. It is not the smoke that is to blame, but the dust. Now, if you use a cigarette tube—amber, cherry or cardboard—a tiny bit of cotton wool in the bottom of it will catch every particle of dust. Try this, and you'll have no more sore throats. But you may not enjoy the smoke.—Exchange.

THE BRIDE ELECT

LEARNS HOW TO COOK AND DAIN- TILY SERVE VEGETABLES.

The Kindly Fruits of the Earth At- tractively Prepared—Many Little Knacks and Unwritten Laws—An Air of Distinction.

When the bride to be turned her attention to making vegetables ready for the table, she found a new field open to her. The unkindly fashion in which the kindly fruits of the earth are prepared for eating had never particularly impressed her until she saw how different they were when properly treated. "A little kindness," she murmured, shredding her string beans or chopping

her spinach the while, "and putting their hair in papers would do wonders with them."

It must be owned that the curl paper side of the business especially appealed to Ruth. She liked to find out pretty ways of serving commonplace vegetables so that they might appear almost like new products of the soil. She did not despise the simpler processes, of course. She took a pride in beating enough milk and butter and energy into white potatoes to make them look like whipped cream and in cooking rice—a cupful well washed—in two or three quarts of salted boiling water until the grains were soft, yet firm, and then drying it in a colander so that each kernel stood apart from every other.

Ruth found that vegetables were too often spoiled by a lack of proper draining and by being sent to the table lukewarm. When she had poured every drop of water from her peas, string beans, lima beans or squash, dressed them with butter, salt and pepper and kept them very hot until they were served, they were bound to be good.

Many little knacks Ruth found out when she tried some of her book learned ideas in the cookery of vegetables. She discovered that she could boil cauliflower and cabbage without making the house unbearable for the rest of the day if she put the vegetable over the fire in cold water to which she had added a pinch of baking soda and left the saucepan uncovered all the time it was on the stove. As a rule about 20 minutes' cookery was required after the water reached the boil—that is, if the vegetables were young.

New potatoes she learned to put on to boil in hot water and old potatoes in cold. To keep the color of green vegetables she added to them a pinch of baking soda, and besides doing this to her spinach she decided that if cooked to greater advantage in a double boiler than directly over the fire. String beans were better when she split them lengthwise, besides straining them and cutting them into inch long pieces.

All this it was necessary to learn, and Ruth enjoyed it, as she did all household experiences. But after all her chief pleasure in vegetable cookery lay in making them into pretty dishes.

Such a dish was made by hollowing out a cabbage into a shell, the heart being used for coldslaw or some other dish, and heaping the inside with chicken croquets or veal olives or balls of corned beef hash or anything else of the sort. This cabbage shell could be used more than once if the cabbage had been carefully selected and if it were kept in a cool place between its periods of service. The withered edges of the leaves could be clipped judiciously just before the dish went to the table, so that it would at least look fresh, and as it was not to be eaten there was no harm done if it had a little passed its first youth.

In addition to this sort of thing Ruth practiced various dainty ways of sending vegetables to table, which by increasing their attractiveness to the eye intensified it to the palate. Her boiled, baked or fried potatoes were always served on a small napkin, and for the last named or for other dry, fried things, like eggplants, croquettes and fritters, she had small squares made of damask that would better stand the soaking and washing requisite to the removing of grease than the ordinary fringed doily.

served either in tiny china nappies or in paper cases. When this was done, the vegetable had an air of distinction that often made it worthy to appear alone, as an entree, and take the place of the soup or the salad, or when an extra course was desired for company the dish came in as a vegetable entree between the soup and the meat, says The New Idea Woman's Magazine in concluding this little tale, a bride elect's experience in acquiring housewifely knowledge.

Health and Beauty

For generations women have been taught that "beauty is only skin deep," but, like many proverbs, that will not stand. Beauty is blood deep. There can be no beauty without health. Our grandmothers lived closer to nature than we do, and they were so sheltered by their home life that health and beauty were theirs naturally. Skin foods, freckle lotions and face bleaches were unknown commodities. But there has been a great change in the life of women since then. With broader education and larger opportunities, she has developed mentally at the expense of her health. From the quiet duties of home she has gone forth until now we find her in many avocations of life, which prove too great a tax on her vitality. Now and it is to see the cheek robbed of its color and the eye of its fire. These symptoms nearly always show derangements in the delicate feminine organism. They don't call for bleaches or paints or powders, but for a remedy that will make the afflicted organs strong and well. Wine of Cardui is just such a remedy. Women broken in health and spirit have been made healthy and happy by this Wine. No one should give up to the "blues" until this reliable remedy has been tried. It has proven a blessing to other women and will not disappoint you. It brings that buoyancy of spirit, elasticity of step and lightness of heart which is the corner stone of beauty. A healthy woman is always beautiful.

Westville, February 4, 1899.
I feel that I must say a few words in praise of the Ladies' greatest friend, Wine of Cardui. It is the most wonderful remedy that I ever tried. I have been a sufferer for years, at times being confined to my bed two or three days each month. A friend recommended Wine of Cardui, and since I have taken it I have been greatly relieved. I intend to continue to take it, for I know it is as recommended. I will use every effort to get others to use it.

Here is a good tip for a smoker: The best pipe grows foul sometimes, and the various patent cleaning devices are of little use in making it fresh. But if you pack the bowl tight with grass or hay and lay the pipe aside for a few days you will have it as sweet as when it was new. Talking about smoking, here is a good idea for lighting matches: Don't light them on your trousers, for you'll burn slits in them, nor on your shoe soles, for you'll rub the heads off. The plan is to rub them on a piece of paper—a folded newspaper, an envelope, a ticket. The silica in the paper acts like sandpaper.

Many people can't smoke a dozen cigarettes without getting a sore throat. Inveterate cigarette smokers are frequently troubled with a perpetual cold in the head. It is not the smoke that is to blame, but the dust. Now, if you use a cigarette tube—amber, cherry or cardboard—a tiny bit of cotton wool in the bottom of it will catch every particle of dust. Try this, and you'll have no more sore throats. But you may not enjoy the smoke.—Exchange.

THE BRIDE ELECT

LEARNS HOW TO COOK AND DAIN-TILY SERVE VEGETABLES.

The Kindly Fruits of the Earth Attractively Prepared—Many Little Knacks and Unwritten Laws—An Air of Distinction.

When the bride to be turned her attention to making vegetables ready for the table, she found a new field open to her. The unkindly fashion in which the kindly fruits of the earth are prepared for eating had never particularly impressed her until she saw how different they were when properly treated. "A little kindness," she murmured, shredding her string beans or chopping

It must be owned that the curl paper side of the business especially appealed to Ruth. She liked to find out pretty ways of serving commonplace vegetables so that they might appear almost like new products of the soil. She did not despise the simpler processes, of course. She took a pride in beating enough milk and butter and energy into white potatoes to make them look like whipped cream and in cooking rice—a cupful well washed—in two or three quarts of salted boiling water until the grains were soft, yet firm, and then drying it in a colander so that each kernel stood apart from every other.

Ruth found that vegetables were too often spoiled by a lack of proper draining and by being sent to the table lukewarm. When she had poured every drop of water from her peas, string beans, lima beans or squash, dressed them with butter, salt and pepper and kept them very hot until they were served, they were bound to be good.

Many little knacks Ruth found out when she tried some of her book learned ideas in the cookery of vegetables. She discovered that she could boil cauliflower and cabbage without making the house unbearable for the rest of the day if she put the vegetable over the fire in cold water to which she had added a pinch of baking soda and left the saucepan uncovered all the time it was on the stove. As a rule about 20 minutes' cookery was required after the water reached the boil—that is, if the vegetables were young.

New potatoes she learned to put on to boil in hot water and old potatoes in cold. To keep the color of green vegetables she added to them a pinch of baking soda, and besides doing this to her spinach she decided that it cooked to greater advantage in a double boiler than directly over the fire. String beans were better when she split them lengthwise, besides stringing them and cutting them into inch long pieces.

All this it was necessary to learn, and Ruth enjoyed it, as she did all household experiences. But after all her chief pleasure in vegetable cookery lay in making them into pretty dishes.

Such a dish was made by hollowing out a cabbage into a shell, the heart being used for coldslaw or some other dish, and heaping the inside with chicken croquettes or veal olives or balls of corned beef hash or anything else of the sort. This cabbage shell could be used more than once if the cabbage had been carefully selected and if it were kept in a cool place between its periods of service. The withered edges of the leaves could be clipped judiciously just before the dish went to the table, so that it would at least look fresh, and as it was not to be eaten there was no harm done if it had a little passed its first youth.

In addition to this sort of thing Ruth practiced various dainty ways of sending vegetables to table, which by increasing their attractiveness to the eye intensified it to the palate. Her boiled, baked or fried potatoes were always served on a small napkin, and for the last named or for other dry, fried things, like eggplants, croquettes and fritters, she had small squares made of damask that would better stand the soaking and washing requisite to the removing of grease than the ordinary fringed dolly.

served either in tiny china nappies or in paper cases. When this was done, the vegetable had an air of distinction that often made it worthy to appear alone, as an entree, and take the place of the soup or the salad, or when an extra course was desired for company the dish came in as a vegetable entree between the soup and the meat, says The New Idea Woman's Magazine in concluding this little tale, a bride elect's experience in acquiring housewifely knowledge.

Health and Beauty

For generations women have been taught that "beauty is only skin deep," but, like many proverbs, that will not stand. Beauty is blood deep. There can be no beauty without health. Our grandmothers lived closer to nature than we do, and they were so sheltered by their home life that health and beauty were theirs naturally. Skin foods, freckle lotions and face bleaches were unknown commodities. But there has been a great change in the life of women since then. With broader education and larger opportunities, she has developed mentally at the expense of her health. From the quiet duties of home she has gone forth until now we find her in many avocations of life, which prove too great a tax on her vitality. How sad it is to see the cheek robbed of its color and the eyes of its fire. These symptoms nearly always show derangements in the delicate feminine organism. They don't call for bleaches or paints or powders, but for a remedy that will make the afflicted organs strong and well. Wine of Cardui is just such a remedy. Women broken in health and spirit have been made healthy and happy by this Wine. No one should give up to the "blues" until this reliable remedy has been tried. It has proven a blessing to other women and will not disappoint you. It brings that buoyancy of spirit, elasticity of step and lightness of heart which is the corner stone of beauty. A healthy woman is always beautiful.

Westville, February 4, 1899.
I feel that I must say a few words in praise of the Ladies' greatest friend, Wine of Cardui. It is the most wonderful remedy that I ever tried. I have been a sufferer for years, at times being confined to my bed two or three days each month. A friend recommended Wine of Cardui, and since I have taken it I have been greatly relieved. I intend to continue to take it, for I know it is as recommended. I will use every effort to get others to use it.

AN EXCITING BLAZE

FLAMES LICKED UP COXEY'S RESTAURANT IN SHORT ORDER.

Building Was Owned By John Schrader—Bridge Was Ablaze For a Time.

The need of having some kind of fire protection at Chester was shown last night when the building on First street owned by John Schrader was entirely consumed by flames.

The building was occupied by J. S. Coxe, who runs a restaurant. At about 10 o'clock a gasoline stove exploded. In a very few minutes the building was in flames and a clerk whose name could not be learned barely had time to get his coat and make his escape. As there was a brisk wind blowing the flame ignited two telephone poles and the First street bridge. The residents turned out in numbers and every available washtub and bucket was pressed into service and the fire on the bridge extinguished before much damage was done.

The foundation and a chimney are all that is left of the building. A large crowd from East Liverpool and Chester soon congregated and when a large quantity of bottled goods began to explode they thought it was again the Fourth. Coxe's loss will amount to about $1,600 and Schrader's will be $1,800, both partially covered by insurance.

A STACK OF HAY

The Cause of a Novel Lawsuit Before Squire Johnston at Chester.

A stack of hay is the cause of a law suit which is being tried in Justice Johnson's court today. Last February William and Arch Severs purchased the hay from C. O. Niswonger and they failed to take it away. They refused to pay the $20, the amount of the hay but told Niswonger to sell it. This he refused to do, hence the suit.

The case is being heard by a jury and at the time of going to press no decision had been reached. E. A. Hart of New Cumberland is attorney for the plaintiff and E. D. Marshall for the for the defendants.

A REMARKABLE DUEL

BOTH OF THE PARTICIPANTS WERE QUICK ON THE TRIGGER.

An Enforced Parade Preceded the Gun Play, Which Was on the Pull and Shoot Order—Why Bratton Was Glad He Lost His Right Hand.

"The most affectionate looking two handed gun play that I ever saw," said a Colorado gentleman in one of the house committee rooms, "was the one that happened at La Junta, in my state, between 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, as pizenish a pair of real bad men of the type that has now passed away as ever fanned a .45 or twisted a Bowie.

"Gannon was the proprietor of the Gilt Edge honkatunk in La Junta, and it was at this place that he had some trouble with Bratton. The argument ended by Bratton backing out of the door with his hands up, Gannon having the drop. Gannon didn't shoot then because his gun wasn't loaded. He had been cleaning it and had forgotten to replace the cartridges. He'd have killed Bratton otherwise as a matter of course.

"That same night Bratton sent word to Gannon that he meditated shooting him up some on the following day. Gannon wasn't a man to take to the cliffs or the cactus, having plenty of notches on his gun barrel himself, and he walked around the next afternoon like a light battery of artillery. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton bulged him, however, by turning a corner suddenly as Gannon paraded down the main street, and then it was Gannon's hands that went up for a change. Bratton had two guns covering him, and Gannon knew his gait.

"This," said Bratton, "is where I get an even break for my coin. Now, you like me so much, Gannon, that I want you to sort of show your appreciation of me by walkin' around town linked arms with me for awhile."

"It was up to Gannon to comply with this peculiar request. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton jabbed his guns back into his belt, and then he clutched Gannon's left arm and passed it through his right. The disadvantage of this arrangement accrued to Bratton. It left Gannon's gun arm free, while in case of argument Bratton would have to use his left gun. But 'Big Divide Jim' wasn't selfish.

"The population of La Junta was amazed to see 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, who had always been more or less sore on each other and who had had a quarrel that meant the death of one or both of them on the night before, walking arm in arm up and down the main street of the town. It looked like a peripatetic love feast between the two of 'em. But they were watching each other like cats. At the end of the street Bratton, still with his right arm linked to Gannon's left, stopped suddenly and said:

"George, I ain't much on the blow about any gun suddenness that I may possess, but I sure want to give you a chance. You thrung it into me last night in a way that's eat up so much of the atmosphere around here that there's not enough air left in this neighborhood for both of us to breathe at one and the same time. I'm a-goin to count three, and when I say 'three' it's a breakaway and a finish. You've got a loose right arm, but I ain't no hog. One—two—three!"

"The event proved 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton the quicker man and the better marksman. He got Gannon through the heart, whereas Gannon's ball lodged in Bratton's right wrist. Bratton had to suffer his right hand to be cut off that same night.

"The last time I saw him was in Creede. He was sitting on the edge of a bunk in his own cabin, close to a claim he was working. I hadn't seen him since he'd lost his hand.

"Jim," said I, "it's too bad you should have lost that right hand. If the fellow that plugged you had only got the left hand, why?"

"Oh, I don't know," said Bratton philosophically. "If I'd ha' lost my left, I wouldn't have been able to play the fiddle any more."

"He reached under his bunk and brought forth an old violin. Then he rigged up an attachment he had for holding the bow in his right stump, and he played the instrument real sweetly for me for half an hour or so.

"I couldn't have done no fingerin' if I'd ha' lost my left hook, you know," he said simply when he put the old fiddle away.—Washington Post.

The Result of His Study.

"I suppose you have made a study of human nature," remarked the friend.

"I attribute my success in life to that fact," answered Senator Sorghum.

"Were you ever tempted to give the world the benefit of your observations, to put them into book form as a human comedy or something of that sort?"

"My dear sir, it wouldn't take a book to do it. I have figured on the problem of human nature until I know the answer. I should just say, 'Human nature loves money,' and let it go at that.—Exchange.

Buttons.

Towne—For goodness' sake, what are you so cranky about?

Browne—Oh, I asked my wife to sew a button on my coat.

Towne—And wouldn't she do it?

Browne—Yes, but I've just discovered that the button she sewed on my coat she cut from my vest.—Exchange.

What Was Needed.

Henry Ward Beecher used to tell a story about a priest in the olden time who was called to bless the field of a poor farmer prior to the planting. He came and after surveying the soil remarked to the agriculturist, "Praying won't do here; what you want is manure."

DOG NUISANCE PROBLEM

Heddleston occupied the chair. Tranquility characterized the session, and what little business came up before the solons was properly and quickly attended to. At the last meeting of council Clerk Hanley was absent, McLane having acted in his place. He had neglected to record the minutes of the meeting in the clerk's book, and some dissatisfaction was expressed regarding the oversight.

The only ordinance brought up was one providing for the issuing of bonds for the improvement of Pennsylvania avenue and Kossuth street and another for the improvement of West Market.

They were placed on first reading. Clerk Hanley read the reports for the month ending July 8 from the fire and police departments. Chief Morley's report showed that the department had answered four fire calls; 25 patrol calls and five ambulance calls, making a total of 34. Thirty-five prisoners were conveyed to the city prison. Mayor Davidson's report recorded the sum of $129.40, which had been collected for fines and licenses. Marshal Thompson's report showed that 63 arrests had been made.

A resolution was passed providing for the removal of bodies from the lots in the old cemetery, recently leased to the Hospital association. The resolution stipulates that all persons having relatives or friends in the cemetery remove the bodies within ten days after notice is given.

The pay ordinance was next taken up, but before it was passed the following bills left over by the claims committee were included: Ceramic City Light Co., $4.50; A. Trotter & Son, $14.75; Trump Printing Co., $27; A. C. Chafin, $22.50; James Rinehart, $300 on account on the improvement of Pleasant street; Thomas McLaughlin, $3,000 on account on the improvement on Pennsylvania avenue.

Clerk Hanley read two propositions, one from C. W. Heverly and the other from George Phillips regarding the building of the proposed stone wall along Calcutta road. Phillips' price was $3.30 per perch and Heverly wanted $3.40. The contract was not awarded.

A communication was received from N. U. Walker at Jethro, stating that he was willing to sell a strip of land near the viaduct which the city has been negotiating for. The matter was referred to the solicitor.

Solicitor Gaston reported that he had collected from the East Liverpool Railway company the sum of money, asked of the city for the paving done in the Diamond, which had been torn up by the street railway people.

Mayor Davidson stated that he had been complained to by many citizens who asked for an explanation as to the failure of the street lights to be kept burning on Saturday nights. Heddleston explained that new machinery had been received at the power house and that while the lights were turned off the men at work there were engaged in placing the machinery in position. After next Saturday the lights will burn regularly.

On motion of Thomas the session adjourned.

CARDLAND.

The Games That Were Played in the Eighteenth Century.

After the advent of the house of Hanover the favorite games at court were "quadrille," an improvement of "ombre," and "commerce." The gains and losses of the kings and queens were, as a rule, restricted to 100 guineas, but on Twelfth Night it was customary for thousands to change hands. On one occasion Lady Cowper, a lady in waiting, refused for the sake of her children to take part in the game, as none sat down to the table with less than £200.

About the year 1740 a rage for "whisk," or whist, set in, but at first it was considered too wise a game for ladies to join in. Hume, the historian, never went to bed without his whist, and even the great Johnson regretted that he had not learned to play cards. In 1742 "Horry" Walpole finds it absolutely necessary to learn "whisk," "having waited in vain for its being left off." We find him in another letter threatening to build an altar to "Fan" to commemorate the escape of his charming Duchess of Grafton, who, it appears, had been playing cards in Rome when she ought to have been at a cardinal's reception, where the floor fell in and all the monsignors were precipitated into the cellar!

Cards were so very much in evidence in his time that even invitations were frequently issued and notes written upon the backs of playing cards, which on that account were usually plain, without any design. The chevalier's famous order to retreat at Culloden was written on the back of the nine of hearts.

A fresh attempt was made in 1739 to remedy the state of gambling in England by passing an act which provided that "any person keeping a house or other place to game in forfeits £200, half to the prosecutor and half to the poor of the parish," whereupon two ladies of title, Mordington and Cassels, who keep open houses for gambling, claimed their privilege of peerage in order to intimidate the peace officers from doing their duty and suppressing the public gaming houses by them.—Longman's Magazine.

AN EXCITING BLAZE

FLAMES LICKED UP COXEY'S RESTAURANT IN SHORT ORDER.

Building Was Owned By John Schrader—Bridge Was Ablaze For a Time.

The need of having some kind of fire protection at Chester was shown last night when the building on First street owned by John Schrader was entirely consumed by flames.

The building was occupied by J. S. Coxe, who runs a restaurant. At about 10 o'clock a gasoline stove exploded. In a very few minutes the building was in flames and a clerk whose name could not be learned barely had time to get his coat and make his escape. As there was a brisk wind blowing the flame ignited two telephone poles and the first street bridge. The residents turned out in numbers and every available washtub and bucket was pressed into service and the fire on the bridge extinguished before much damage was done.

The foundation and a chimney are all that is left of the building. A large crowd from East Liverpool and Chester soon congregated and when a large quantity of bottled goods began to explode they thought it was again the Fourth. Coxe's loss will amount to about $1,600 and Schrader's will be $1,800, both partially covered by insurance.

A STACK OF HAY

The Cause of a Novel Lawsuit Before Squire Johnston at Chester.

A stack of hay is the cause of a lawsuit which is being tried in Justice Johnson's court today. Last February William and Arch Severs purchased the hay from C. O. Niswonger and they failed to take it away. They refused to pay the $20, the amount of the hay but told Niswonger to sell it. This he refused to do, hence the suit.

The case is being heard by a jury and at the time of going to press no decision had been reached. E. A. Hart of New Cumberland is attorney for the plaintiff and E. D. Marshall for the defendants.

Eight Hundred Picknickers.

A train consisting of 15 coaches and carrying about 800 people of the Mt. Washington (Pittsburg) Presbyterian churches arrived in Chester this morning at 10 o'clock. The people enjoyed themselves during the day and will leave at 7 o'clock for their homes.

Night Trip to Hookstown.

A number of people from East Liverpool and Chester held a hay party at Hookstown last night. They arrived at Hookstown at 10 o'clock and went to the Southland hotel, where a fine lunch was served. They started for home at 1 o'clock and arrived at an early hour this morning.

There can be only "one greatest show" and that one can only be the great Forepaugh & Sells' circus, which exhibits here Friday, July 19. It has a score of features which other shows could not afford to carry. It pays higher salaries and employs about twice as many entertainers as any other show.

A REMARKABLE DUEL

An Enforced Parade Preceded the Gun Play, Which Was on the Pull and Shoot Order—Why Bratton Was Glad He Lost His Right Hand.

"The most affectionate looking two handed gun play that I ever saw," said a Colorado gentleman in one of the house committee rooms, "was the one that happened at La Junta, in my state, between 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, as pizenish a pair of real bad men of the type that has now passed away as ever fanned a .45 or twisted a Bowie.

"Gannon was the proprietor of the Gilt Edge honkatunk in La Junta, and it was at this place that he had some trouble with Bratton. The argument ended by Bratton backing out of the door with his hands up, Gannon having the drop. Gannon didn't shoot then because his gun wasn't loaded. He had been cleaning it and had forgotten to replace the cartridges. He'd have killed Bratton otherwise as a matter of course.

"That same night Bratton sent word to Gannon that he meditated shooting him up some on the following day. Gannon wasn't a man to take to the cliffs or the cactus, having plenty of notches on his gun barrel himself, and he walked around the next afternoon like a light battery of artillery. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton bulged him, however, by turning a corner suddenly as Gannon paraded down the main street, and then it was Gannon's hands that went up for a change. Bratton had two guns covering him, and Gannon knew his gait.

"This," said Bratton, "is where I get an even break for my coin. Now, you like me so much, Gannon, that I want you to sort of show your appreciation of me by walkin' around town linked arms with me for awhile."

"It was up to Gannon to comply with this peculiar request. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton jabbed his guns back into his belt, and then he clutched Gannon's left arm and passed it through his right. The disadvantage of this arrangement accrued to Bratton. It left Gannon's gun arm free, while in case of argument Bratton would have to use his left gun. But 'Big Divide Jim' wasn't selfish.

"The population of La Junta was amazed to see 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, who had always been more or less sore on each other and who had had a quarrel that meant the death of one or both of them on the night before, walking arm in arm up and down the main street of the town. It looked like a peripatetic love feast between the two of 'em. But they were watching each other like cats. At the end of the street Bratton, still with his right arm linked to Gannon's left, stopped suddenly and said:

"George, I ain't much on the blow about any gun suddenness that I may possess, but I sure want to give you a chance. You thrung it into me last night in a way that's eat up so much of the atmosphere around here that there's not enough air left in this neighborhood for both of us to breathe at one and the same time. I'm a-goin' to count three, and when I say 'three' it's a breakaway and a finish. You've got a loose right arm, but I ain't no hog. One—two—three!"

"The event proved 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton the quicker man and the better marksman. He got Gannon through the heart, whereas Gannon's ball lodged in Bratton's right wrist. Bratton had to suffer his right hand to be cut off that same night.

"The last time I saw him was in Creede. He was sitting on the edge of a bunk in his own cabin, close to a claim he was working. I hadn't seen him since he'd lost his hand.

"Oh, I don't know," said Bratton philosophically. "If I'd ha' lost my left, I wouldn't have been able to play the fiddle any more."

"He reached under his bunk and brought forth an old violin. Then he rigged up an attachment he had for holding the bow in his right stump, and he played the instrument real sweetly for me for half an hour or so.

"I couldn't have done no fingerin' if I'd ha' lost my left hook, you know," he said simply when he put the old fiddle away.—Washington Post.

The Result of His Study.

"I suppose you have made a study of human nature," remarked the friend. "I attribute my success in life to that fact," answered Senator Sorghum. "Were you ever tempted to give the world the benefit of your observations, to put them into book form as a human comedy or something of that sort?"

"My dear sir, it wouldn't take a book to do it. I have figured on the problem of human nature until I know the answer. I should just say, 'Human nature loves money,' and let it go at that.—Exchange.

Buttons.

Towne—For goodness' sake, what are you so cranky about?

Browne—Oh, I asked my wife to sew a button on my coat.

Towne—And wouldn't she do it?

Browne—Yes, but I've just discovered that the button she sewed on my coat she cut from my vest.—Exchange.

What Was Needed.

Henry Ward Beecher used to tell a story about a priest in the olden time who was called to bless the field of a poor farmer prior to the planting. He came and after surveying the soil remarked to the agriculturist, "Praying won't do here; what you want is manure."

Heddlston occupied the chair. Tranquility characterized the session, and what little business came up before the solons was properly and quickly attended to. At the last meeting of council Clerk Hanley was absent, McLane having acted in his place. He had neglected to record the minutes of the meeting in the clerk's book, and some dissatisfaction was expressed regarding the oversight.

The only ordinance brought up was one providing for the issuing of bonds for the improvement of Pennsylvania avenue and Kossuth street and another for the improvement of West Market. They were placed on first reading.

Clerk Hanley read the reports for the month ending July 8 from the fire and police departments. Chief Morley's report showed that the department had answered four fire calls; 25 patrol calls and five ambulance calls, making a total of 34. Thirty-five prisoners were conveyed to the city prison. Mayor Davidson's report recorded the sum of $129.40, which had been collected for fines and licenses. Marshal Thompson's report showed that 63 arrests had been made.

A resolution was passed providing for the removal of bodies from the lots in the old cemetery, recently leased to the Hospital association. The resolution stipulates that all persons having relatives or friends in the cemetery remove the bodies within ten days after notice is given.

The pay ordinance was next taken up, but before it was passed the following bills left over by the claims committee were included: Ceramic City Light Co., $4.50; A. Trotter & Son, $14.75; Trump Printing Co., $27; A. C. Chaffin, $22.50; James Rinehart, $300 on account on the improvement of Pleasant street; Thomas McLaughlin, $3,000 on account on the improvement on Pennsylvania avenue.

Clerk Hanley read two propositions, one from C. W. Heverly and the other from George Phillips regarding the building of the proposed stone wall along Calcutta road. Phillips' price was $2.20 per perch and Heverly wanted $3.40. The contract was not awarded.

A communication was received from N. U. Walker at Jethro, stating that he was willing to sell a strip of land near the viaduct which the city has been negotiating for. The matter was referred to the solicitor.

Solicitor Gaston reported that he had collected from the East Liverpool Railway company the sum of money, asked of the city for the paving done in the Diamond, which had been torn up by the street railway people.

Mayor Davidson stated that he had been complained to by many citizens who asked for an explanation as to the failure of the street lights to be kept burning on Saturday nights. Heddlston explained that new machinery had been received at the power house and that while the lights were turned off the men at work there were engaged in placing the machinery in position. After next Saturday the lights will burn regularly.

On motion of Thomas the session adjourned.

CARDLAND.

The Games That Were Played in the Eighteenth Century.

After the advent of the house of Hanover the favorite games at court were "quadrille," an improvement of "ombre," and "commerce." The gains and losses of the kings and queens were, as a rule, restricted to 100 guineas, but on Twelfth Night it was customary for thousands to change hands. On one occasion Lady Cowper, a lady in waiting, refused for the sake of her children to take part in the game, as none sat down to the table with less than £200.

About the year 1740 a rage for "whisk," or whist, set in, but at first it was considered too wise a game for ladies to join in. Hume, the historian, never went to bed without his whist, and even the great Johnson regretted that he had not learned to play cards. In 1742 "Horry" Walpole finds it absolutely necessary to learn "whisk," "having waited in vain for its being left off." We find him in another letter threatening to build an altar to "Pam" to commemorate the escape of his charming Duchess of Grafton, who, it appears, had been playing cards in Rome when she ought to have been at a cardinal's reception, where the floor fell in and all the monsignores were precipitated into the cellar!

Cards were so very much in evidence in his time that even invitations were frequently issued and notes written up on the backs of playing cards, which on that account were usually plain, without any design. The chevalier's famous order to retreat at Culloden was written on the back of the nine of hearts.

A fresh attempt was made in 1739 to remedy the state of gambling in England by passing an act which provided that "any person keeping a house or other place to game in forfeits £200, half to the prosecutor and half to the poor of the parish," whereupon two ladies of title, Mordington and Cassels, who keep open houses for gambling, claimed their privilege of peerage in order to intimidate the peace officers from doing their duty and suppressing the public gaming houses by them.—Longman's Magazine.

Busy Days In Kansas

“W”HAT’S the matter with Kansas? Nothing, absolutely nothing, except that the Sunflower State is probably just about this time the busiest spot of its size on the globe. Kansas is getting in her wheat crop. The world has never seen another such wheat crop, for, according to many estimates, 100,000,000 bushels will be found to be the size of it when the returns are all in. Kansas had a very fair crop of wheat last year, one of more than 82,000,000 bushels. That will be left far behind when this year’s figures are known. Kansas’ wheat crop of 1901 is large enough if sold at the average rate of 60 cents a bushel to give to almost every man, woman and child in the United States a $1 bill. If the crop were placed in box cars on a single track, it would reach from Wichita to Chicago and back again, with a few miles to spare. If the crop were evenly divided among all the farmers of the state, it would give to each man $1,000. The yield of wheat in the Sunflower State during the past three years has brought enough money into the state to cover its entire area with $2 bills. And Kansas has not yet stopped. She intends to surpass in future years even the truly enormous crop of this year. It is impossible to speak of the great mass of grain without resorting to convincing figures. During harvest time, which extends from the latter part of May until far into July, the income of the collective Kansas farmer is $1,000,000 a day. Every minute he is growing richer by a thousand good American and foreign dollars. In many parts a 500 acre field yields from $300 to $500 a day. In some cases the farmer gets more from one acre of ground at a single cutting

BINDERS AT WORK.

When the land is worth. Kansas is still “bleeding Kansas,” but the flow is money in an unbroken stream. The money obtained from the sale of the wheat is not, of course, all profit. The following are the average expenses of wheat raising in Kansas per acre: Plowing and harrowing, $1; seeding and drilling, $1.50; cutting, $1.25; thrashing, $1.75; hauling, $1.50. The total of the expenses is $7. Out in western Kansas the yield will average this year about 16 bushels an acre, while in southern and central Kansas it will reach 25. To harvest, handle, store and ship

How the Sunflower State Is Harvesting Its $60,000,000 Wheat Crop

the great crop Kansas has need of many men. Just how many is not exactly known, but at least 15,000 workers have already entered the state. For some time every train that has entered Kansas has been loaded to its full capacity with men bound for the wheatfields. Most of them are willing to work, but some are unable to stand the long exposure to the sun while doing hard labor. Last year 10,000 green men were imported into Kansas to work at the crop, and fully one-third of them succumbed to sunstroke. Of course when there is a dearth of labor the farmer cannot be particular in his choice of men, but must take the best that are offered. Oftentimes the hiring of inexperienced hands leads to serious loss, since the stopping of a binder in a field of wheat when it is dead ripe may mean the loss of hundreds of dollars a day.

One farmer in Barton county carried out last year a plan by which outside help was done away with. He has, however, two grown up sons. In September of the year before they commenced sowing wheat. This was kept up, planting 100 acres every month until January. In May the first crop was ready to harvest, and in September he was just rounding out his harvest and starting in to plant again. Thus he and his sons handled the entire crop and were employed the year around. He saved the expense of 20 hands, and his wheat crop netted him, it is said, $7,000 clear.

Those of the harvest hands who are willing and industrious and able to stand the strain of toiling under the hot sun take home with them besides sound and healthy bodies a goodly number of dollars each. The scale of wages paid is about as follows, with possible local variations: Single men, with headers, $1.50 per day; single men, shocking after self binders, $1.75; single men, stacking, $2 to $2.50, according to work. These prices include board and lodging. Men with teams earn from $3 to $3.50 a day, with board for men and teams. The harvest work lasts from 20 to 25 days. Thrashing begins immediately after harvest and continues from 90 to 100 days. About the same number of men are required to assist in thrashing as in harvesting, and about the same scale of wages is paid.

Among the men are frequently seen city chaps, who take this method of spending a short time on the farm for the fun of the thing. Another interesting feature is the presence of women, side by side with men, doing their full share of the work. The Kansas girl has shown before this that she is fully able, when outside help fails, to come to the rescue of the crop.

The influx of settlers to the Kansas wheat belt has raised the price of land wonderfully. Land which in 1892 sold for $500 a quarter section cannot now be had for $3,000. Around Wichita, which is the center of the Kansas wheat belt, a fairly well improved farm can scarcely be had for less than $4,000 or $5,000. It is stated that within a radius of 100 miles from Wichita 60 per cent of the Kansas wheat crop is harvested, while in 17 counties one-half of the whole state crop is grown. In some of the northern counties no wheat is to be found.

The Kansas town which ships most wheat is Cladlin, in Barton county, the very center of the state. From there 2,000 cars of the cereal were shipped in 1900. Cladlin is in the “short grass country,” which formerly raised little but sunflowers. Now it grows lots of wheat and other things besides a great crop of sturdy, happy, prosperous Kansans.

Man’s Torture.

Dr. Arbutnot suffered in later life from an agonizing malady, yet when some lady was complaining of the sufferings of women he humorously replied, “Yes, the ladies suffer greatly in some particulars, but there is not one of you who undergoes the torture of being staved three times a week.”

A BANQUET TO CLARK,

In Honor of Twentieth Anniversary of the Christian Endeavor.

GIVEN SILVER LOVING CUP.

Annual Junior Rally a Beautiful Feature of the Great Convention at Cincinnati—German Society Adjourned—Bocker Washington Spoke.

Cincinnati, July 10.—The fourth day of the conference of the Christian Endeavor society was a night one, so far as the program was concerned, but the Endeavorers, in their determination to miss nothing, were out en masse in attendance at the two big meetings. At the last moment the three big music hall rallies were postponed into two meetings, which were held in Auditorium Endeavor and Winston. This same arrangement, in all probability, will hold good during today, and the third meeting, which is scheduled for Auditorium Ohio, will be dispensed with. Auditorium Endeavor, and Winston are amply sufficient to accommodate the Endeavorers. Five of the prominent speakers are absent, owing to illness. These are Rev. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. George D. Purves and Rev. Charles C. Hall, of New York; Rev. John Henry Barrows, of Oberlin, O., and Rev. R. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago.

Quiet Hour Meetings Held.

After the usual two quiet hour meetings Tuesday morning, which open every day’s program, the big auditoriums were thrown open for a discussion of “The Twentieth Century Church.” Rev. Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, presided at the Auditorium Endeavor, assisted by C. F. Jacobs as musical director. Rev. Mr. Stranahan, of Sabino, led the devotional services, and Mr. Marian Lawrence, of Toledo, delivered an address on “The Power of the Sunday School.” Rev. Howard W. Pope, of New Haven, Conn., spoke at length on “The Power of Personal Work.” Rev. A. J. Lyman, of Brooklyn, spoke on “The Power of the Bible.” Dr. Amos B. Wells, of Boston, expatiated on “The Power of Christian Endeavor.” Mr. William Phillips Hall, of New York, followed with a paper on “The Power of Evangelism.” The chief address, however, was that of Principal Booker T. Washington, of the colored normal school at Tuskegee, Ala. He took as his subject “The Power of a Noble Life.”

In Auditorium Williston, where Rev. Mr. Philpott, of Indianapolis, presided, a number of addresses, limited to five minutes, were made by the following preachers: J. H. Prugh, Pittsburgh; J. S. Henderson, Hensall, Ont.; I. A. Barnes, Morgantown, W. Va.; Henry W. Sherwood, Kingston, N. Y.; Charles M. Sheldon, of Topeka. They spoke on “Sunday Evening Service.” Rev. Johnson Myers, of Chicago, told of “The Church of the Twentieth Century.” Rev. Wayland Hoyt, of Philadelphia, followed in a talk on “Christian Conventions,” which he said are of great use to the church.

Miss Margaret Koch, of Waterville, Me., conducted a personal equipment conference at the Ninth Street Baptist church, taking as her topic “The Relation of Expression to Power in Christian Endeavor Work.”

The members of the board of trustees and other officers of the United society, gave a banquet to President Clark, at the Grand hotel, at noon. He was presented with a beautiful silver loving cup in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor. In the afternoon Dr. Clark attended the congregational rally at the Walnut Hills Congregational church, where the Hon. Samuel E. Capen, of Boston, presented him with an immense memorial, signed by over 200 of the leading educators, editors, clergy and business men in the United States, as an expression of thankfulness and appreciation for the work Dr. Clark has done in organizing and guiding the Christian Endeavor.

Annual Junior Rally Held.

The annual Junior rally was held in Auditorium Endeavor in the afternoon. Treasurer William Shaw, of Boston, presided, and Prof. Palmer Hartstough, of Cincinnati, led the chorus of 1,500 children. Secretary John Willis Baer addressed the meeting on “Six P” (eas) in a pod, which he said, “when applied to ethics, stand for politeness, patriotism, punctuality, practicability, perseverance and prayerfulness. Then followed numerous airs by the Junior Endeavorers of the local churches and the children of several orphan asylums.

The older Endeavorers spent the afternoon in their respective denominational conferences, of which there were 26, and which were held in the various churches in the city.

Last evening was devoted to receptions and rallies at the various state headquarters.

OCCURS TOMORROW.

Pittsburg, July 10.—One question only will come before the conference of the national executive committee of the Amalgamated association with the officials of the American Tinplate company, the American Sheet Steel company and the American Steel Hoop company when they convene tomorrow morning at the Hotel Lincoln—the signing of the scale for all mills of the respective companies. “We do not ask the gentlemen to meet us as the representatives of the United States Steel corporation on Thursday,” said President Shaffer last night. “This meeting will be simply to reach a settlement on our demand that the three companies sign the scale for all mills.”

Busy Days In Kansas

How the Sunflower State Is Harvesting Its $60,000,000 Wheat Crop

WHAT'S the matter with Kansas? Nothing, absolutely nothing, except that the Sunflower State is probably just about this time the busiest spot of its size on the globe. Kansas is getting in her wheat crop. The world has never seen another such wheat crop, for, according to many estimates, 100,000,000 bushels will be found to be the size of it when the returns are all in. Kansas had a very fair crop of wheat last year, one of more than 82,000,000 bushels. That will be left far behind when this year's figures are known.

Kansas' wheat crop of 1901 is large enough if sold at the average rate of 60 cents a bushel to give to almost every man, woman and child in the United States a $1 bill. If the crop were placed in box cars on a single track, it would reach from Wichita to Chicago and back again, with a few miles to spare. If the crop were evenly divided among all the farmers of the state, it would give to each man $1,000. The yield of wheat in the Sunflower State during the past three years has brought enough money into the state to cover its entire area with $2 bills. And Kansas has not yet stopped. She intends to surpass in future years even the truly enormous crop of this year.

It is impossible to speak of the great mass of grain without resorting to convincing figures. During harvest time, which extends from the latter part of May until far into July, the income of the collective Kansas farmer is $1,000-$2,000 a day. Every minute he is growing richer by a thousand good American and foreign dollars. In many parts a 500 acre field yields from $300 to $500 a day. In some cases the farmer gets more from one acre of ground at a single cutting

than the land is worth. Kansas is still "bleeding Kansas," but the flow is money in an unbroken stream.

The money obtained from the sale of the wheat is not, of course, all profit. The following are the average expenses of wheat raising in Kansas per acre: Plowing and harrowing, $1; seed, $1.50; cutting, $1.25; thrashing, $1.75; hauling, $1.50. The total of the expenses is $7. Out in western Kansas the yield will average this year about 16 bushels an acre, while in southern and central Kansas it will reach 25.

To harvest, handle, store and ship

the great crop Kansas has need of many men. Just how many is not exactly known, but at least 15,000 workers have already entered the state. For some time every train that has entered Kansas has been loaded to its full capacity with men bound for the wheatfields. Most of them are willing to work, but some are unable to stand the long exposure to the sun while doing hard labor. Last year 10,000 green men were imported into Kansas to work at the crop, and fully one-third of them succumbed to sunstroke. Of course when there is a dearth of labor the farmer cannot be particular in his choice of men, but must take the best that are offered. Oftentimes the hiring of inexperienced hands leads to serious loss, since the stopping of a binder in a field of wheat when it is dead ripe may mean the loss of hundreds of dollars a day.

One farmer in Barton county carried out last year a plan by which outside help was done away with. He has, however, two grown up sons. In September of the year before they commenced sowing wheat. This was kept up, planting 100 acres every month until January. In May the first crop was ready to harvest, and in September he was just rounding out his harvest and starting in to plant again. Thus he and his sons handled the entire crop and were employed the year around. He saved the expense of 20 hands, and his wheat crop netted him, it is said, $7,000 clear.

Those of the harvest hands who are willing and industrious and able to stand the strain of toiling under the hot sun take home with them besides sound and healthy bodies a goodly number of dollars each. The scale of wages paid is about as follows, with possible local variations: Single men, with headers, $1.50 per day; single men, shocking after self binders, $1.75; single men, stacking, $2 to $2.50, according to work. These prices include board and lodging. Men with teams earn from $3 to $3.50 a day, with board for men and teams. The harvest work lasts from 20 to 25 days. Thrashing begins immediately after harvest and continues from 90 to 100 days. About the same number of men are required to assist in thrashing as in harvesting, and about the same scale of wages is paid.

Among the men are frequently seen city chaps, who take this method of spending a short time on the farm for the fun of the thing. Another interesting feature is the presence of women, side by side with men, doing their full share of the work. The Kansas girl has shown before this that she is fully able, when outside help fails, to come to the rescue of the crop.

The influx of settlers to the Kansas wheat belt has raised the price of land wonderfully. Land which in 1892 sold for $500 a quarter section cannot now be had for $3,000. Around Wichita, which is the center of the Kansas wheat belt, a fairly well improved farm can scarcely be had for less than $4,000 or $5,000. It is stated that within a radius of 100 miles from Wichita 60 per cent of the Kansas wheat crop is harvested, while in 17 counties one-half of the whole state crop is grown. In some of the northern counties no wheat is to be found.

The Kansas town which ships most wheat is Clifton, in Barton county, the very center of the state. From there 2,000 cars of the cereal were shipped in 1900. Clifton is in the "short grass country," which formerly raised little but sunflowers. Now it grows lots of wheat and other things besides a great crop of sturdy, happy, prosperous Kansans.

Man's Torture.

A BANQUET TO CLARK,

In Honor of Twentieth Anniversary of the Christian Endeavor.

Annual Junior Rally a Beautiful Feature of the Great Convention at Cincinnati—German Society Adjourned—Bocker Washington Spoke.

Cincinnati, July 10.—The fourth day of the conference of the Christian Endeavor society was a light one, so far as the program was concerned, but the Endeavorers, in their determination to miss nothing, were out en masse in attendance at the two big meetings. At the last moment the three big Music hall rallies were postponed into two meetings, which were held in Auditorium Endeavor and Winston. This same arrangement, in an probability, will hold good during today, and the third meeting, which is scheduled for Auditorium Ohio, will be dispensed with. Auditorium Endeavor, and Winston are amply sufficient to accommodate the Endeavorers. Five of the prominent speakers are absent, owing to illness. These are Rev. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. George D. Purves and Rev. Charles C. Hall, of New York; Rev. John Henry Barrows, of Oberlin, O., and Rev. R. W. Gansaulus, of Chicago.

Quiet Hour Meetings Held.

After the usual two quiet hour meetings Tuesday morning, which open every day's program, the big auditoriums were thrown open for a discussion of "The Twentieth Century Church." Rev. Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, presided at the Auditorium Endeavor, assisted by C. F. Jacobs as musical director. Rev. Mr. Stranahan, of Sabino, led the devotional services, and Mr. Marian Lawrence, of Toledo, delivered an address on "The Power of the Sunday School." Rev. Howard W. Pope, of New Haven, Conn., spoke at length on "The Power of Personal Work." Rev. A. J. Lyman, of Brooklyn, spoke on "The Power of the Bible." Dr. Amos B. Wells, of Boston, expatiated on "The Power of Christian Endeavor." Mr. William Phillips Hall, of New York, followed with a paper on "The Power of Evangelism." The chief address, however, was that of Principal Booker T. Washington, of the colored normal school at Tuskegee, Ala. He took as his subject "The Power of a Noble Life."

In Auditorium Williston, where Rev. Mr. Philipput, of Indianapolis, presided, a number of addresses, limited to five minutes, were made by the following preachers: J. H. Pruett, Pittsburgh; J. S. Henderson, Hensall, Ont.; L. A. Barnes, Morgantown, W. Va.; Henry W. Sherwood, Kingston, N. Y.; Charles M. Sheldon, of Topeka. They spoke on "Sunday Evening Service." Rev. Johnson Myers, of Chicago, told of "The Church of the Twentieth Century." Rev. Wayland Hoyt, of Philadelphia, followed in a talk on "Christian Conventions," which he said are of great use to the church.

Miss Margaret Koch, of Waterville, Me., conducted a personal equipment conference at the Ninth Street Baptist church, taking as her topic "The Relation of Expression to Power in Christian Endeavor Work."

The members of the board of trustees and other officers of the United society, gave a banquet to President Clark, at the Grand hotel, at noon. He was presented with a beautiful silver loving cup in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor. In the afternoon Dr. Clark attended the congregational rally at the Walnut Hills Congregational church, where the Hon. Samuel E. Capen, of Boston, presented him with an immense memorial, signed by over 200 of the leading educators, editors, clergy and business men in the United States, as an expression of thankfulness and appreciation for the work Dr. Clark has done in organizing and guiding the Christian Endeavor.

Annual Junior Rally Held.

The annual Junior rally was held in Auditorium Endeavor in the afternoon. Treasurer William Shaw, of Boston, presided, and Prof. Palmer Hartsough, of Cincinnati, led the chorus of 1,500 children. Secretary John Willis Baer addressed the meeting on "Six P" (eas) in a pod, which he said, when applied to ethics, stand for politeness, patriotism, punctuality, practicability, perseverance and prayerfulness. Then followed numerous airs by the Junior Endeavorers of the local churches and the children of several orphan asylums.

The older Endeavorers spent the afternoon in their respective denominational conferences, of which there were 26, and which were held in the various churches in the city.

Last evening was devoted to receptions and rallies at the various state headquarters.

Today is the closing day of the convention. The German Endeavorers adjourned their convention last night.

After school hours it had stopped raining, and George trudged home with the remnants of the umbrella under his arm.

"Oh, George, what have you been doing with my umbrella?" said his mother when she saw the state it was in.

"You should have let me had the little one," said he. "This was such a great one it took four of us to pull it through the door."—Leslie's Weekly.

Muzzling the Or.

One morning our washwoman, a lady of color—very dark color—came hastily in and, without any preliminaries, exclaimed: "Sparatualism! What is sparatualism, Miss Cora?"

My sister explained as well as she could and asked why she wished to know.

"Well, you see," she went on excitedly. "Sarah—she's my daughter, you know, and she went last week to live with a lady what says she is a sparatualist, and she says if Sarah takes anything she'll know it. Sarah's going to leave!"—Harper's Magazine.

TURNED DOWN BRIBE.

Did Bryan—Refused to see Delegation of Aguinaldo's Countrymen.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE GOOD.

Also Declined Proposed $100,000 Contribution—Other Terms Offered by Filipinos—Nebraskan Confirms the Story—Visiting Sister at Salem, Ill.

Salem, Ills., July 10.—William J. Bryan, who is in this city visiting his sister, confirmed the statement that Aguinaldo's agents attempted to corrupt him during the last presidential campaign. Mr. Bryan read carefully an article published in reference to the matter. He nodded affirmatively as his eyes passed over the statement that told of the offer of the leader of the Filipinos. Having finished he laid down the paper and said:

"Yes, that statement is substantially correct."

Mr. Bryan then explained how the offer was made and refused. Some time before the emissaries of Aguinaldo called at the Hoffman house in New York last fall, Mr. Bryan received a letter telling him that Aguinaldo's representatives would call and they would make the proposition to Mr. Bryan that Aguinaldo would give $100,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

In addition they would promise for the Filipino leader that he would surrender if the Nebraskan were elected, and that the surrender would be immediate and unconditional. In return they would exact a promise that a reasonable form of government, founded on the principles in force in the United States, be given to the Filipinos.

When the Filipino agents appeared at the Hoffman house, Mr. Bryan refused to see them. They clamored for an audience with Mr. Bryan or some one who represented him.

To all these appeals the Nebraskan was deaf. He not only refused to see them, but he refused to delegate to any one in authority to consider the proposition they might make.

Finally, after trying to the utmost to get to Mr. Bryan and put the proposition before him, they abandoned the plan and took the advice of some of the attaches of the national headquarters staff, which was to leave New York and report to their principals that the Democrats would have nothing to do with the overtures made.

RUSSIA'S OFFER DECLINED.

Gage Replied That Sugar Matter Was in Court.

Washington, July 10.—Another important exchange has occurred between the Russian government and the United States relative to the tariff. The Russian minister of finance, M. de Witte, has proposed that Russia will vacate all of the additional duties levied on American goods since the importation of the sugar differential. To this Secretary Gage has replied that the offer of the Russian government cannot be accepted, as the question of the sugar differential is now in the hands of the court, thus precluding action by the executive branch. These exchanges, although made nominally by the minister of finance and Secretary Gage, have gone through the medium of the Russian foreign office and the state department.

The proposition of the Russian minister of finance was the direct result of Secretary Gage's note of about two weeks ago.

MONEY INTERESTS HELPED.

Their Support Worked a Transformation in Speculative Sentiment Tuesday.

New York, July 10.—Support for the market from the large banking interests and syndicates which seemed Monday to have abandoned it to the effects of forced liquidation worked a prompt transformation in speculative sentiment Tuesday. The opening dealings disclosed that there was still urgent liquidation to be effected and some heavy blocks were thrown upon the market at sharp concessions from Monday night's closing prices, but brokers with supporting orders were present at the same time and were bidding above the prices at which others were letting the stocks go. The consequence was some wide openings in the prices of the granger, Pacific and Southwestern stocks on sales of 1,000 to 3,500 shares of each. The average level of prices was carried a point or more below Monday night, and there were exceptional losses in Louisville of 3%, in Baltimore and Ohio of 3½ and in Southern Pacific of 1%. United States Steel received determined support from the outset, and although the first offerings were of 10,000 shares the price was held at Monday night's level. During the rest of the day the market showed steady recuperation and at times developed a tone of positive buoyancy. The stocks which suffered most acutely in Monday's liquidation were most conspicuous in Tuesday's rally, notably St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Atchafalpa. The movement in these stocks was eclipsed by that of Louisville, in which the dealings were on a very large scale. The opening loss in this stock and the subsequent movement gave color to the supposition that it was raised for the purpose of accumulating stock. In the late dealings it spurted to 11½, an extreme rise of 7½. It closed with a net gain of 2½. The recovery in the other leaders from the low point ranged from 3 to 5. Some special strength was shown by Illinois Central on the declaration of the dividend and the decision to issue new stock, and by St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred on the placing of the stock on a 4 per cent dividend basis. There was no apparent cause for the recovery in the general list, aside from the confidence inspired by the evidence that powerful support was in the market and that the ominous and urgent liquidation of Monday was thereby checked. The disquiet which was caused Monday by the mystery surrounding last week's large loss in the cash reserves of the banks was dispelled by the explanation that cash had been shipped to Buffalo to provide against a possible run on the banks there. The open-handed freedom with which loans were made by banks under Morgan control quieted fears of credit contraction and counteracted the effect of the recent policy of the banks in discriminating against collateral.

U. S. new 4s declined ¼ per cent and the old 4s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

TURNED DOWN BRIBE.

Did Bryan—Refused to see Delegation of Aguinaldo's Countrymen.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE GOOD.

Also Declined Proposed $100,000 Contribution—Other Terms Offered by Filipinos—Nebraskan Confirms the Story—Visiting Sister at Salem, Ill.

Salem, Ill., July 10.—William J. Bryan, who is in this city visiting his sister, confirmed the statement that Aguinaldo's agents attempted to corrupt him during the last presidential campaign. Mr. Bryan read carefully an article published in reference to the matter. He nodded affirmatively as his eyes passed over the statement that told of the offer of the leader of the Filipinos. Having finished he laid down the paper and said:

"Yes, that statement is substantially correct."

Mr. Bryan then explained how the offer was made and refused. Some time before the emissaries of Aguinaldo called at the Hoffman house in New York last fall, Mr. Bryan received a letter telling him that Aguinaldo's representatives would call and they would make the proposition to Mr. Bryan that Aguinaldo would give $100,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

In addition they would promise for the Filipino leader that he would surrender if the Nebraskan were elected, and that the surrender would be immediate and unconditional. In return they would exact a promise that a reasonable form of government, founded on the principles in force in the United States, be given to the Filipinos.

When the Filipino agents appeared at the Hoffman house, Mr. Bryan refused to see them. They clamored for an audience with Mr. Bryan or some one who represented him.

To all these appeals the Nebraskan was deaf. He not only refused to see them, but he refused to delegate to any one in authority to consider the proposition they might make.

Finally, after trying to the utmost to get to Mr. Bryan and put the proposition before him, they abandoned the plan and took the advice of some of the attaches of the national headquarters staff, which was to leave New York and report to their principals that the Democrats would have nothing to do with the overtures made.

RUSSIA'S OFFER DECLINED.

Gage Replied That Sugar Matter Was In Court.

Washington, July 10.—Another important exchange has occurred between the Russian government and the United States relative to the tariff. The Russian minister of finance, M. de Witte, has proposed that Russia will vacate all of the additional duties levied on American goods since the importation of the sugar differential is now in the hands of the court, thus precluding action by the executive branch. These exchanges, although made nominally by the minister of finance and Secretary Gage, have gone through the medium of the Russian foreign office and the state department.

The proposition of the Russian minister of finance was the direct result of Secretary Gage's note of about two weeks ago.

MONEY INTERESTS HELPED.

Their Support Worked a Transformation in Speculative Sentiment Tuesday.

New York, July 10.—Support for the market from the large banking interests and syndicates which seemed Monday to have abandoned it to the effects of forced liquidation worked a prompt transformation in speculative sentiment Tuesday. The opening dealings disclosed that there was still urgent liquidation to be effected and some heavy blocks were thrown upon the market at sharp concessions from Monday night's closing prices, but brokers with supporting orders were present at the same time and were bidding above the prices at which others were letting the stocks go. The consequence was some wide openings in the prices of the granger, Pacific and Southwestern stocks on sales of 1,000 to 3,500 shares of each. The average level of prices was carried a point or more below Monday night, and there were exceptional losses in Louisville of 3 1/2, in Baltimore and Ohio of 3 1/4 and in Southern Pacific of 1 1/2. United States Steel received determined support from the outset, and although the first offerings were of 10,000 shares the price was held at Monday night's level. During the rest of the day the market showed steady recuperation and at times developed a tone of positive buoyancy. The stocks which suffered most acutely in Monday's liquidation were most conspicuous in Tuesday's rally, notably St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Atchison. The movement in these stocks was eclipsed by that of Louisville, in which the dealings were on a very large scale. The opening loss in this stock and the subsequent movement gave color to the supposition that it was raised for the purpose of accumulating stock. In the late dealings it spurted to 11 1/2, an extreme rise of 7 1/4. It closed with a net gain of 2 1/4. The recovery in the other leaders from the low point ranged from 3 to 5. Some special strength was shown by Illinois Central on the declaration of the dividend and the decision to issue new stock, and by St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred on the placing of the stock on a 4 per cent dividend basis. There was no apparent cause for the recovery in the general list, aside from the confidence inspired by the evidence that powerful support was in the market and that the ominous and urgent liquidation of Monday was thereby checked. The disquiet which was caused Monday by the mystery surrounding last week's large loss in the cash reserves of the banks was dispelled by the explanation that cash had been shipped to Buffalo to provide against a possible run on the banks there. The open-handed freedom with which loans were made by banks under Morgan control quieted fears of credit contraction and counteracted the effect of the recent policy of the banks in discriminating against collateral.

U. S. new 4s declined 1/4 per cent and the old 4s advanced 1/4 per cent on the last call.

ton; Richard Herbert, 9, East Liverpool; John Gould, 31, East Palestine; John Shrader, 6, Wheeling; Ashley Lee Dodd, 7, Tiffin; Charles Dorff, 12, East Liverpool.

The invitation extended by the East Liverpool base ball team for the delegates to attend the game at the West End park Thursday afternoon was received and action upon the same deferred until Thursday morning, in order that the members of the convention may be able to judge whether or not they can afford to spare the time.

When President Hughes called for the presentation of resolutions at the afternoon session, the result was a deluge of the missives, almost swamping the secretaries.

When they were all in and the count was made it was found that 23 resolutions had been handed in, and although it is impossible at this time to ascertain the character and import of the various motions in resolution form, there is no doubt that the matters contained in them are of more or less importance to the trades represented.

From the statements of several of the leading members in attendance at the convention it was learned that this batch was among the most important with which the convention would be called upon to wrestle. This is easily accounted for on account of the fact that a great many of the delegates came here with the resolutions tucked away where they could be produced at once. Among the resolutions presented yesterday are those prepared by the locals at home. They contain propositions which have confronted the Brotherhood members in the shop and have been taken into the local there to be discussed and talked over, finally resulting in a resolution to be brought before the parent body.

The resolutions yet to come will for the most part be brief and will be presented by members of the convention, who feel the necessity for their passage on account of the effect questions previously acted upon will have upon their respective trades.

The session ended at about 4:30 and was a very busy one, going to show that the disposition to do business and to have no trifling had taken possession of the whole convention.

When the roll was called in this morning's session of the national convention very few absentees were noted and the advice of President Hughes in the report submitted yesterday has apparently been taken to heart.

The minutes of the preceding session were read and approved, after which a report was heard from the laws committee. A resolution presented yesterday afternoon which provided for an increase of the initiation fee for new members in the locals had been referred to this committee and this morning they reported favorably upon the same.

The convention adopted the resolution and after January 1, 1902, it will cost the person seeking admission into the organization just twice as much as it does at the present time. This matter had been discussed locally for a long time and the feeling was general that the fee should be increased.

In a resolution yesterday the members of the executive committee had laid before the convention their plan for the more thorough organization of the east.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Wheeling convention had authorized certain of the officials to use every means to induce the easterners to come in, very little was accomplished along this line. It is said that the present plan was formed only after long hours of deliberation on the part of the executive board and is practically this: That the position of vice president be made a salaried one and that he be known as an organizer. The recommendation of the board, it is said, provides a good salary for the incumbent, and will enable him to spend his entire time in the work. His headquarters will be in Trenton, and should the plan be adopted, good results are expected to accrue to the Brotherhood.

The resolution was referred to the committee on state of the order, and they reported back to the convention this morning recommending its adoption.

A discussion lasting several hours was indulged in, and at the adjournment for dinner no action had been taken and the question was still under discussion. It was taken up when the convention was convened at 2 o'clock and will probably be disposed of this afternoon.

A large number of new resolutions were presented this morning and referred to their respective committees. It was stated that a movement was on foot to change the manner of selecting and the number of members to comprise the executive board, but it was stated that while it was not unlikely a number of plans would be suggested to accomplish this in the form of resolutions, and it may be that a change will be made, yet no definite action was taken today.

No arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the delegates this evening, but there is a disposition to attend to business and get away as soon as possible, and the absence of a program for the entertainment of the visitors will not be noticed.

SANITARY WORKERS

WANT ATTENTION FROM BROTHERHOOD AND WILL GET IT.

Scale of Prices And Regulations to Be Provided—Caucus on Plan of Campaign.

There is little doubt that when the convention of the National Brotherhood, in session here this week, has finished its work the sanitary workers of the United States will have been provided for in the way of a scale of prices and also in the matter of regulations to control their trade.

The operatives engaged in the production of general ware in this particular district know very little of the conditions surrounding the sanitary trade, and for that reason have not taken the trouble to post themselves.

Recently the men engaged in the making of sanitary ware have awakened to the necessity of bringing about something in their own behalf that will at least place them upon a footing equal to that of other trades in the general ware line.

On January 4, 1900, the first break was made toward the affiliation of the sanitary potters with the National Brotherhood. This was brought about by an agitation started by one of President Hughes' visits to the east. The sanitary people of Trenton realized that the Brotherhood was fast taking the foremost place among the organizations representing the pottery trades, and in order to have a substantial and influential head, asked to be made part of the N. B. of O. P. Their request was granted and on the date mentioned above the sanitary pressers of Trenton were organized into what is now local union No. 45. Not long afterward locals of the sanitary trade were organized in Bordentown, N. J., Wheeling, Tiffin and Kokomo.

These subordinate unions contain some of the best material in the Brotherhood and have, during the 18 months they have been affiliated with it, been connected with some of the hardest tasks and most important work of the organization.

For a time they were content to let matters take their own course, but they have now reached a stage in their existence through their loyalty to the organization and the vast amount of good hard work performed in its behalf, where they come prepared to ask legislation that will at least indicate that they are a part of the Brotherhood.

Accordingly many of the sanitary workers from the different localities have come to this meeting armed with resolutions covering their requests, and it is likely they will go through. It was thought by many of the most prominent workmen among the trades that much valuable time could be saved by making a united move, and embodying all their requests in a few well prepared documents, instead of having them come in from all quarters. The plants engaged in the manufacture of this class of ware are so widely separated that regulations which would benefit one would not apply in any particular to another, so it was thought best to get together for a discussion of the various questions and act together.

The sanitary men caucused last night, and when they were through a very thorough understanding was arrived at as to how they should be placed. The meeting was an interesting one, since representatives were present from very district in the United States. The several questions considered at the meeting were made clear to all, and it is now thought that should the convention act favorably upon the requests of the sanitary workers the trade will be greatly benefited.

Couldn't Find the Corkscrew.

They live pretty well out in a handsome home, but not near enough to a fire station to be "handy in case of accident." As the house is their own and their all the husband had been somewhat in terror of a blaze for some time. So he laid in a stock of hand grenades, those little glass bottles which are supposed to put out any fire that may start.

One day the blaze came. The cook started it in the kitchen. Then she fled howling to her room and began to pack her trunk. The wife prides herself on her ability to keep her head, so first she stepped to the telephone and turned in the alarm, and then she went for the hand grenades.

When the fire department did arrive, the men found her standing over the sideboard rummaging through the drawers. Copious streams of water soon drowned the blaze and ruined the lower floor, and the department left. Still she rummaged. Her husband came, called by the phone girl. He saw her there.

"Why, my dear girl," he said, "why didn't you use the hand grenades and stop the fire as soon as it started? Then the whole lower part of the house wouldn't have been soaked."

"John," she responded icily, "if you would just keep the corkscrew where it belongs, I could use the horrid old grenades. But it is gone, and how was I to open them?"—Kansas City Journal.

The Grand Medicine Man.

The ceremony of the Grand Medicine is an elaborate ritual, covering several days, the endless number of gods and spirits being called upon to minister to the sick man and to lengthen his life. The several degrees of the Grand Medicine teach the use of incantations, of medicines and poisons, and the requirements necessary to constitute a brave.

When a young man seeks admission to the Grand Medicine lodge, he first fasts until he sees in his dream some animal, the mink, beaver, otter and fisher being most common, which he hunts and kills. The skin is then ornamented with beads or porcupine quills, and the spirit of the animal becomes the friend and companion of the man.

The medicine men have only a limited knowledge of herbs, but they are expert in dressing wounds, and the art of extracting barbed arrows from the flesh can be learned from them.

In older times—yes, to within the memory of living Ojibways—the medicine man at the funeral ceremony thus addressed the departed: "Dear friend, you will not feel lonely while pursuing your journey toward the setting sun. I have killed for you a Sioux, [hated enemy of the Ojibways], and I have scalped him. He will accompany you and provide for you, hunting your food as you need it. The scalp I have taken—use it for your moccasins."—Open Court.

FROM A FIRE OF APPLE WOOD.

Through wind swept sheets of driven rain
The ancient orchard shows forlorn,
Like brave old soldierly half slain,
With gaps to tell the losses borne.

And fragments of the fallen trees
Burn on the hearth before me brightly;
The fire their captive spirit frees,
Musing, I watch it take its flight.

How swift the flames of gold and blue
Up from the glowing logs aspire!
There yellow bird and bluebird flew
And oriole, each with wings of fire.

Now in the hearth light, on the trees,
Stirs something they and I have heard,
Ah, is it not the summer breeze
Come back to us with sun and bird?

Four summers, born again—to die!
Quickly as they have come they go.
See, where the ashes smoldering lie,
The orchard floor is white with snow.

Wonderful Stones.

The brain of the tortoise was supposed to contain a wonderful stone which was efficacious in extinguishing fire and when placed under the tongue would produce prophetic inspiration. Another stone possessing the latter property was to be found in the eye of the lynx. The head of the cat, however, was thought to contain what would undoubtedly have been the most wonderful and most desirable treasure of all could it have only had a real instead of an imaginary existence, for that man who was so fortunate as to possess this precious stone would have all his wishes granted.—Chambers' Journal.

Why He Doesn't Work.

"For a man who doesn't work," said the housekeeper, "you have a pretty good appetite."
"Yes, ma'am," said Hungry Higgins. "Dat's why I don't work. If I did, dey wouldn't be no satisfiyin me."—Philadelphia Record.

The heaviest precious stone is the zircon, which is 4½ times heavier than an equal quantity of water. The lightest is the opal, only twice as heavy as water.

East Liverpool.

The invitation extended by the East Liverpool base ball team for the delegates to attend the game at the West End park Thursday afternoon was received and action upon the same deferred until Thursday morning, in order that the members of the conor not they can afford to spare the time.

When President Hughes called for the presentation of resolutions at the afternoon session, the result was a deluge of the missives, almost swamping the secretaries.

When they were all in and the count was made it was found that 23 resolu-

it is impossible at this time to ascervarious motions in resolution form, there is no doubt that the matters con-

From the statements of several of the leading members in attendance at the convention it was learned that this with which the convention would be called upon to wrestle. This is easily accounted for on account of the fact that a great many of the delegates finally resulting in a resolution to be

The resolutions yet to come will for the most part be brief and will be

The session ended at about 4:30 and was a very busy one, going to show that the disposition to do business and to have no trifling had taken possession of the whole convention.

When the roll was called in this morning's session of the national convention very few absentees were noted and the advice of President Hughes in the report submitted yesterday has apparently been taken to heart.

The minutes of the preceding session were read and approved, after which a report was heard from the laws committee. A resolution presented yesterday afternoon which provided for an increase of the initiation fee for new members in the locals had been referred to this committee and this morning they reported favorably upon the same.

The convention adopted the resolution and after January 1, 1902, it will cost the person seeking admission into the organization just twice as much as it does at the present time.
This matter had been discussed locally for a long time and the feeling was general that the fee should be increased.

In a resolution yesterday the members of the executive committee had laid before the convention their plan for the more thorough organization of the east.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Wheeling convention had authorized certain of the officials to use every means to induce the easterners to come in, very little was accomplished along this line. It is said that the present plan was formed only after long hours of deliberation on the part of the executive board and is practically this: That the position of vice president be made a salaried one and that he be known as an organizer. The recommendation of the board, it is said, provides a good salary for the incumbent, and will enable him to spend his entire time in the work. His headquarters will be in Trenton, and should the plan be adopted, good results are expected to accrue to the Brotherhood.

The resolution was referred to the committee on state of the order, and they reported back to the convention this morning recommending its adoption.

A discussion lasting several hours was indulged in, and at the adjournment for dinner no action had been taken and the question was still under discussion. It was taken up when the convention was convened at 2 o'clock and will probably be disposed of this afternoon.

A large number of new resolutions were presented this morning and referred to their respective committees.
It was stated that a movement was on foot to change the manner of selecting and the number of members to comprise the executive board, but it was stated that while it was not unlikely a number of plans would be suggested to accomplish this in the form of resolutions, and it may be that a change will be made, yet no definite action was taken today.

No arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the delegates this evening, but there is a disposition to attend to business and get away as soon as possible, and the absence of a program for the entertainment of the visitors will not be noticed.

SANITARY WORKERS

WANT ATTENTION FROM BROTH-ERHOOD AND WILL GET IT.

Scale of Prices And Regulations to Be Provided—Caucus on Plan of Campaign.

There is little doubt that when the convention of the National Brotherhood, in session here this week, has finished its work the sanitary workers of the United States will have been provided for in the way of a scale of prices and also in the matter of regulations to control their trade.

The operatives engaged in the production of general ware in this particular district know very little of the conditions surrounding the sanitary trade, and for that reason have not taken the trouble to post themselves.

Recently the men engaged in the making of sanitary ware have awakened to the necessity of bringing about something in their own behalf that will at least place them upon a footing equal to that of other trades in the general ware line.

On January 4, 1900, the first break was made toward the affiliation of the sanitary potters with the National Brotherhood. This was brought about by an agitation started by one of President Hughes' visits to the east.
The sanitary people of Trenton realized that the Brotherhood was fast taking the foremost place among the organizations representing the pottery trades, and in order to have a substantial and influential head, asked to be made part of the N. B. of O. P. Their request was granted and on the date mentioned above the sanitary pressers of Trenton were organized into what is now local union No. 45. Not long afterward locals of the sanitary trade were organized in Bordentown,
N. J., Wheeling, Tiffin and Kokomo.

These subordinate unions contain some of the best material in the Brotherhood and have, during the 18 months they have been affiliated with it, been connected with some of the hardest tasks and most important work of the organization.

For a time they were content to let matters take their own course, but they have now reached a stage in their existence through their loyalty to the organization and the vast amount of good hard work performed in its behalf, where they come prepared to ask legislation that will at least indicate that they are a part of the Brotherhood.

Accordingly many of the sanitary workers from the different localities have come to this meeting armed with resolutions covering their requests, and it is likely they will go through.

It was thought by many of the most prominent workmen among the trades that much valuable time could be saved by making a united move, and embodying all their requests in a few well prepared documents, instead of having them come in from all quarters. The plants engaged in the manufacture of this class of ware are so widely separated that regulations which would benefit one would not apply in any particular to another, so it was thought best to get together for a discussion of the various questions and act together.

The sanitary men caucused last night, and when they were through a very thorough understanding was arrived at as to how they should be placed. The meeting was an interesting one, since representatives were present from very district in the United States. The several questions considered at the meeting were made clear to all, and it is now thought that should the convention act favorably upon the requests of the sanitary workers the trade will be greatly benefited.

Couldn't Find the Corkscrew.

They live pretty well out, in a handsome home, but not near enough to a fire station to be "handy in case of accident." As the house is their own and their all the husband had been somewhat in terror of a blaze for some time. So he laid in a stock of hand grenades, those little glass bottles which are supposed to put out any fire that may start.

One day the blaze came. The cook started it in the kitchen. Then she died howling to her room and began to pack her trunk. The wife prides herself on her ability to keep her head, so first she stepped to the telephone and turned in the alarm, and then she went for the hand grenades.

When the fire department did arrive, the men found her standing over the sideboard rummaging through the drawers. Copious streams of water soon drowned the blaze and ruined the lower floor, and the department left.
Still she rummaged. Her husband came, called by the phone girl. He saw her there.

"Why, my dear girl," he said, "why didn't you use the hand grenades and stop the fire as soon as it started?
Then the whole lower part of the house wouldn't have been soaked."

"John," she responded icily, "if you would just keep the corkscrew where it belongs, I could use the horrid old grenades. But it is gone, and how was I to open them?"—Kansas City Journal.

The Grand Medicine Man.

The ceremony of the Grand Medicine is an elaborate ritual, covering several days, the endless number of gods and spirits being called upon to minister to the sick man and to lengthen his life.
The several degrees of the Grand Medicine teach the use of incantations, of medicines and poisons, and the requirements necessary to constitute a brave.

When a young man seeks admission to the Grand Medicine lodge, he first fasts until he sees in his dream some animal, the mink, beaver, otter and fisher being most common, which he hunts and kills. The skin is then ornamented with beads or porcupine quills, and the spirit of the animal becomes the friend and companion of the man.

The medicine men have only a limited knowledge of herbs, but they are expert in dressing wounds, and the art of extracting barbed arrows from the flesh can be learned from them.

In older times—yes, to within the memory of living Ojibways—the medicine man at the funeral ceremony thus addressed the departed: "Dear friend, you will not feel lonely while pursuing your journey toward the setting sun.
I have killed for you a Sioux, [hated enemy of the Ojibways], and I have scalped him. He will accompany you and provide for you, hunting your food as you need it. The scalp I have taken —use it for your moccasins."—Open Court.

FROM A FIRE OF APPLE WOOD.

Through wind swept sheets of driven rain
The ancient orchard shows forlorn,
Like brave old soldier half slain,
With gaps to tell the losses borne.

And fragments of the fallen trees
Burn on the hearth before me bright;
The fire their captive spirit frees;
Musing, I watch it take its flight.

How swift the flames of gold and blue
Up from the glowing logs aspire!
There yellow bird and bluebird flow
And oriole, each with wings of fire.

Now in the hearth light, on the trees,
Stirs something they and I have heard,
Ah, is it not the summer breeze
Come back to us with sun and bird?

Poor summers, born again—to die!
Quickly as they have come they go,
See, where the ashes smoldering lie,
The orchard floor is white with snow.

—M. A. DeWolfe Howe in Atlantic.

Wonderful Stones.

The brain of the tortoise was supposed to contain a wonderful stone which was efficacious in extinguishing fire and when placed under the tongue would produce prophetic inspiration.
Another stone possessing the latter property was to be found in the eye of the hyena. The head of the cat, however, was thought to contain what would undoubtedly have been the most wonderful and most desirable treasure of all could it have only had a real instead of an imaginary existence, for that man who was so fortunate as to possess this precious stone would have all his wishes granted.—Chambers' Journal.

Why He Doesn't Work.

"For a man who doesn't work," said the housekeeper, "you have a pretty good appetite."

"Yes, ma'am," said Hungry Higgins.
"Dat's why I don't work. If I did, dey wouldn't be no satisfyin me."—Philadelphia Record.

The heaviest precious stone is the zicon, which is 4½ times heavier than an equal quantity of water. The lightest is the opal, only twice as heavy as water.

TO DOUBLE INITIATION FEE

An Elaborate Program Prepared For Tomorrow Evening at the Park.

RECOGNITION OF SANITARY MEN

They Have Come Prepared to Make a Few Requests Which Will Be a Benefit to Their Trade, and Expect Favorable Action.

When the national organization met at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the first matter up was the reading of the report of National Secretary Duffy.

The document was a lengthy one and consumed more than an hour in the reading. It dealt with the membership of the organization, showing that a phenomenal increase had been experienced and that almost every local organization under the jurisdiction of the main body had added names to their roll during the past year.

Not only this, but from a perusal of the report it will be found that the various funds of the national body have been increased to a remarkable degree. The vigilance and close application of the officers of the several locals is largely responsible for the present condition of the finances, and by reason of the attention paid to the collection of the percentage by the local secretaries during the past year, the defense fund is shown to be very large. Assistant Secretary Smith read the report pertaining to the defense department and the document was listened to with more than the usual interest. This is accounted for by the fact that the representatives, in hearing the report read, realized for the first time in the history of their connection with the organization that they had nothing to fear in the future as far as their resources were concerned. Secretary Duffy read the general report.

The board of trustees, which is composed of William Adams, Leroy Orr, A. E. Stevenson, Henry Grainger and Henry Braithwaite, made their report through Member A. E. Stevenson, and it covered the work done by their department in a thorough manner. This board has the custody of the funds over a certain amount and looks after its investments to the best possible advantage. They also look after the property of the organization and see to it that the possessions of the Brotherhood are well taken care of. The report, which was received, reflects great credit upon the trustees and shows that their duties have been faithfully performed.

This committee is expected to give out every particle of information that the convention wishes the public to know, although it was stated on the floor of the first session of the convention that delegates at this meeting would be different from those in attendance at previous ones if they did not talk for publication. The other committees were as follows:

Revision of Constitution—Aaron T. C. Potts, 45, Trenton; John Wilkinson, 20, Steubenville; John McBrier, 52, Canonsburg; Leroy Orr, 12, East Liverpool; R. M. Ashbaugh, 31, East Palestine; Benjamin F. Sheets, 30, Akron; George Wilson, 12, East Liverpool.

Laws—William Mushet, 45, Trenton; P. J. McKeone, 18, East Liverpool; William T. Nesbitt, 6, Wheeling; William Anderson, 12, East Liverpool; Edward Veith, 17, East Liverpool; Pat Quinn, 22, East Liverpool; James Jamison, 9, East Liverpool.

Appeals and Grievances—Rodger J. Conroy, 23, Wheeling; John Wain, 27, Trenton; Charles L. Altenbaugh, 7, Tiffin; Samuel Moore, 4, East Liverpool; James H. Heckathorn, 29, East Liverpool; James Tiffany, 35, Trenton.

ron; Charles Fulton, 45, Trenton; Richard Davis, 18, East Liverpool; James Gaffney, 26, Kakomo; C. C. Smith, 9, East Liverpool.

Dobbs, 44, Sebring; Fred Lyth, 32, East Liverpool. State of Order—Thomas Collins, 9, East Liverpool; J. T. Cotton, 45, Tren-

FIGHT ON STREET CAR

Patrick Mulhern Fined for Intoxication—May Miller and Jessie Blakely Taken to Workhouse.

Patrick Mulhern was up before Mayor Davidson this morning to answer to a charge of drunkenness. He made a full confession. He was fined $1 and costs, which he paid. Patrolmen Rose and Bettridge arrested Patrick.

A fight took place on a street car last night in which John Webber received a blow in the face which caused a dark circle to form above one of his eyes. Patrolman Bettridge saw the closing round of the conflict, but before he could lay hands on the aggressor the fellow escaped. His name was not learned. Webber was arrested, but not locked up. He appeared before the mayor this morning and stated that he was not responsible for the fight.

His story was corroborated by several persons who were aboard the car at the time. Webber was allowed to go, but it is expected he will bring a charge against the man who struck him, if his identity can be learned.

May Miller and Jessie Blakely, the women who were each fined $25 and costs yesterday by the mayor for intoxication and disorderly conduct, were taken to the Canton workhouse this morning by Officer Dawson.

A STARK MAN IN SECOND PLACE

Hon. Anthony Howells Indorsed For Lieutenant Governor By Delegates

Merry War Among the Local Democracy at Columbus — Columbiana County Delegation Sits on J. C. Walsh—Cold Shoulder for Johnson.

Columbus, July 10.—(Special.)—Hon. Anthony Howells, of Massillon, was endorsed for the nomination for lieutenant governor at the meeting of the Eighteenth district delegates yesterday. Hon. James Rice, of Canton, will place Mr. Howells' name before the convention. John H. Clark, a Cleveland attorney, making the seconding speech. The universal belief is that if the nomination for lieutenant governor is not forced on Zimmerman, Howells will win out for that place hands down.

Just before the close of the conference of the district delegates Chairman A. J. Wolfe, of Youngstown, made a play to secure endorsement of the Kansas City platform by the district. The idea died "a-borning." J. T. Schroyer, of Stark, squelched it effectively in a few short sentences, and before any one had time to think "Dick" Pierce, of Canton, made a motion to adjourn and the caucus passed into history.

Ed O. Moore, former mayor of Youngstown, announced on authority yesterday that John H. Morris, of that city, had withdrawn from the race for state treasurer, having been impelled to do so by a desire to strengthen Howells' chances for lieutenant governor.

The district conference was called to order by A. E. Young, of Massillon. On motion of Al Carlisle, of Salem, A. J. Wolfe, of Mahoning, was made chairman. J. C. Deldrick, of Stark, was elected secretary. Candidates agreed upon in the preliminary gatherings were presented and formally ratified. The organization effected was as follows:

For Vice President—A. O. Slentz, of Stark.

Member of State Central Committee—Otto E. Young, of Stark.

Member of Committee on Resolutions—W. H. Spence, of Columbiana. Member of Committee on Permanent Organization—J. C. Walsh, of Columbiana.

Stark decided to stand by Columbiana county for member of committee on resolutions and member of committee on permanent organization. Mahoning county was conceded the member of committee on rules and credentials and member of committee on rules and order of business. The county agreed to stand as a unit on all questions.

Columbiana county is represented by Al Carlisle, Dr. A. W. Schiller, Joseph Schriber, L. A. Callahan, Ed Cook, J. C. Walsh, A. P. Dennis, T. J. Forner, Joseph Dowler, W. H. Spence, William Foley, G. B. Aten.

The Columbiana county delegates, at a meeting held in Al Carlisle's room yesterday afternoon, selected George Aten, of Wellsville, as chairman of the delegation. W. H. Spence, of Salem, and A. P. Dennis, of Wellsville, were presented for membership on the resolution committee. Spence was elected. He was the choice of Carlisle, who favored giving the Johnson resolutions no consideration. Dennis favored inserting the first of the Johnson resolutions. Spence was compelled in the district conference to present the three resolutions, Stark county threatening, if he did not, to combine with the Dennis faction and prevent the ratification of Columbiana county's nomination by the district caucus.

J. C. Walsh, of East Liverpool, was elected on the committee on permanent organization without opposition. When the question of choosing a permanent chairman of the delegation came up Carlisle attempted to placate Dennis by nominating him for permanent chairman, but Dennis declined the nomination. George B. Aten was then elected permanent chairman. J. C. Walsh wanted a plank recommended to the committee on resolutions criticising Governor Nash for stopping the prize fight in Cincinnati last winter, but the whole delegation, figuratively speaking, sat down on Walsh.

DOG NUISANCE PROBLEM CONSIDERED BY COUNCIL

The Mahoning county delegation, with nine members present, caucused in the state treasurer's office just before the district caucus and organized by electing A. J. Wolfe, of Youngstown, as chairman. This delegation was the only one in the district that desired a re-affirmation of the Kansas City platform and the adoption of the Johnson resolutions entire. They were the extremists on the platform question.

KILBOURNE HAS IT

NOMINATION BY ACCLAMATION BY OHIO DEMOCRACY.

The Suggestion Was Made By Zimmerman This Afternoon.

WOMAN IN TROUBLE

Mrs. Ella Perrine Is Charged With Assaulting Mrs. Mina Ellis—Trial Tomorrow Morning.

Mrs. Mina Ellis and Mrs. Ella Perrine are both occupants of shanty boats located at the foot of Jefferson street. For several days the relations between the two women have been somewhat unfriendly and both have appealed to Justice McLane for redress. The "squire" advised them to "bury the hatchet," but his admonition seems to have failed of result.

An affidavit was filed by Mrs. Ellis this morning, charging Mrs. Perrine with assault. Constable Powell arrested the woman and she was brought before Justice McLane. She pleaded not guilty and demanded a "bible" trial. The case will be heard tomorrow morning.

Dr. R. J. Marshall Unearthed An Ordinance Long Since Forgotten.

FULLY COVERS REQUIREMENTS

Mayor Davidson Never Knew That the Mandate Had Been Passed.

FOUR COUNCILMEN ABSENT

And But Little Business Was Transacted at Tuesday Night's Session. Pay Ordinance Was Next in Importance to the Dog Question.

Perhaps to the News Review is due the credit of a discovery made at the meeting of council last evening, which has not only removed a burden from Mayor Davidson's mind, but which will bring relief to a long-suffering public, inasmuch as the question, so much discussed, relative to the dog nuisance in the city, has been solved and there now appears to be some recourse for those who have appealed in vain to the mayor for protection from the canine pests running at large.

As has often been stated in the articles on the subject which have appeared in the News Review at different times the ordinance concerning dogs which appears in the book in Mayor Davidson's possession is practically worthless. It was passed many years since when East Liverpool was in its infancy, and hence, owing to its abbreviated scope, has been a detriment instead of a benefit to the city executive.

It was Councilman Marshall who made the discovery which the public generally will appreciate and which will doubtless boom business at the garbage furnace. It was the unearthing of a dog law in an ordinance book in the possession of Clerk Hanley, which, for an unknown reason, had never been called to the attention of the mayor.

Mr. Marshall sprang a decided surprise when he produced the book and read therefrom an ordinance passed Aug. 13, 1895, and known as No. 446, which is not only far reaching in its scope, but gives the city executive abundant power to impose penalties on the persons violating its provisions and makes the way clear for him to rid the city of a nuisance which has long been complained of.

In addition to giving the mayor power to fine the owners of cross or troublesome dogs it decrees that private citizens may protect themselves against the ravages of the worthless curs and that they may slaughter them. A section providing for the muzzling of the brutes during dog days is also complete and Mayor Davidson proposes to see to it that the ordinance is immediately put into effect. He was instructed to issue a proclamation warning the owners of dogs that unless they are properly looked after they will be summarily dealt with.

Councilman Barlow has evidently been among the number who has been pestered by the curs. After the ordinance had been read to council he asked for a certainty whether or not private citizens were authorized to shoot dogs that annoyed them. When told that they were, Mr. Barlow indicated his desire to begin the contemplated onslaught by saying: "Well, if that's a fact I shall go gunning myself—and that very soon."

How the ordinance came to be laid away without being recorded in the mayor's book is not to be explained. Though the mayor has repeatedly in the past several months been harassed by indignant citizens who censured him for not taking steps to abate the dog nuisance, he has made the best of the situation in the hope that council would come to his rescue. He was present at the meeting last night and it was his intention to bring the matter up before the solons. Dr. Marshall, however, saved him the trouble, and though it has been almost six years since the ordinance was passed, it has never been put into effect and neither the mayor, marshal or police knew anything about it. It is needless to state that it will be used to good advantage from now on.

Owing to the absence of Messrs. Nice, Horwell, Cripps and McLane, there was little business transacted at last night's meeting. Vice President

WELLSVILLE

ORGANIZERS TALK

AND MORE MEN JOINED THE WELLSVILLE A. A. LODGE.

The Officials Confident of a Pacific Solution of the Mill Trouble.

The meeting of the local union of the Amalgamated Association yesterday afternoon was well attended. There were at least 40 men present. Only a part of the men are able to attend the meetings, as their work calls them to duty at that hour of the day. The meeting was opened with the opening ode of the association. Organizer George D. Evans first addressed the men. He said in part:

"In coming here we come only with the object of getting the workmen of Wellsville closer together. Sixty-five per cent of the mills of the country are union mills. We want to make the other 35 per cent union. We don't want any man to quit his work to join us, but we want every man to have his rights. Unions keep up wages and if it were not for the unions the non-union men would not be getting the wages that they receive now. Organization has power. It would be better for the men here if they were organized."

Ex-Vice President Charles James then addressed the meeting. He said: "The union is for the purpose of protecting the workman and his family. We know that the interests of the manufacturer are our interests too. When he prospers we do the same. We are not out this time for more money; we are out for a principle and we are going to stand for that principle. If it is good for the manufacturers to organize it is good for the workmen to organize. We are not here to degrade, but to elevate the men. We do not want our men to do anything rash; we want them all to be conservative. In joining this union they are looking into the future—they are preparing the way for the good of their posterity, and that is noble."

The meeting then went into executive session. Organizer Evans last night expressed himself as confident of success and of a peaceful solution of the present dispute with the trust. He said about 12 new men joined the union, three of them being tonnage men. Vice President Chappell is expected here today. Three of the men who had been discharged were reinstated today, and it is expected the others will be taken back.

George D. Evans received a message over the telephone from President Shaffer at 9 o'clock this morning, stating that Vice President Chappell would reach Wellsville today at 3 p. m. He was to have come yesterday, but on account of the stress of business in the Pittsburg office he could not get away until today.

Organizer James said this morning that arrangements which are satisfactory to all parties had been made for the disposition of the discharged men. He would not state what would be done in their behalf, but he said the report that they were to be taken back a few at a time was not in the plans.

He said they had done more toward organizing last night and this morning than they have done yet. He requests that the men already in the union do not agitate the question in the saloons. He thinks when conferences over trouble of this kind are held in saloons, a great deal of harm is done.

Another meeting will be held in Potters' hall this afternoon.

FOUGHT FOR LIFE

Against a Ten-Foot Snake—Great Battle of Two Tuscarawas Men.

Canal Dover, July 10.—Stephen Miles and Mark Godard came upon a snake of the racer species while crossing Thyme hill. The head and tail were hidden in the weeds on opposite sides of the road. Miles made for it with a club. The snake turned and gave him battle. With head raised five feet from the ground and hissing furiously, it struck at him again and again.

The thoroughly frightened Miles fought for his life and at last by a lucky blow brought the snake low. Godard was paralyzed with fright and was unable to render his companion any help. It was found upon measurement to be more than 10 feet long. It is more than 50 years since a snake of such proportions has been seen in this vicinity.

BETRAYED BY A LETTER

Former Youngstown Merchant Wanted for Arson, Arrested in Detroit.

Youngstown, July 10.—After dodging the police of various states from Ohio to California, J. A. Robertson, wanted here for arson, was trapped in Detroit by a letter which he wrote to R. A. Calvin, also under indictment here for arson. Robertson formerly ran a shoe store here, but left after repeated fires had consumed all his stock and store. Calvin, a clerk, was left to bear the brunt of the charges.

When a letter came from Robertson asking him to meet his former employer in Detroit he turned it over to Sheriff Thomas and went to Detroit with the sheriff to arrest Robertson.

IN NORTH POLE COSTUME

A Fredericktown Genius Remained Cool While Others Sweltered.

Fredericktown, O., July 10.—"What will keep out cold will keep out heat," said Hugh Morrison the other day when the mercury sizzled and boiled around 100, and people asked him why he dressed as though he were at the north pole.

Whatever there may be in his theory, he was the only cool man in the county during the hot spell. He wore heavy felt boots and flannels.

Running Against Wilhelm.

Rev. J. F. Sheppard, of Carrollton, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that town, will be the Prohibition candidate for senator in the Stark-Carroll district, against Senator George Wilhelm, the Republican nominee. State Chairman Ashenburt thinks it probable that the Democrats of the district will not nominate a man for senator and may unite on Sheppard.

TO CHANGE PLACES

A Washington State Man Will Succeed Him in Eastern Ohio Conference.

Columbiana, July 10.—(Special)—Arrangements are about completed for an important transfer of Methodist ministers which will be of special interest in the East Ohio conference.

In case Bishop Joyce of this conference does not disapprove of the arrangements made, Rev. J. W. Satterthwaite, pastor of the M. E. church in this town, will be transferred to the Puget Sound conference in western Washington, and Rev. T. E. Elliott will be transferred from that conference to the East Ohio conference.

The proposed change has received the approval of Presiding Elder Smith, of Canton district; Presiding Elder Williams, of Chehalis district, in Washington, and Bishop Mallallen, of Puget Sound conference. It is not probable that Bishop Joyce, of this conference, will withhold his approval.

Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite was seen here today by the News Review correspondent. He said that on account of the health of members of his family, he has had this change in contemplation for some time, believing that the mild climate of the Puget Sound valley, in which both extremes of heat and cold are unknown, would be beneficial to the afflicted ones. This course was no sooner decided upon than the opportunity to make the change presented itself and was accepted. Rev. Mr. Elliott, who has been in the Puget Sound conference for 11 years, was formerly of the vicinity of Cleveland and desired to return to his native state. Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite will succeed him as pastor of the church at Hoquiam on Gray's Harbor, 12 miles from the coast. The appointment is the same grade as the one he is serving here, a salary of $850 and furnished parsonage.

The transfer will be made about September 1, in time for the pastors to be present at the annual conference with which they will be affiliated.

Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite has been pastor of the church here for two years and the congregation is practically a unit in desiring him to remain. The pastor and family are also loath to leave, but necessity seems to require it. Rev. Mr. Satterthwaite is recognized as one of the most able ministers in the East Ohio conference. During his pastorate here the church edifice was extensively remodeled.

In the Evidence of East Liverpool People Published in East Liverpool Papers That Has Made Such a Reputation for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

Standing clear and distinct, marking the difference, the superior merit, the adaptability to present day ailments is the volume of local testimony for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. It's so different to the ordinary remedies referring to cures made at distant points which it is hard to verify. There is a reason for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills commanding home evidence wherever they are known—it is their wonderful influence in bringing up the standard of Nerve Force. Mrs. C. L. Yager, of 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's medicines are all good. I got them at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, as I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person, as I feel well and hearty again."

Owes His Life to Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea, was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than 24 hours. ## VALUE OF PHILIPPINES.

General Grant on Their Importance to the United States.

In Peace the Value of the Islands From a Trade Standpoint Is Greatest, and in War as a Strategic Basis It Is of First Importance, Says the General.

The value of the Philippines to the United States cannot be overestimated, says General Frederick D. Grant in Leslie's Weekly. It will increase with the development of the islands and the growth of our trade with Asia. It is greatest, therefore, from a commercial standpoint, but is remarkable also as a strategic basis in time of war. We have added a vast area to the United States of incomparable richness, natural resources and fertility. The climate is salubrious, and the Anglo-Saxon can live in any part of the country with comfort and little expense comparatively because of the warm weather. A man with a small income can build up a competence there more readily than in this country, and the field is full of opportunity for the industrious and the thrifty. The soil is capable of supporting three times the present number of inhabitants and of doing it much better than they are now supported when there are better facilities of transportation.

A great many Americans went out to the Philippines on prospecting tours, but were disappointed at the passage of the Spooner bill, with its amendments, which prevents the granting of any franchises until congress makes laws to regulate them. I am told that surveys have been made for several railroads which would approximately cover the following routes: One 200 miles to the south of Manila, another 170 miles through the eastern part of the great valley of Luzon directly inland to Benguet, in the mountains, and a third 110 miles to the north, being an extension of the present road. This will make the present line 250 miles long if the extension is built.

We shall obtain a large market for our manufactures in the islands, and the whole trade of the archipelago will come under our exclusive control in a few years—that is, as soon as the clause of the treaty of peace by which we agreed to give Spain equal trade privileges in the islands with ourselves expires.

The Filipinos belong to the thirteenth or fourteenth century, but are a kind, peace loving and intelligent people. This is true of the whole so far as I have observed and is not confined to any particular locality or class. The people are loyal, are fond of displaying the stars and stripes and look upon the Americans as a race of benefactors little less than wonderful in their ingenuity.

The timber lands nearly all belong to the government. There are forests of ebony, mahogany and other rare hard and valuable woods that will be used some day in the United States for furniture and house trimmings. Of these woods I should say there are at least 100 varieties, many of which are wholly unfamiliar to Americans. I am in favor of preserving the forests by government regulation instead of allowing the timber to be swept clean by private interests.

The archipelago is of first importance from a military standpoint, because it gives us a station at a comparatively short distance from the great future field of commerce, the Chinese empire, with 400,000,000 inhabitants, in the southeastern part of Asia. As these nations produce more they will become more capable of buying, and the chance of controlling their trade is enhanced by having a strong outpost at Manila, at the very gates of the orient. It may not be that we shall ever have to fight to hold or control this trade, but we shall be much more apt to have our share of it if we are prepared for strong measures to defend our rights, just as a man makes secure against burglars by having a watchman in the house and putting locks on his front door.

It is for the corps of engineers of the army, of course, to consider the fortification and defense of the Philippines, and some surveys have probably been made already with that end in view. I am especially hopeful of the Filipino as a soldier. The natives are stubborn and courageous fighters, and an army offered by Americans could be raised among them sufficient for the defense of the archipelago. So far we have not taken many natives into the army, but we have used them to police the cities with excellent results. The few that have served with me have shown courage and dash on the field when led by white officers.

I feel that the Americans in taking the Philippines are performing a great humanitarian act which will redound to the material interest of the Filipinos as well as to their intellectual development and will enable them in time to enjoy the same freedom that the Americans do.

JOHNSON AT 'PHONE.

IN OHIO DEMOCRAT PLATFORM.

He Was Expected to Expatriate on Johnson Theories Today, but a Conservative Was Scheduled to Follow Him—Conservative Platform Likely

An unusually large attendance of visitors was noticeable here Tuesday, when the preliminary meetings were held for the Democratic state convention. The 950 delegates are accompanied by large delegations supporting different candidates for the nominations for judge and clerk of the supreme court, attorney general, state treasurer and members of the board of public works.

The nominations for governor and lieutenant governor are the only ones in which there is not a free-for-all race, with many entries. But the large attendance is due more to the reunion of Democrats, who have not been together in Ohio since 1895.

Those who are called "gold standard Democrats" are largely represented, and many of them have not attended their conventions in Ohio for years. Nearly all the old leaders of this class are here now, and they are given places of prominence on committees and organization generally. They are actively co-operating with those who are being denominated conservatives, in opposing so-called "isms" which they claim will handicap the party.

Salen's Selection a Compromise.

When the Kilbourne men secured the location of this convention at Columbus there was a strong effort to have it held at Cleveland. As a compromise Hon. Charles J. Salen, who is in the cabinet of Mayor Johnson, of Cleveland, was selected as temporary chairman. He was expected to speak this morning on the "Johnson policies," but he will be followed by a conservative as permanent chairman and by the adoption of what is known as the conservative platform.

At the conference Tuesday morning it was evident the conservatives will control the twenty-one congressional districts and therefore have all the committees which met last night to prepare their reports for this morning. There was considerable hustling for members of the committee on credentials on account of local fights in some counties, notably Montgomery, Butler and Union. The state committee and the committee on resolutions were in the hands of the conservatives before the district meetings were held, but there was no friction. Every effort seemed to have been made for harmony by the conservatives, but they insisted on compromise being secured without any compromise with what they termed as "new ideas" or "experiments."

Tom Johnson Telephoned.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, who is in Brooklyn, talked with Charles P. Salen on the long-distance telephone Tuesday regarding the plank on a revision of the taxation laws of the state. When Salen informed the mayor that the McLean-Kilbourne men controlled the committee on resolutions, as well as all other parts of the convention, Mr. Johnson advised Salen to insist, both before the committee on resolutions and in the convention, for the incorporation of the Cuyahoga plank, which is made specific in mentioning railroads and other corporations as not bearing their full portion of the burden of taxation. Soon after this conversation Mr. Salen went into conference with Colonel Kilbourne, M. A. Daugherty, of Lancaster, and E. M. Heisley, of Cleveland, in Colonel Kilbourne's room, where they remained behind locked and guarded doors for more than an hour. The taxation plank was under consideration. At a joint meeting of the Cuyahoga delegation yesterday afternoon, when members of the committee were selected, Mr. Salen told his colleagues from Cleveland of his talk by telephone with Mayor Johnson, and urged them to stand by the Cuyahoga plank to the last. He even warned them against getting mixed up with the interests of any of the candidates for nomination. He said Cuyahoga county had no candidate and was not represented here in the interest of any one. They were here for principles and not for men. He explained that the platform would be adopted in the convention today before the order of nominations was reached, and that after the resolutions were disposed of all could work for their personal preferences for the nominations. He modified this by stating that the delegation would vote as a unit under his instructions.

Committee on Resolutions.

The following is the committee on resolutions: First district, Judson Harmon; Second, Harlan Cleveland; Third, J. H. Jones; Fourth, George Phillips; Fifth, W. D. Hill; Sixth, W. D. Hill, Joseph Elyar; Seventh, K. J. Harper; Eighth, W. S. Finley; Ninth, Barton Smith; Tenth, J. W. Elyar; Eleventh, W. E. Finck; Twelfth, M. A. Daugherty; Thirteenth, James H. Platt; Fourteenth, F. J. King; Fifteenth, E. M. Kennedy; Sixteenth, G. W. Hamilton; Seventeenth, J. W. Cassingham; Eighteenth, William Spence, Columbus; Nineteenth, S. G. Rogers, Summit; Twentieth, Echo M. Heisley, Cuyahoga; Twenty-first, Newton D. Baker, Cuyahoga.

The state central committee, selected last evening, is as follows:

First district, L. G. Bernard; Second, Louis Beemlin; Third, Joseph Dowling; Fourth, H. C. Barber; Fifth, G. W. Rissor; Sixth, A. B. Hough;

Seventh, W. S. Thomas; Eighth, W. J. Frey; Ninth, John Bolan; Tenth, E. A. Crawford; Eleventh, C. E. Peoples; Twelfth, F. J. Heer; Thirteenth, John E. Stange; Fourteenth, Lewis Brucker; Fifteenth, Eugene F. O'Neill; Sixteenth, W. B. Frances; Seventeenth, Waldo Taylor; Eighteenth, O. F. Young; Nineteenth, H. E. Andress; Twentieth, Charles W. Salen; Twenty-first, Harry F. Payer.

The McLean-Kilbourne element at the district meetings Tuesday afternoon secured control of all the committees, and will accordingly have everything their way at the Democratic state convention today. They were so strongly in the majority that there was no friction.

In the Twentieth and Twenty-first districts, which include Cleveland, the Johnson men had things their way as much as the McLean men in the First and Second districts, which include Cincinnati. But in the rural districts the latter element had almost everything. The controlling element did not "ride rough shod" over minorities in any of the districts, but when names were proposed for places on the committees there were inquiries as to how they stood, and if the replies were not satisfactory they were "excused," in some cases as quietly as jurors and in others with ballots.

The McLean-Kilbourne element, while usually courteous, made no concessions. The old state committee met previous to the district meetings, and gave the tickets to the McLean-Kilbourne men where there were contesting delegations and they took all the districts except those which include Cleveland, in which, under the unit rule, they could not control a vote.

Johnson Men Threaten to Fight.

But the Johnson men, after the result of the district meetings, promptly announced that they would carry the fight into the committee on resolutions, for an all night struggle, and then into the convention today, "for a finish." They have two strong men and vigorous speakers in Heisley and Baker, both members of Mayor Johnson's cabinet at Cleveland, on the committee on resolutions.

It is predicted that the convention will not reach the order of nominations until late this afternoon, and that the proceedings may be protracted into the night.

Former Governor Campbell is with the Schwab delegation from Butler county, and the Mason-Gray delegation from that county was yesterday given the tickets by the old state committee.

With all the efforts of the McLean-Kilbourne men for harmony, there is every indication of unusual scenes on the floor of the convention over minority reports, especially on credentials and resolutions.

MOB SMASHES CHAIRS.

New York, July 10.—The demonstration against the reserved park chairs, for the use of which a fee is charged, were continued in Madison square park. A mob several hundred strong took the police by surprise and began a wholesale destruction of the chairs at the north end of the park. The attendant in charge was swept from his feet and carried down with his property. The chairs were scattered over the pathways and the police reserves were unable to quell the riot for a time. They charged with drawn clubs and several men were arrested.

One of the occupants of a pay chair was Terry McGovern, the pugilist, who called upon one of the attendants "to come and collect." The attendant, however, did not accept the invitation. In the early evening at Madison square the crowd kept growing larger and larger and blocked the path where the pay chairs were. The police were practically unable to clear a passage way. Two men sat down. One of the chair men attempted to collect from these men. They only laughed at him, and another attendant, without further parley, walked to the rear of the chairs and dumped the occupants out. This precipitated a squabble, and as the cheering crowd encouraged the men to "stand by their guns," the police interfered and the two men and the second attendant were marched to the police station. The attendant was not held, but one of the men was, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

INSANE MAN KILLS WOMAN.

Assault and Mutilation of a Young Girl May Have Also Been Committed by Him.

Denver, July 10.—Mrs. Armenia Bullis, 62 years old, was killed on a lonely road near the east city limits, being stabbed to the heart, and Jessie Kinport, 14 years of age, was assaulted at her home and terribly mutilated with a knife. Christian Jensen, a farm hand, who is in custody, has confessed to the killing of Mrs. Bullis. He says she ran against him on the road, and, believing she had a gun, he stabbed her. He talks incoherently, and is believed to be insane.

Mrs. Bullis lived on a small farm, and was walking home when murdered. Jensen was employed by her several years ago.

Chief of Police Armstrong is of the opinion that the assault upon Jessie Kinport was not committed by Jensen, although some circumstances point to him as the guilty person. The girl was alone at her home in this city when assaulted, her mother, a widow, having gone to the theater with a friend. The man who assaulted the girl gained entrance to the house through a window. He choked her, cut her in the abdomen and otherwise maltreated her. She was found lying on an ash dump about midnight by searchers, after an alarm had been given by her mother, who on returning home found her child's bed empty and bloodstained. Physicians believe the girl will recover.

THE CIRCUS HABIT.

INDIANS HAVE THE WILDEST CRAZE FOR THE TENTED SHOWS.

After the Red Men the Negroes Will Go to the Greatest Lengths to See the Performance, and Third Place Is Held by Chinamen.

"You may talk about your city circus goers," said the old circus man, "but the Indian, the wild, untutored red man of the plains, has got them all beaten to death. There's no circus goer in the world like the North American aborigine. He will travel farther, endure more privations and skip himself harder to get the price of admission than any other human being in the world. What's more, I believe he really enjoys the circus better than the negro, though he doesn't make any fuss over it."

"The negro, as every circus man knows, will sell the family cook stove to get money to see the elephant, but the Indian will barter off his papoose, his squaw or even his most cherished possession, his horse, to get a ticket. After the negro comes the Chinaman. The Mexicans, too, are not slow in responding to the toot of the callopie. The laziest greaser on the Texas border, who never paid a debt in his life, bobs up promptly on circus day with his 50 cents, though nobody knows where he got it. But the Indian is the greatest circus fiend of all."

"In the west our circus is known among the Indians as 'the heap big brothers' show.' It is the only circus that attracts the red man, and he waits for its yearly appearance as confidently as he awaits the return of spring. In Missoula, Mon., one of our regular stands, fully one-half of the audience is made up of Indians. They come from as far as 200 miles on horseback and even on foot, starting on their long journey days before the circus date and arriving promptly on the morning of the day of exhibition."

"On circus day it is a case of every man for himself with the Indians. The lord of the teepee brings enough trinkets in the shape of moccasins and bows and arrows to peddle around town and in this way gets money for his own admission ticket. His squaw brings willow baskets and has to hustle for her own ticket. They generally come in couples astride of a pony, and if the market is overcrowded with Indian relics they will sell the nag."

"When the show trains arrive in these western towns early in the morning 200 and 300 tents have already been pitched by the Indians, some of which have arrived the night before. Their little colony is almost as interesting as the circus itself. It is a veritable bazaar of relics and papoose exhibitions. While the old squaws are getting breakfast the children are playing games and the chiefs are taking their knickknacks to the market. They are the first ones after the doors of the big tents are opened to land on the blue planks. They fill a good part of the arena, and they never move during the entire performance. Applause is unknown to them. They make a little show of enthusiasm as their brothers in wood in front of the white man's cigar stores. If the trick elephant were to climb the center pole, they would no doubt enjoy the performance, but they would make no more show of surprise than if they were molded from clay. If the performing mule were to walk out on the hippodrome track and make a concert announcement in the Indian tongue, they would only grunt."

"After the show is over the chiefs proceed to fill their skins with the white man's firewater, and the squaws with the papooses wait on the lumber piles till the gray streaks begin to sprout over the hills, when the unsteady train winds out of town over the trail."

"Along the Pacific coast the Chinamen are among the firm friends of the circus people. Like the Indians, they are good patrons of this particular show. In San Francisco at least 50,000

Chinamen saw the circus one season. Some of them came in coaches drawn by handsome horses, and they sat in boxes. Mongolian merchants worth their millions gave matinee parties, the men wearing richly embroidered gowns and the women clad in costly silk cut not in the form of dresses, but as a man wears his broadcloth. At one matinee given in the California city 8,000 Chinese and fully 2,000 Japs attended. The remaining few of the spectators were Americans. The Chinaman is as undemonstrative as the Indian. He expresses his appreciation of the performance by attending time after time.

"Probably the strangest mixture of people that ever attended a circus was found beneath the tent of our show one day at Tucson, A. T., when Indians, Mexicans, greasers, Japs, negroes, Chinamen and a few American cowboys fairly packed the big canvas arena and sat promiscuously mixed over the blue seats. Though the Chinamen and Indians are undemonstrative, the cow punchers, Mexicans and negroes made as much noise that day as was ever made at a frontier massacre. The cowboys yelled like a pack of coyotes when Mme. Noble rode the bucking horse, the Mexicans yelled at every act, and the negroes laughed at the clowns till the earth shook. That night the cowboys and greasers turned the town into a shooting gallery, emptying their revolvers at the stars and manifesting their sorrow at the departure of the circus by licking up all the refreshments in the town.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lincoln's Swear Word.

One story that is told of Lincoln relates to that extreme, correctively critical attitude which Secretary Seward always maintained toward the president.

Mr. Lincoln and the secretary had managed to escape from a man who had been boring them, and as they reached the house the president threw himself into an armchair and exclaimed:

"By Jings, governor, we are here!" Mr. Seward replied by asking in a reproving tone:

"Mr. President, where did you learn that inelegant expression?"

Mr. Lincoln immediately turned to several young men who had entered the room in time to hear the exclamation and said:

"Young gentlemen, excuse me for swearing before you. 'By Jings' is swearing, for my good old mother taught me that anything that had a 'by' before it is swearing. I won't do so any more."—Youth's Companion.

Only Sunburned.

Last summer two little girls in a College avenue family were repeatedly remonstrated with by their indulgent mother for playing bareheaded in the sun. "You will be burned so badly," said she to them finally, "that people will think you are black children." Her warning had little effect, however, and she gave up trying to keep their hats on.

One day she sent them to a neighbor a block or so distant to make some inquiries concerning a washwoman. Mrs. S., the neighbor in question, mistook them for the children of a Mrs. Black who lived in another street nearby.

"You are the little Black children, are you not?" she asked.

"Oh, no," came the prompt response from the elder. "Only sunburned."—Indianapolis News.

The principal features of the recent commencement at Brown university in Providence were the announcement that the desired $2,000,000 endowment had been raised and was increasing every hour and the conferring of the degree of doctor of laws upon Lieutenant General Nelson A. ## THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

Now comes from England a report, confirmatory of one which has been published in this country, that the British government will not oppose the construction of an isthmian canal by this government, to be owned and controlled by the United States. William E. Curtis, the well informed correspondent, now in London, states that the government at Washington has been fully advised concerning the disposition of Great Britain to make a new treaty which will avoid all misunderstandings and will tend to strengthen the friendly relations now existing between the two governments.

It is the belief of Mr. Curtis after sounding the sentiment of various officials of the government that the British people do not care a farthing for the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, that they regard it as an obsolete document and believe that its abrogation would remove what might easily become in the future a source of friction. Great Britain will merely insist upon equal rights and privileges with other nations, as regards the canal. She will neither ask nor expect that the canal remain open to enemies of this government in the time of war.

The greatest obstacle in the way of beginning work on the canal being thus removed, we may expect to see the great undertaking in progress, as soon as congress acts upon the matter. Such action should not be delayed. The commerce of the United States and of the world will be benefited by the interoceanic waterway. The necessity for it, long recognized by this nation, is now greater than ever, with our new Pacific possessions and a rapidly increasing trade with all nations.

THE RUSH OF THE SOONERS.

One is reminded by the stories from Oklahoma of the impetuous rush to Skaguay and over the Chilkoot pass of the horde of gold-seekers who flocked madly toward the Klondike on receipt of the first and exaggerated reports of the fortunes dug from the frozen earth of the north. True, the "sooners," who are now so eager to be first to stake their claims in the rich territory which is to be opened to settlement under the homestead laws on August 6, run no such risk as did the Klondikers, but they are animated by the same spirit. Twenty thousand persons are expected at the land office in one small Oklahoma town on the opening day, and there is a fear that troops and galling gups may be necessary to prevent trouble. Whatever may be the result, there are bound to be thousands of disappointed ones, as in a lottery where the contestants are many and the prizes few. The hope of picking up something of great value without earning it is so strong in the human breast that it leads others beside Oklahoma "sooners" into foolish scrambles. But the restless ones can only be satisfied by the lessons of dearly bought experience.

SOUTHERN EXPANSION.

The new south is thoroughly committed to the policy of industrial expansion. It is building mills and factories and opening new mines. Some of its towns are growing at a rate which would be considered surprising in the north and west, familiar as they are with booms and rapid development. In railroad building the south is now taking the lead. According to the Railway Age, two-thirds of the 1,818 miles of new track that were laid between January 1 and June 30 of the present year were laid in southern states, and prospects are good for a still greater amount of railroad construction in that section during the next year. The south has been behind in some things, one of them being railroads, but it is rapidly catching up. The wave of prosperity in its onward sweep is covering every part of the country. New capital, new blood and new energy are being infused into the south, and the results are becoming more and more apparent.

Carrie Nation's husband stood it as long as he could. He has left his wife and gone to live with his daughter and "spend the rest of his life in peace." It is a reward his patience has earned. "Afflictions sore long time he bore."

Another man proposes to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel. Every day we receive convincing evidence that the fools are not all dead, though they are making diligent efforts to kill themselves off.

East Liverpool has been pretty well favored in the matter of circuses this season. But it has had nothing to compare with John R. McLean's colossal aggregation which is exhibiting in Columbus today.

OBITUARY.

Joseph Scheets.

The death of Joseph Scheets, who lived at Kountz's crossing, near Wellsburg, occurred this morning at 8 o'clock. The deceased until a year ago worked at the printing business in this city. He was afflicted with consumption and a few months ago was taken to a hospital in Cleveland. The treatment did him no good, however. His father, Joseph Scheets, was a wagon maker, but has now retired from business. Both his father and mother are living. The time for the funeral has not been set yet.

Mrs. James McCord.

Mrs. James McCord, aged 65 years, died at her home near West Point Monday evening. She has resided in that neighborhood for a number of years and was well known. Three sons and one daughter, Mrs. John Mundry, Jesse, John and Elmer, who resides in this city. The funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock from her late home and interment was made at Bethel church.

The Florida Razorback.

The Florida "razorback" is the hog indigenous to this climate and soil. He is usually large of limb and feet of foot, being the only known porker that can outrun a dandy. He has a tail of wondrous length, which, while he is in active motion, he twists into the tightest corkscrew, but with which while quietly feeding he raps his leathery sides much in the same manner that the docile cow uses her tail.

He is self supporting. He earns his own living and thrives equally well in the highwoods, in the flatwoods, in the hummocks and in the marshes. He subsists upon anything he can find above the earth or underneath its surface. He has a clear, farseeing eye and is very sensitive of hearing. Nature has equipped him with a snout almost as long as the beak of the wild pelican of Borneo, with which he can penetrate the earth many inches in quest of worms, snakes and insects.

He is the most intelligent of all the hogs and is likewise the most courageous. He has been known to engage in mortal combat with a coon for the possession of a watermelon and to read asunder a barbed wire fence.—Forest and Stream.

Hints For Smokers.

Here is a good tip for a smoker: The best pipe grows foul sometimes, and the various patent cleaning devices are of little use in making it fresh. But if you pack the bowl tight with grass or hay and lay the pipe aside for a few days you will have it as sweet as when it was new. Talking about smoking, here is a good idea for lighting matches: Don't light them on your trousers, for you'll burn slits in them, nor on your shoe soles, for you'll rub the heads off. The plan is to rub them on a piece of paper—a folded newspaper, an envelope, a ticket. The silica in the paper acts like sandpaper.

Many people can't smoke a dozen cigarettes without getting a sore throat. Inevitably cigarette smokers are frequently troubled with a perpetual cold in the head. It is not the smoke that is to blame, but the dust. Now, if you use a cigarette tube—amber, cherry or cardboard—a tiny bit of cotton wool in the bottom of it will catch every particle of dust. Try this, and you'll have no more sore throats. But you may not enjoy the smoke.—Exchange.

THE BRIDE ELECT

LEARNS HOW TO COOK AND DAIN-TILY SERVE VEGETABLES.

The Kindly Fruits of the Earth Attractively Prepared—Many Little Knacks and Unwritten Laws—An Air of Distinction.

When the bride to be turned her attention to making vegetables ready for the table, she found a new field open to her. The unkindly fashion in which the kindly fruits of the earth are prepared for eating had never particularly impressed her until she saw how different they were when properly treated. "A little kindness," she murmured, shredding her string beans or chopping

It must be owned that the curl paper side of the business especially appealed to Ruth. She liked to find out pretty ways of serving commonplace vegetables so that they might appear almost like new products of the soil. She did not despise the simpler processes, of course. She took a pride in beating enough milk and butter and energy into white potatoes to make them look like whipped cream and in cooking rice—a cupful well washed—in two or three quarts of salted boiling water until the grains were soft, yet firm, and then drying it in a colander so that each kernel stood apart from every other.

Ruth found that vegetables were too often spoiled by a lack of proper draining and by being sent to the table lukewarm. When she had poured every drop of water from her peas, string beans, lima beans or squash, dressed them with butter, salt and pepper and kept them very hot until they were served, they were bound to be good.

Many little knacks Ruth found out when she tried some of her book learned ideas in the cookery of vegetables. She discovered that she could boil cauliflower and cabbage without making the house unbearable for the rest of the day if she put the vegetable over the fire in cold water to which she had added a pinch of baking soda and left the saucepan uncovered all the time it was on the stove. As a rule about 20 minutes' cookery was required after the water reached the boil—that is, if the vegetables were young.

New potatoes she learned to put on to boil in hot water and old potatoes in cold. To keep the color of green vegetables she added to them a pinch of baking soda, and besides doing this to her spinach she decided that it cooked to great advantage in a double boiler than directly over the fire. String beans were better when she split them lengthwise, besides stringing them and cutting them into inch long pieces.

All this it was necessary to learn, and Ruth enjoyed it, as she did all household experiences. But after all her chief pleasure in vegetable cookery lay in making them into pretty dishes.

Such a dish was made by hollowing out a cabbage into a shell, the heart being used for coldsaw or some other dish, and heaping the inside with chicken croquets or veal olives or balls of corned beef hash or anything else of the sort. This cabbage shell could be used more than once if the cabbage had been carefully selected and if it were kept in a cool place between its periods of service. The withered edges of the leaves could be clipped judiciously just before the dish went to the table, so that it would at least look fresh, and as it was not to be eaten there was no harm done if it had a little passed its first youth.

In addition to this sort of thing Ruth practiced various dainty ways of sending vegetables to table, which by increasing their attractiveness to the eye intensified it to the palate. Her boiled, baked or fried potatoes were always served on a small napkin, and for the last named or for other dry, fried things, like eggplants, croquettes and fritters, she had small squares made of damask that would better stand the soaking and washing requisite to the removing of grease than the ordinary fringed dolly.

served either in tiny china nappies or in paper cases. When this was done, the vegetable had an air of distinction that often made it worthy to appear alone, as an entree, and take the place of the soup or the salad, or when an extra course was desired for company the dish came in as a vegetable entree between the soup and the meat, says The New Idea Woman's Magazine in concluding this little tale, a bride elect's experience in acquiring housewifely knowledge.

Health and Beauty

For generations women have been taught that "beauty is only skin deep," but, like many proverbs, that will not stand. Beauty is blood deep. There can be no beauty without health. Our grandmothers lived closer to nature than we do, and they were so sheltered by their home life that health and beauty were theirs naturally. Skin foods, freckle lotions and face bleaches were unknown commodities. But there has been a great change in the life of women since then. With broader education and larger opportunities, she has developed mentally at the expense of her health. From the quiet duties of home she has gone forth until now we find her in many avocations of life, which prove too great a tax on her vitality. How sad it is to see the cheek robbed of its color and the eye of its fire. These symptoms nearly always show derangements in the delicate feminine organism. They don't call for bleaches or paints or powders, but for a remedy that will make the afflicted organs strong and well. Wine of Cardui is just such a remedy. Women broken in health and spirit have been made healthy and happy by this Wine. No one should give up to the "blues" until this reliable remedy has been tried. It has proven a blessing to other women and will not disappoint you. It brings that buoyancy of spirit, elasticity of step and lightness of heart which is the corner stone of beauty. A healthy woman is always beautiful.

Westville, February 4, 1900.
I feel that I must say a few words in praise of the Ladies' greatest friend, Wine of Cardui. It is the most wonderful remedy that I ever tried. I have been a sufferer for years, at times being confined to my bed two or three days each month. A friend recommended Wine of Cardui, and since I have taken it I have been greatly relieved. I intend to continue to take it, for I know it is as recommended. I will use every effort to get others to use it. Mrs. MARY E. COOLEY.

AN EXCITING BLAZE

FLAMES LICKED UP COXEY'S RESTAURANT IN SHORT ORDER.

Building Was Owned By John Schrader—Bridge Was Ablaze For a Time.

The need of having some kind of fire protection at Chester was shown last night when the building on First street owned by John Schrader was entirely consumed by flames.

The building was occupied by J. S. Coxe who runs a restaurant. At about 10 o'clock a gasoline stove exploded. In a very few minutes the building was in flames and a clerk whose name could not be learned barely had time to get his coat and make his escape. As there was a brisk wind blowing the flame ignited two telephone poles and the first street bridge. The residents turned out in numbers and every available washtub and bucket was pressed into service and the fire on the bridge extinguished before much damage was done.

The foundation and a chimney are all that is left of the building. A large crowd from East Liverpool and Chester soon congregated and when a large quantity of bottled goods began to explode they thought it was again the Fourth. Coxe's loss will amount to about $1,600 and Schrader's will be $1,800, both partially covered by insurance.

A STACK OF HAY

The Cause of a Novel Lawsuit Before Squire Johnston at Chester.

A stack of hay is the cause of a law suit which is being tried in Justice Johnson's court today. Last February William and Arch Severs purchased the hay from C. O. Niswonger and they failed to take it away. They refused to pay the $20, the amount of the hay but told Niswonger to sell it. This he refused to do, hence the suit.

The case is being heard by a jury and at the time of going to press no decision had been reached. E. A. Hart of New Cumberland is attorney for the plaintiff and E. D. Marshall for the defendants.

Eight Hundred Picknickers.

A train consisting of 15 coaches and carrying about 800 people of the Mt. Washington (Pittsburg) Presbyterian churches arrived in Chester this morning at 10 o'clock. The people enjoyed themselves during the day and will leave at 7 o'clock for their homes.

Night Trip to Hookstown.

A number of people from East Liverpool and Chester held a hay party at Hookstown last night. They arrived at Hookstown at 10 o'clock and went to the Southernland hotel, where a fine lunch was served. They started for home at 1 o'clock and arrived at an early hour this morning.

There can be only "one greatest show" and that one can only be the great Forepaugh & Sells' circus, which exhibits here Friday, July 19. ## A REMARKABLE DUEL

BOTH OF THE PARTICIPANTS WERE QUICK ON THE TRIGGER.

An Enforced Parade Preceded the Gun Play, Which Was on the Pull and Shoot Order—Why Bratton Was Glad He Lost His Right Hand.

"The most affectionate looking two handed gun play that I ever saw," said a Colorado gentleman in one of the house committee rooms, "was the one that happened at La Junta, in my state, between 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, as pizenish a pair of real bad men of the type that has now passed away as ever fanned a 45 or twisted a Bowie.

"Gannon was the proprietor of the Gilt Edge honkatank in La Junta, and it was at this place that he had some trouble with Bratton. The argument ended by Bratton backing out of the door with his hands up, Gannon having the drop. Gannon didn't shoot then because his gun wasn't loaded. He had been cleaning it and had forgotten to replace the cartridges. He'd have killed Bratton otherwise as a matter of course.

"That same night Bratton sent word to Gannon that he meditated shooting him up some on the following day. Gannon wasn't a man to take to the cliffs or the cactus, having plenty of notches on his gun barrel himself, and he walked around the next afternoon like a light battery of artillery. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton bulged him, however, by turning a corner suddenly as Gannon paraded down the main street, and then it was Gannon's hands that went up for a change. Bratton had two guns covering him, and Gannon knew his gait.

"This," said Bratton, "is where I get an even break for my coin. Now, you like me so much, Gannon, that I want you to sort of show your appreciation of me by walkin' around town linked arms with me for awhile."

"It was up to Gannon to comply with this peculiar request. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton jabbed his guns back into his belt, and then he clutched Gannon's left arm and passed it through his right. The disadvantage of this arrangement accrued to Bratton. It left Gannon's gun arm free, while in case of argument Bratton would have to use his left gun. But 'Big Divide Jim' wasn't selfish.

"The population of La Junta was amazed to see 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, who had always been more or less sore on each other and who had had a quarrel that meant the death of one or both of them on the night before, walking arm in arm up and down the main street of the town. It looked like a peripatetic love feast between the two of 'em. But they were watching each other like cats. At the end of the street Bratton, still with his right arm linked to Gannon's left, stopped suddenly and said:

"George, I ain't much on the blow about any gun suddenness that I may possess, but I sure want to give you a chance. You thrung it into me last night in a way that's eat up so much of the atmosphere around here that there's not enough air left in this neighborhood for both of us to breathe at one and the same time. I'm a-goin' to count three, and when I say 'three' it's a breakaway and a finish. You've got a loose right arm, but I ain't no hog. One—two—three!"

"The event proved 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton the quicker man and the better marksman. He got Gannon through the heart, whereas Gannon's ball lodged in Bratton's right wrist. Bratton had to suffer his right hand to be cut off that same night.

"The last time I saw him was in Creede. He was sitting on the edge of a bunk in his own cabin, close to a claim he was working. I hadn't seen him since he'd lost his hand.

"Oh, I don't know," said Bratton philosophically. "If I'd ha' lost my left, I wouldn't have been able to play the fiddle any more."

"He reached under his bunk and brought forth an old violin. Then he rigged up an attachment he had for holding the bow in his right stump, and he played the instrument real sweetly for me for half an hour or so.

"I couldn't have done no fingerin' if I'd ha' lost my left hook, you know," he said simply when he put the old fiddle away."—Washington Post.

The Result of His Study.

"I suppose you have made a study of human nature," remarked the friend. "I attribute my success in life to that fact," answered Senator Sorghum. "Were you ever tempted to give the world the benefit of your observations, to put them into book form as a human comedy or something of that sort?"

"My dear sir, it wouldn't take a book to do it. I have figured on the problem of human nature until I know the answer. I should just say, 'Human nature loves money,' and let it go at that."—Exchange.

What Was Needed.

Henry Ward Beecher used to tell a story about a priest in the olden time who was called to bless the field of a poor farmer prior to the planting. He came and after surveying the soil remarked to the agriculturist, "Praying won't do here; what you want is manure."

DOC NUISANCE PROBLEM

Heddleston occupied the chair. Tranquility characterized the session, and what little business came up before the solons was properly and quickly attended to. At the last meeting of council Clerk Hanley was absent, McLane having acted in his place. He had neglected to record the minutes of the meeting in the clerk's book, and some dissatisfaction was expressed regarding the oversight.

The only ordinance brought up was one providing for the issuing of bonds for the improvement of Pennsylvania avenue and Kossuth street and another for the improvement of West Market. They were placed on first reading.

Clerk Hanley read the reports for the month ending July 8 from the fire and police departments. Chief Morley's report showed that the department had answered four fire calls; 25 patrol calls and five ambulance calls, making a total of 34. Thirty-five prisoners were conveyed to the city prison. Mayor Davidson's report recorded the sum of $129.40, which had been collected for fines and licenses. Marshal Thompson's report showed that 63 arrests had been made.

A resolution was passed providing for the removal of bodies from the lots in the old cemetery, recently leased to the Hospital association. The resolution stipulates that all persons having relatives or friends in the cemetery remove the bodies within ten days after notice is given.

The pay ordinance was next taken up, but before it was passed the following bills left over by the claims committee were included: Ceramic City Light Co., $4.50; A. Trotter & Son, $14.75; Trump Printing Co., $27; A. C. Chafin, $22.50; James Rinehart, $300 on account on the improvement of Pleasant street; Thomas McLaughlin, $3,000 on account on the improvement on Pennsylvania avenue.

Clerk Hanley read two propositions, one from C. W. Heverly and the other from George Phillips regarding the building of the proposed stone wall along Calcutta road. Phillips' price was $3.30 per perch and Heverly wanted $3.40. The contract was not awarded.

A communication was received from N. U. Walker at Jethro, stating that he was willing to sell a strip of land near the viaduct which the city has been negotiating for. The matter was referred to the solicitor.

Solicitor Gaston reported that he had collected from the East Liverpool Railway company the sum of money, asked of the city for the paving done in the Diamond, which had been torn up by the street railway people.

Mayor Davidson stated that he had been complained to by many citizens who asked for an explanation as to the failure of the street lights to be kept burning on Saturday nights. Heddleston explained that new machinery had been received at the power house and that while the lights were turned off the men at work there were engaged in placing the machinery in position. After next Saturday the lights will burn regularly.

On motion of Thomas the session adjourned.

CARDLAND.

The Games That Were Played in the Eighteenth Century.

After the advent of the house of Hanover the favorite games at court were "quadrille," an improvement of "ombre," and "commerce." The gains and losses of the kings and queens were, as a rule, restricted to 100 guineas, but on Twelfth Night it was customary for thousands to change hands. On one occasion Lady Cowper, a lady in waiting, refused for the sake of her children to take part in the game, as none sat down to the table with less than £200.

About the year 1740 a rage for "whisk," or whisk, set in, but at first it was considered too wise a game for ladies to join in. Hume, the historian, never went to bed without his whisk, and even the great Johnson regretted that he had not learned to play cards. In 1742 "Horry" Walpole finds it absolutely necessary to learn "whisk," "having waited in vain for its being left off." We find him in another letter threatening to build an altar to "Pam" to commemorate the escape of his charming Duchess of Grafton, who, it appears, had been playing cards in Rome when she ought to have been at a cardinal's reception, where the floor fell in and all the monsignores were precipitated into the cellar!

Cards were so very much in evidence in his time that even invitations were frequently issued and notes written up on the backs of playing cards, which on that account were usually plain, without any design. The chevalier's famous order to retreat at Culoden was written on the back of the nine of hearts.

A fresh attempt was made in 1739 to remedy the state of gambling in England by passing an act which provided that "any person keeping a house or other place to game in forfeits £200, half to the prosecutor and half to the poor of the parish," whereupon two ladies of title, Mordington and Cassells, who keep open houses for gambling, claimed their privilege of peerage in order to intimidate the peace officers from doing their duty and suppressing the public gaming houses by them.—Longman's Magazine.

Busy Days In Kansas

WHAT'S the matter with Kansas? Nothing, absolutely nothing, except that the Sunflower State is probably just about this time the busiest spot of its size on the globe. Kansas is getting in her wheat crop. The world has never seen another such wheat crop, for, according to many estimates, 100,000,000 bushels will be found to be the size of it when the returns are all in. Kansas had a very fair crop of wheat last year, one of

Kansas' wheat crop of 1901 is large enough if sold at the average rate of 60 cents a bushel to give to almost every man, woman and child in the United States a $1 bill. If the crop were placed in box cars on a single track, it would reach from Wichita to Chicago and back again, with a few miles to spare. If the crop were evenly divided among all the farmers of the state, it would give to each man $1,000. The yield of wheat in the Sunflower State during the past three years has brought enough money into the state to cover its entire area with $2 bills. And Kansas has not yet stopped. She intends to surpass in future years even the truly enormous crop of this year.

It is impossible to speak of the great mass of grain without resorting to convincing figures. During harvest time, which extends from the latter part of May until far into July, the income of the collective Kansas farmer is $1,000,000 a day. Every minute he is growing richer by a thousand good American and foreign dollars. In many parts a 500 acre field yields from $300 to $500 a day. In some cases the farmer gets more from one acre of ground at a single cutting BINDERS AT WORK. When the land is worth. Kansas is still "bleeding Kansas," but the flow is money in an unbroken stream. The money obtained from the sale of the wheat is not, of course, all profit. The following are the average expenses of wheat raising in Kansas per acre: Plowing and harrowing, $1; seeding and drilling, $1.50; cutting, $1.25; thrashing, $1.75; hauling, $1.50. The total of the expenses is $7. Out in western Kansas the yield will average this year about 16 bushels an acre, while in southern and central Kansas it will reach 25.

How the Sunflower State Is Harvesting Its $60,000,000 Wheat Crop

the great crop Kansas has need of many men. Just how many is not exactly known, but at least 15,000 workers have already entered the state. For some time every train that has entered Kansas has been loaded to its full capacity with men bound for the wheatfields. Most of them are willing to work, but some are unable to stand the long exposure to the sun while doing hard labor. Last year 10,000 green men were imported into Kansas to work at the crop, and fully one-third of them succumbed to sunstroke. Of course when there is a dearth of labor the farmer cannot be particular in his choice of men, but must take the best that are offered. Oftentimes the hiring of inexperienced hands leads to serious loss, since the stopping of a binder in a field of wheat when it is dead ripe may mean the loss of hundreds of dollars a day.

One farmer in Barton county carried out last year a plan by which outside help was done away with. He has, however, two grown up sons. In September of the year before they commenced sowing wheat. This was kept up, planting 100 acres every month until January. In May the first crop was ready to harvest, and in September he was just rounding out his harvest and starting in to plant again. Thus he and his sons handled the entire crop and were employed the year around. He saved the expense of 20 hands, and his wheat crop netted him, it is said, $7,000 clear.

Those of the harvest hands who are willing and industrious and able to stand the strain of toiling under the hot sun take home with them besides sound and healthy bodies a goodly number of dollars each. The scale of wages paid is about as follows, with possible local variations: Single men, with headers, $1.50 per day; single men, shocking after self binders, $1.75; single men, stacking, $2 to $2.50, according to work. These prices include board and lodging. Men with teams earn from $3 to $3.50 a day, with board for men and teams. The harvest work lasts from 20 to 25 days. Thrashing begins immediately after harvest and continues from 90 to 100 days. About the same number of men are required to assist in thrashing as in harvesting, and about the same scale of wages is paid.

Among the men are frequently seen city chaps, who take this method of spending a short time on the farm for the fun of the thing. Another interesting feature is the presence of women, side by side with men, doing their full share of the work. The Kansas girl has shown before this that she is fully able, when outside help fails, to come to the rescue of the crop.

The influx of settlers to the Kansas wheat belt has raised the price of land wonderfully. Land which in 1892 sold for $500 a quarter section cannot now be had for $3,000. Around Wichita, which is the center of the Kansas wheat belt, a fairly well improved farm can scarcely be had for less than $4,000 or $5,000. It is stated that within a radius of 100 miles from Wichita 60 per cent of the Kansas wheat crop is harvested, while in 17 counties one-half of the whole state crop is grown. In some of the northern counties no wheat is to be found.

The Kansas town which ships most wheat is Clifton, in Barton county, the very center of the state. From there 2,000 cars of the cereal were shipped in 1900. Clifton is in the "short grass country," which formerly raised little but sunflowers. Now it grows lots of wheat and other things besides a great crop of sturdy, happy, prosperous Kansans.

Man's Torture.

Dr. Arbutnot suffered in later life from an agonizing malady, yet when some lady was complaining of the sufferings of women he humorously replied, "Yes, the ladies suffer greatly in some particulars, but there is not one of you who undergoes the torture of being shaved three times a week."

A BANQUET TO CLARK,

GIVEN SILVER LOVING CUP.

Cincinnati, July 10.—The fourth day of the conference of the Christian Endeavor society was a light one, so far as the program was concerned, but the Endeavorers, in their determination to miss nothing, were out en masse in attendance at the two big meetings. At the last moment the three big Music hall rallies were consolidated into two meetings, which were held in Auditorium Endeavor and Winston. This same arrangement, in all probability, will hold good during today, and the third meeting, which is scheduled for Auditorium Ohio, will be dispensed with. Auditorium Endeavor, and Winston are amply sufficient to accommodate the Endeavorers. Five of the prominent speakers are absent, owing to illness. These are Rev. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. George D. Purves and Rev. Charles C. Hall, of New York; Rev. John Henry Barrows, of Oberlin, O., and Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago.

Quiet Hour Meetings Held.

After the usual two quiet hour meetings Tuesday morning, which open every day's program, the big auditoriums were thrown open for a discussion of "The Twentieth Century Church." Rev. Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, presided at the Auditorium Endeavor, assisted by C. F. Jacobs as musical director. Rev. Mr. Stranahan, of Sabino, led the devotional services, and Mr. Marian Lawrence, of Toledo, delivered an address on "The Power of the Sunday School." Rev. Howard W. Pope, of New Haven, Conn., spoke at length on "The Power of Personal Work." Rev. A. J. Lyman, of Brooklyn, spoke on "The Power of the Bible." Dr. Amos B. Wells, of Boston, expatiated on "The Power of Christian Endeavor." Mr. William Phillips Hall, of New York, followed with a paper on "The Power of Evangelism." The chief address, however, was that of Principal Booker T. Washington, of the colored normal school at Tuskegee, Ala. He took as his subject "The Power of a Noble Life."

In Auditorium Williston, where Rev. Mr. Philpott, of Indianapolis, presided, a number of addresses, limited to five minutes, were made by the following preachers: J. H. Frugh, Pittsburgh; J. S. Henderson, Hensall, Ont.; L. A. Barnes, Morgantown, W. Va.; Henry W. Sherwood, Kingston, N. Y.; Charles M. Sheldon, of Topeka. They spoke on "Sunday Evening Service." Rev. Johnson Myers, of Chicago, told of "The Church of the Twentieth Century." Rev. Wayland Hoyt, of Philadelphia, followed in a talk on "Christian Conventions," which he said are of great use to the church.

Miss Margaret Koch, of Waterville, Me., conducted a personal equipment conference at the Ninth Street Baptist church, taking as her topic "The Relation of Expression to Power in Christian Endeavor Work."

The members of the board of trustees and other officers of the United society, gave a banquet to President Clark, at the Grand hotel, at noon. He was presented with a beautiful silver loving cup in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor. In the afternoon Dr. Clark attended the congregational rally at the Walnut Hills Congregational church, where the Hon. Samuel E. Capen, of Boston, presented him with an immense memorial, signed by over 200 of the leading educators, editors, clergy and business men in the United States, as an expression of thankfulness and appreciation for the work Dr. Clark has done in organizing and guiding the Christian Endeavor.

Annual Junior Rally Held.

The annual Junior rally was held in Auditorium Endeavor in the afternoon. Treasurer William Shaw, of Boston, presided, and Prof. Palmer Hartsough, of Cincinnati, led the chorus of 1,500 children. Secretary John Willis Baer addressed the meeting on "Six P's" (each in a pod, which he said, when applied to ethics, stand for politeness, patriotism, punctuality, practicability, perseverance and prayerfulness. Then followed numerous airs by the Junior Endeavorers of the local churches and the children of several orphan asylums.

The older Endeavorers spent the afternoon in their respective denominational conferences, of which there were 26, and which were held in the various churches in the city. Last evening was devoted to receptions and rallies at the various state headquarters.

WAGE CONFERENCE OCCURS TOMORROW.

Pittsburg, July 10.—One question only will come before the conference of the national executive committee of the Amalgamated association with the officials of the American Tinplate company, the American Sheet Steel company and the American Steel Hoop company when they convene tomorrow morning at the Hotel Lincoln—the signing of the scale for all mills of the respective companies. "We do not ask the gentlemen to meet us as the representatives of the United States Steel corporation on Thursday," said President Shaffer last night. "This meeting will be simply to reach a settlement on our demand that the three companies sign the scale for all mills."

MILLION DOLLAR COAL DEAL.

Jamison Coal and Coke Company Buys 2,300 Acres in Westmoreland County.

Greensburg, Pa., July 10.—The Jamison Coal and Coke company, of this town, with a purchase made now own the largest body of coal owned by any independent company in Western Pennsylvania. The company has just closed a deal for 2,300 acres of coal in Salem and Hempfield townships, practically acquiring the entire Pittsburg seam of coal north of the Pennsylvania railroad in this county. The consideration was $1,118,000. A modern plant, consisting of structural steel tipples, shaft, railroad siding, etc., will be erected at once, and employment will be given to 1,500 men. The company's holdings now consist of 4,500 acres of land. Two big plants are in operation. It is understood that Pittsburg capitalists are interested in the late deal.

The Wilkinsburg Ice company purchased a big block of coal near Export, the terminus of the Turtle Creek Valley railroad. A mine may be opened in about a month and employment given to about 150 miners.

BOER LANDS IN AMERICA.

A Prisoner Got Away From British Guards and Jumped Into the Ocean.

New York, July 10.—One of the Boer prisoners recently taken to Darrells Island, Bermuda, from South Africa, was a stowaway on the steamer Trinidad, which arrived here. His name is William S. Duploy.

Last Friday he saw a chance to escape and threw himself into the water. He floated about for hours till two Bermudian fishermen took him aboard and landed him at Hamilton. There he eluded pursuit and got aboard the Trinidad, hiding in the coal bunkers. He remained there during the trip of the vessel to this port.

Duploy was arraigned before the special board of inquiry. The young man admitted that he had escaped from the British military prison at Bermuda. He said that he came prepared to earn his own livelihood and there was no chance of his becoming a public charge. His case was deferred until his friends can be heard from. He was sent back to Ellis Island for detention.

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED.

Big Four Express Collided With a Freight on the Lake Shore.

Frank Anderson, engineer of the passenger train, of Buffalo, and C. C. McCullen, of Cincinnati, mail clerk, were killed. The injured are: Fireman William Elliott, of Buffalo; W. M. Baker, of Columbus, mail clerk; E. F. Loveless, Cincinnati, mail clerk, and two unknown tramps. At least one person is believed to be buried under the wreck. The roadbed and the two tracks were torn up for quite a distance and the embankment will have to be repaired before the track can be relaid.

CHINESE CLAIM

INDEMNITY FROM AMERICA. The outrages date back to 1886.

Ex-Soldier Accused of Murder.

Kansas City, Mo., July 10.—John Howard, a private in company D, Forty-third volunteer infantry, and whose home is at Roanoke, Va., was arrested here on the arrival of the Santa Fe train from the west, charged with shooting a man named Gibbons, at Hutchinson, Kan. Gibbons, who is not expected to survive his injuries, lives at Chillicothe, Mo., and was on his way home after having worked in the harvest fields in Kansas. Howard's story of the shooting makes it uncertain whether he or some other soldier shot Gibbons.

After a Struggle.

"Georgie," said a fond mother to a little 4-year-old, "you must take the umbrella to school with you, or you will get wet. It rains hard." "I want the little one," he said, meaning the parasol. "No, my dear. That is for dry weather. You must take this and go like a good boy." Georgie did as he was bid and got to school comfortably. After school hours it had stopped raining, and Georgie trudged home with the remnants of the umbrella under his arm. "Oh, Georgie, what have you been doing with my umbrella?" said his mother when she saw the state it was in.

ton; Richard Herbert, 9, East Liverpool; John Gould, 31, East Palestine; John Shrader, 6, Wheeling; Ashley Lee Dodd, 7, Tiffin; Charles Dorff, 12, East Liverpool.

The invitation extended by the East Liverpool base ball team for the delegates to attend the game at the West End park Thursday afternoon was received and action upon the same deferred until Thursday morning, in order that the members of the convention may be able to judge whether or not they can afford to spare the time.

When President Hughes called for the presentation of resolutions at the afternoon session, the result was a deluge of the missives, almost swamping the secretaries.

When they were all in and the count was made it was found that 23 resolutions had been handed in, and although it is impossible at this time to ascertain the character and import of the various motions in resolution form, there is no doubt that the matters contained in them are of more or less importance to the trades represented.

From the statements of several of the leading members in attendance at the convention it was learned that this batch was among the most important with which the convention would be called upon to wrestle. This is easily accounted for on account of the fact that a great many of the delegates came here with the resolutions tucked away where they could be produced at once. Among the resolutions presented yesterday are those prepared by the locals at home. They contain propositions which have confronted the Brotherhood members in the shop and have been taken into the local there to be discussed and talked over, finally resulting in a resolution to be brought before the parent body.

The resolutions yet to come will for the most part be brief and will be presented by members of the convention, who feel the necessity for their passage on account of the effect questions previously acted upon will have upon their respective trades.

The session ended at about 4:30 and was a very busy one, going to show that the disposition to do business and to have no trifling had taken possession of the whole convention.

When the roll was called in this morning's session of the national convention very few absentees were noted and the advice of President Hughes in the report submitted yesterday has apparently been taken to heart.

The minutes of the preceding session were read and approved, after which a report was heard from the laws committee. A resolution presented yesterday afternoon which provided for an increase of the initiation fee for new members in the locals had been referred to this committee and this morning they reported favorably upon the same.

The convention adopted the resolution and after January 1, 1902, it will cost the person seeking admission into the organization just twice as much as it does at the present time. This matter had been discussed locally for a long time and the feeling was general that the fee should be increased.

In a resolution yesterday the members of the executive committee had laid before the convention their plan for the more thorough organization of the east.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Wheeling convention had authorized certain of the officials to use every means to induce the easterners to come in, very little was accomplished along this line. It is said that the present plan was formed only after long hours of deliberation on the part of the executive board and is practically this: That the position of vice president be made a salaried one and that he be known as an organizer. The recommendation of the board, it is said, provides a good salary for the incumbent, and will enable him to spend his entire time in the work. His headquarters will be in Trenton, and should the plan be adopted, good results are expected to accrue to the Brotherhood.

The resolution was referred to the committee on state of the order, and they reported back to the convention this morning recommending its adoption.

A discussion lasting several hours was indulged in, and at the adjournment for dinner no action had been taken and the question was still under discussion. It was taken up when the convention was convened at 2 o'clock and will probably be disposed of this afternoon.

A large number of new resolutions were presented this morning and referred to their respective committees. It was stated that a movement was on foot to change the manner of selecting and the number of members to comprise the executive board, but it was stated that while it was not unlikely a number of plans would be suggested to accomplish this in the form of resolutions, and it may be that a change will be made, yet no definite action was taken today.

No arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the delegates this evening, but there is a disposition to attend to business and get away as soon as possible, and the absence of a program for the entertainment of the visitors will not be noticed.

SANITARY WORKERS

WANT ATTENTION FROM BROTHERHOOD AND WILL GET IT.

Scale of Prices And Regulations to Be Provided—Caucus on Plan of Campaign.

There is little doubt that when the convention of the National Brotherhood, in session here this week, has finished its work the sanitary workers of the United States will have been provided for in the way of a scale of prices and also in the matter of regulations to control their trade.

The operatives engaged in the production of general ware in this particular district know very little of the conditions surrounding the sanitary trade, and for that reason have not taken the trouble to post themselves.

Recently the men engaged in the making of sanitary ware have awakened to the necessity of bringing about something in their own behalf that will at least place them upon a footing equal to that of other trades in the general ware line.

On January 4, 1900, the first break was made toward the affiliation of the sanitary potters with the National Brotherhood. This was brought about by an agitation started by one of President Hughes' visits to the east. The sanitary people of Trenton realized that the Brotherhood was fast taking the foremost place among the organizations representing the pottery trades, and in order to have a substantial and influential head, asked to be made part of the N. B. of O. P. Their request was granted and on the date mentioned above the sanitary potters of Trenton were organized into what is now local union No. 45. Not long afterward locals of the sanitary trade were organized in Bordentown, N. J., Wheeling, Tiffin and Kokomo.

These subordinate unions contain some of the best material in the Brotherhood and have, during the 18 months they have been affiliated with it, been connected with some of the hardest tasks and most important work of the organization.

For a time they were content to let matters take their own course, but they have now reached a stage in their existence through their loyalty to the organization and the vast amount of good hard work performed in its behalf, where they come prepared to ask legislation that will at least indicate that they are a part of the Brotherhood.

Accordingly many of the sanitary workers from the different localities have come to this meeting armed with resolutions covering their requests, and it is likely they will go through.

It was thought by many of the most prominent workmen among the trades that much valuable time could be saved by making a united move, and embodying all their requests in a few well prepared documents, instead of having them come in from all quarters. The plants engaged in the manufacture of this class of ware are so widely separated that regulations which would benefit one would not apply in any particular to another, so it was thought best to get together for a discussion of the various questions and act together.

The sanitary men caucused last night, and when they were through a very thorough understanding was arrived at as to how they should be placed. The meeting was an interesting one, since representatives were present from very district in the United States. The several questions considered at the meeting were made clear to all, and it is now thought that should the convention act favorably upon the requests of the sanitary workers the trade will be greatly benefited.

FOR THE VISITORS

PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT FOR TOMORROW EVENING.

An Interesting Program to Be Carried Out at Rock Springs Park.

One of the most pleasing features in connection with the present convention will be the entertainment arranged for the visitors, their friends and members of the Brotherhood generally at Rock Springs tomorrow evening.

The entertainment committee has been at work on this outing for several days, and Chairman Orr and his men have now completed all of the details.

The program is as follows: Selection—Orchestra. Vocal solo—Arthur Taylor. Solo—William McKeever. Recitation—James Ward. Club swinging—Charles Zang. Selection—C. C. Quartet. Imitations—Prof. Joseph Herrington.

Couldn't Find the Corkscrew.

They live pretty well out, in a handsome home, but not near enough to a fire station to be "handy in case of accident." As the house is their own and their all the husband had been somewhat in terror of a blaze for some time. So he laid in a stock of hand grenades, those little glass bottles which are supposed to put out any fire that may start.

One day the blaze came. The cook started it in the kitchen. Then she fled howling to her room and began to pack her trunk. The wife prides herself on her ability to keep her head, so first she stepped to the telephone and turned in the alarm, and then she went for the hand grenades.

When the fire department did arrive, the men found her standing over the sideboard rummaging through the drawers. Copious streams of water soon drowned the blaze and ruined the lower floor, and the department left. Still she rummaged. Her husband came, called by the phone girl. He saw her there.

"Why, my dear girl," he said, "why didn't you use the hand grenades and stop the fire as soon as it started? Then the whole lower part of the house wouldn't have been soaked."

"John," she responded icily, "if you would just keep the corkscrew where it belongs, I could use the horrid old grenades. But it is gone, and how was I to open them?"—Kansas City Journal.

The Grand Medicine Man.

The ceremony of the Grand Medicine is an elaborate ritual, covering several days, the endless number of gods and spirits being called upon to minister to the sick man and to lengthen his life. The several degrees of the Grand Medicine teach the use of incantations, of medicines and poisons, and the requirements necessary to constitute a brave.

When a young man seeks admission to the Grand Medicine lodge, he first fasts until he sees in his dream some animal, the mink, beaver, otter and fisher being most common, which he hunts and kills. The skin is then ornamented with beads or porcupine quills, and the spirit of the animal becomes the friend and companion of the man.

In olden times—yes, to within the memory of living Ojibways—the medicine man at the funeral ceremony thus addressed the departed: "Dear friend, you will not feel lonely while pursuing your journey toward the setting sun. I have killed for you a Sioux, [hated enemy of the Ojibways], and I have scalped him. He will accompany you and provide for you, hunting your food as you need it. The scalp I have taken—use it for your moccasins."—Open Court.

FROM A FIRE OF APPLE WOOD.

Through wind swept sheets of driven rain
The ancient orchard shows forlorn,
Like brave old soldiery half slain,
With gaps to tell the losses borne.

And fragments of the fallen trees
Burn on the hearth before me bright;
The fire their captive spirit frees,
Musing, I watch it take its flight.

How swift the flames of gold and blue
Up from the glowing logs aspire!
There yellow bird and bluebird flew
And oriole, each with wings of fire.

Now in the hearth light, on the trees,
Stirs something they and I have heard.
Ah, is it not the summer breeze
Come back to us with sun and bird?

Poor summers, born again—to die!
Quickly as they have come they go.
See, where the ashes smoldering lie,
The orchard floor is white with snow.

Wonderful Stones.

The brain of the tortoise was supposed to contain a wonderful stone which was efficacious in extinguishing fire and when placed under the tongue would produce prophetic inspiration. Another stone possessing the latter property was to be found in the eye of the hyena. The head of the cat, however, was thought to contain what would undoubtedly have been the most wonderful and most desirable treasure of all could it have only had a real instead of an imaginary existence, for that man who was so fortunate as to possess this precious stone would have all his wishes granted.—Chambers' Journal.

The heaviest precious stone is the zircon, which is 4½ times heavier than an equal quantity of water. The lightest is the opal, only twice as heavy as water.
